U.S. CONVOY MOVES

In Berlin After 42-Hour Delay

. . . SOVIETS CLEAR ROAD

Berlin (AP)—A U.S. Army convoy drove into West Berlin Wednesday after a two-day war of nerves with the Russians on the Berlin Autobahn.

The convoy reached the city border at 7:17 a.m. (12:17 a.m. CST).

It passed through the last Soviet checkpoint outside the city without hindrance despite the American commander's refusal to order his men to dismount and be counted.

The Russians had blockaded the convoy—12 vehicles carrying 44 men—for 42 hours at the western end of the East-West highway in a sharp Russian-U.S. confrontation. The blockade was lifted early Wednesday.

A break in the crisis was signaled earlier when the Russians allowed British and French convoys to move from Berlin to West Germany without incident.

Returning

The U.S. convoy, returning to Berlin from maneuvers in West Germany, was halted at the Marienborn checkpoint at 8:01 a.m. Monday. Marienborn is just inside Communist East Germany on the border with West Germany.

The American convoy commander refused a Soviet demand for his men to dismount and be counted and he persisted in the refusal throughout the two-day crisis.

The Americans attempted early Tuesday morning to drive on to Berlin but the Russians moved armored cars across the highway.

Bumper To Bumper

The U.S. convoy was stopped bumper to bumper with three Soviet armored personnel carriers blocking any forward movement. Two other armored cars were pulled up behind it. The Russians had at least one heavy machine gun out in the open and manned. Its barrel was turned diagonally across the road.

A U.S. spokesman said the Soviet armor was removed before the processing of the convoy preparatory to its move toward Berlin early Wednesday.

In Washington President Kennedy, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and top advisers met for 50 minutes at the White House Tuesday to discuss this fourth Soviet blockade in a month on the lifeline linking Berlin with West Germany.

There was no comment after the meeting, but Rusk said beforehand that the blockade was "a very serious matter."

It was disclosed later that several hours before the convoy was allowed to proceed President Kennedy was informed that the blockade would be lifted. Government sources said word was passed to Kennedy during the White House conference.

A State Department spokesman, commenting on the convoy's release, said "there were no concessions on our part."

Demands

The U.S. spokesman in Berlin said:

"During the past two days, three separate and entirely arbitrary demands by Soviet authorities to change existing procedures were made.

"They were to dismount, to lower tailgates, and for personnel to stand in the trucks to be counted. All were flatly rejected by U.S. authorities."

The convoy is part of Company C, 2nd Battalion, 6th Infantry, stationed in Berlin. It is under the command of Lt. John Lamb of Wewahitchka, Fla.

Checked

The spokesman said the men were checked through under procedures agreed among the three Western allies—the United States, Britain and France. These were reported officially to the Soviets Oct. 29.

The Western allies maintain that they have the right to determine what these procedures should be. The Soviets claim the right for themselves.

Authoritative Western sources said the Soviet had been told that when convoys contain more than 30 men—not including the driver and co-driver of each vehicle—the men would dismount so that Soviet officers could count them. Otherwise not.

Before the White House session, the ambassadors to Great Britain, France and West Germany met with U.S. officials at the State Department and said complete agreement on Berlin issues and plans had been reached.

There was no hint on what action was contemplated.

At Helmstedt, in West Germany, an allied spokesman said after the men were on the road:

"Soviet authorities suddenly came to the convoy leader and told him the convoy could roll as soon as it showed its papers. The company leader refused to show his papers until Soviet armed vehicles blocking the path of the convoy had been removed.

Complied

"The Soviets complied, and after the vehicles had been removed, the convoy leader showed his papers."

This was not necessarily the end of the story, though.

On Oct. 11, the Soviets halted a convoy at Marienborn in a similar dispute. They let it go after 16 hours. Then, when it got to Babelsberg, they halted it again. The unit got to West Berlin two days late.

Both the French and the British refused to dismount for a head count before they left Berlin. The French were held 30 minutes, the British 50.

Demos Retain Governorships

. . . IN KENTUCKY, MISSISSIPPI

Washington (AP)—Democrats won the Mississippi and Kentucky governorship fights Tuesday—the latter by a razor thin margin — and likewise turned back a GOP bid to capture the Philadelphia City Hall.

In the Blue Grass state, Democrat Edward T. Breathitt Jr. clung to a 15,000-vote lead—which was expected to diminish to perhaps 10,000 when the count was complete.

..His Republican foe, Louie B. Nunn, after first conceding defeat, withdrew the concession and said he had reports of "widespread irregularities."

"We're asking our people to stand by the voting machines and the ballot boxes The race is not over yet."

Missing

With 2,863 of 2,982 precincts reported, the count was: Breathitt 438,273, Nunn 423,039. The bulk of the missing precincts went Republican in 1959 governor's election.

The Kentucky election climaxed a hard campaign in which Nunn assailed the Kennedy administration and criticized a state order banning racial discrimination in businesses licensed by the state.

It was Mississippi's first real Democratic-Republican race for governor and the Democrat, Lt. Gov. Paul Johnson, rode to victory quickly, though Republican Rubel Phillips showed considerable strength.

The Count

With 832 of 1,877 precints reporting, the count: Johnson, 68,764, Phillips 39,023.

Johnson and Phillips had vied with each other as to which was strongest against Kennedy and which was more all-out against racial integration.

Democratic Mayor James H. J. Tate of Philadelphia, running with Kennedy's blessing, was elected to a full, four-year term over Republican James T. McDermott. Tate, former president of the city council, stepped up to mayor last year when Richardson Dilworth resigned to run, in vain, for governor.

Returns

Returns from all 1,640 precincts gave Tate: 397,323, McDermott 330,620.

McDermott's was the heftiest Republican challenge in 10 years to Democratic rule at city hall, and racial issues figured in the contest.

While both men proclaimed themselves liberals on civil rights, McDermott accused Tate of fostering unrest by indecision, and Tate said his opponent was bidding for "the white vote."

Hundreds of mayors were selected, in cities large and small in Tuesday's balloting. Some of the results:

Indianapolis — Democrat John J. Barton elected, continuing a Democratic rule at city hall that has lasted for eight years.

Non-Partisan

Boston—Mayor John F. Collins reelected to second four-year term in non-partisan contest.

New Haven—Democrat Richard C. Lee won his sixth consecutive term.

Cleveland — Democratic Mayor Ralph S. Locher reelected without opposition.

The two governorship contests, and the Philadelphia mayoralty fight, were the big three in the off-year elections which politicians will study for possible harbingers—however vague—of 1964.

—THREE-TIERED STRUCTURE—

Usury Measure Sent To Floor

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

A three-tiered interest structure—which Atty. Gen. Clarence Meyer believes to be constitutional—received the unanimous blessing of the Legislature's Banking, Commerce and Insurance Committee late Tuesday.

The plan is incorporated in an amended version of LB11, which the committee dispatched to the floor on a 7-0 count.

The bill, sponsored by Sens. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth and Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, emerged as an odds-on favorite to gain eventual legislative passage and rewrite Nebraska's tottering interest rate laws.

In its amended form, the bill also generally embodies the proposals of Gov. Frank Morrison and utilizes language suggested by Lincoln attorney Robert A. Nelson, also a special assistant attorney general.

Three Structures

The measure establishes three interest structures:

—a 9% usury limit, retaining a penalty provision of forfeiture of interest.

—a new 12% maximum rate for time-sales and similar installment transactions, with a penalty calling for forfeiture of interest paid plus the amount of interest stated in the contract.

—an amended small loan law with a reduced limitation of $1,500 under a maximum rate of 30%. Penalties of forfeiture of principal and interest would be levied upon licensees who violate the act.

If enacted, LB11 will result in reduced interest rates for Nebraskans, particularly retail consumers.

LB26 Killed

Killed on a 5-2 committee vote was LB26, proposing an 18% maximum interest charge for time-sales and similar installment transactions.

In commenting on approval of LB11, Chairman Albert Kjar of Lexington told newsmen:

"This bill is going to supply the needed legislation we have been striving for. In certain areas, it represents a compromise.

"It is in the best interests of all the parties concerned, both lenders and borrowers. Under it, both the industry and purchasers can get along very well."

Under the unconstitutional 1959 and 1963 installment sales acts, time-sales had operated under a maximum rate of 30% and 24% respectively.

The revolving charge agreements act has contained a maximum of 18%. And installment loans functioned under a ceiling of $3,000—with rates of 30% on the first $300, 24% on the next $500, and 12% on amounts over $1,000.

According to a committee statement prepared for presentation to the Legislature, Atty. Gen. Meyer "is of the opinion that the constitutionality of the provisions and principles embodied in (LB11) can be successfully defended."

Primary Function

LB11, it declares, "will accomplish the primary function of protecting the public welfare."

In seeking to establish firm constitutional grounds for creating a third class, the committee pointed out:

" . . . installment transactions are substantially different from conventional loans because of the manner in which such loans must as a practical matter be handled, because of the difference in collection procedures and in types of security available, and because of other economic factors."

The general usury statute faces no constitutional objections, and the State Supreme Court has previously upheld a small loan act, although its form was somewhat different.

In distinguishing between the 9% usury law and the 12% installment rate, lawmakers established a 60-month time limit on installment transactions, provided for periodic installments of one month or less and prescribed that such "loans" be unsecured or secured only by a chattel mortgage, conditional sales contract, or pledge of chattels of any kind.

Table Rock's Czech Class Tops 'Em All

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Table Rock—Chalk up the biggest mark yet for Nebraska's comeback in Czech.

This time it's an 86-pupil class for Dr. Vladimir Kucera, who has shared his homeland language with some 1,000 persons since coming to the University of Nebraska six years ago.

There have been courses in Omaha and Lincoln, Wilber and Milligan, Dwight and Schuyler, Clarkson and Abie. But Table Rock—perhaps Nebraska's southernmost Czech stronghold—tops them all in size and enthusiasm.

30-35 Children

"There are 30 to 35 children alone, and they're the most important," enthused the day-and-night instructor. "It is the young that most need the appreciation for their forefathers."

Varied indeed is the class's Tuesday night roll call, answers running from Pawnee City's seven-year-old Rakosnik twins to persons long retired. Also present are a banker, an editor and a postmaster—and representatives from Humboldt, DuBois, Falls City and Steinauer.

"And every week we can expect a few visitors, some of them oldtimers wanting to brush up on their grammar," said barber Lawrence Wenzbauer.

Emphasis on Music

Sponsoring the popular instruction is the local ZCBJ Lodge and its committee of Mrs. Albert Rexroth, Mrs. Lawrence Stehlik and Charles Rabstejnek. A public program with emphasis upon music will climax the 10-week course.

Besides his regular NU classes, Dr. Kucera now busies himself with evening classes each night but Saturday. Yet even this schedule doesn't match his determination to revitalize Czech culture in the state.

"Always there is time for one more class," he smiled. "We hope to organize that one this Sunday at North Bend."

Car, Cab Collide; Woman, 28, Hurt

Nadith Schneider, 28, 3250 Adams, was injured early Wednesday morning when the car in which she was a passenger was struck from the rear by a taxicab, police reported. She was taken to Bryan Memorial Hospital.

The woman was in a car driven by Conrad Schneider. The cab driver was Anthony Bargas, 55, 826 So. 10th.

The Schneider vehicle was going east on P, near 14th.

A second passenger in the Schneider vehicle, Pauline D. Osman, 27, of 3100 Baldwin, fainted and was also taken to the hospital, police said.

Federal Reserve Board Tightens Use Of Credit

. . . TO BUY STOCKS

Washington (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board tightened up Tuesday on use of credit to buy stocks, increasing the margin requirement from 50 to 70%.

The action, effective Wednesday, means that a person who wants to buy stock on partial credit must put up a minimum of 70% of the price of the stock.

In other words, he could borrow only 30% of the stock's valuation.

Extensions

The action covers extensions of credit by banks as well as by brokers.

In its announcement, the board noted that over the past 15 months stock market credit has increased by 43%.

The higher margin requirement is expected to curb what the board considers excessive speculation. Stock prices have been strong in the past few months and have hit new highs in recent weeks.

Since July '62

The 50% margin has been in effect since July, 1962. It was reduced then from 70%.

At that time, stock prices had gone down in big selling waves in late May and June. Credit for stock purchases had dropped to a low level.

The 43% figure given by the board as the increase in stock market credit since the margin was reduced was derived from reports by brokerage firms that are members of the New York Stock Exchange and by member banks of the federal reserve system. Credit extended by these firms and banks increased $2.1 billion.

Also Changed

In addition to the effect on the amount of credit which may be extended to purchase a stock, the board also changed the regulation governing so-called undermargined accounts in cases where there is sale of part of the securities serving as collateral.

An undermargined account is one in which the stockbuyer has an equity less than the current margin requirement.

Beginning Wednesday, a customer who has an undermargined account can draw out only 30% of the cash whenever some of the securities are sold. The amount that could be withdrawn had been 50% since June 15, 1959.

The new 70% margin requirement compares with 90% in 1960 and 100% in 1946 when there was a post-war surge in stock prices.

Explorers Find Buried Viking Village

. . . APPARENT PROOF NORSE WARRIORS BEAT COLUMBUS

Washington (AP) — A buried Viking village — perhaps founded by Leif Erickson — offers proof that Norse warriors lived in North America some 500 years before Columbus.

That is the discovery of a Norwegian husband-wife explorer team—announced Tuesday by the National Geographic Society.

They found the small Norse settlement buried near the fishing village of L'Anse Aux Meadows on the northern tip of Newfoundland.

Excavated

So far they have excavated traces of nine structures and a primitive smithy. One house had five rooms and a great hall in the fashion of the Vikings.

"It cannot be definitely proved that this specific settlement was indeed founded by Leif Erickson, but there is indication it was," said the discoverer, Dr. Helge Ingstad.

"Whether or not it is the site of Leif Erickson's house can still be debated, but there are some reasons to believe that it is," said Dr. Junius Bird, curator of archaeology at the American Museum of Natural History, New York City.

Norse Origins

Both Bird and Dr. Henry B. Collins, a Smithsonian Institution anthropologist, confirmed that the site is of Norse origin and predates Columbus. Both visited the diggings.

"The evidence of Norse occupation is not visually spectacular," Bird said. "It consists of a number of unpaved floors of houses and other structures and features built upon a sandy beach terrace."

It is a difficult area to work in, since the surrounding soil is highly acid and porous.

"With the exception of a few carbonized bone fragments even the bones of the kitchen refuse have bleached away and disappeared," Bird said.

The evidence then is mostly on the details of the structures that cannot clearly be attributed to Indians, Eskimos or later European residents, Bird said.

Radioactive dating processes indicate that the site was occupied about the year 1,000.

The walls of the buildings were made of sandy turf.

Rotted Down

"Through the centuries the walls have rotted down and been dispersed by wind, rain and frost to the point where not even visual ridges survived," Bird said. "Similarly no traces of roof structure survived, barring traces of what may have been some burned beams or rafters."

In the Norse sagas, Leif Erickson was said to have had a house so situated that in later voyages to the North American continent, it could be located easily without benefit of navigational instruments or charts.

This means the site must be located near distinctive geographic features. "The L'Anse Aus Meadows site meets this specification perfectly; so perfectly in fact that foolproof instructions for locating it are immediately obvious," Bird concluded in a statement.

Intensive

The Ingstads have been searching intensively for Norse settlements since 1960. He has explored the Arctic since 1926.

The Vikings—sea-going warriors and explorers—reached their peak in the period from the ninth to the eleventh centuries. Eric the Red established the first colony in Greenland in the year 987.

From there Erickson—also called Leif the Lucky—sailed west to find new landfalls. So say the Icelandic sagas. Now—after years of doubt—they seem to be based on fact.

U.S. CONVOY MOVES

. . . SOVIETS CLEAR ROAD

Berlin (AP)—A U.S. Army convoy drove into West Berlin Wednesday after a two-day war of nerves with the Russians on the Berlin Autobahn.

The convoy reached the city border at 7:17 a.m. (12:17 a.m. CST).

It passed through the last Soviet checkpoint outside the city without hindrance despite the American commander's refusal to order his men to dismount and be counted.

The Russians had blockaded the convoy—12 vehicles carrying 44 men—for 42 hours at the western end of the East-West highway in a sharp Russian-U.S. confrontation. The blockade was lifted early Wednesday.

A break in the crisis was signaled earlier when the Russians allowed British and French convoys to move from Berlin to West Germany without incident.

Returning

The U.S. convoy, returning to Berlin from maneuvers in West Germany, was halted at the Marienborn checkpoint at 8:01 a.m. Monday. Marienborn is just inside Communist East Germany on the border with West Germany.

The American convoy commander refused a Soviet demand for his men to dismount and be counted and he persisted in the refusal throughout the two-day crisis.

The Americans attempted early Tuesday morning to drive on to Berlin but the Russians moved armored cars across the highway.

Bumper To Bumper

The U.S. convoy was stopped bumper to bumper with three Soviet armored personnel carriers blocking any forward movement. Two other armored cars were pulled up behind it. The Russians had at least one heavy machine gun out in the open and manned. Its barrel was turned diagonally across the road.

A U.S. spokesman said the Soviet armor was removed before the processing of the convoy preparatory to its move toward Berlin early Wednesday.

In Washington President Kennedy, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and top advisers met for 50 minutes at the White House Tuesday to discuss this fourth Soviet blockade in a month on the lifeline linking Berlin with West Germany.

There was no comment after the meeting, but Rusk said beforehand that the blockade was "a very serious matter."

It was disclosed later that several hours before the convoy was allowed to proceed President Kennedy was informed that the blockade would be lifted. Government sources said word was passed to Kennedy during the White House conference.

A State Department spokesman, commenting on the convoy's release, said "there were no concessions on our part."

Demands

The U.S. spokesman in Berlin said:

"During the past two days, three separate and entirely arbitrary demands by Soviet authorities to change existing procedures were made.

"They were to dismount, to lower tailgates, and for personnel to stand in the trucks to be counted. All were flatly rejected by U.S. authorities."

The convoy is part of Company C, 2nd Battalion, 6th Infantry, stationed in Berlin. It is under the command of Lt. John Lamb of Wewahitchka, Fla.

Checked

The spokesman said the men were checked through under procedures agreed among the three Western allies—the United States, Britain and France. These were reported officially to the Soviets Oct. 29.

The Western allies maintain that they have the right to determine what these procedures should be. The Soviets claim the right for themselves.

Authoritative Western sources said the Soviet had been told that when convoys contain more than 30 men—not including the driver and co-driver of each vehicle—the men would dismount so that Soviet officers could count them. Otherwise not.

Before the White House session, the ambassadors to Great Britain, France and West Germany met with U.S. officials at the State Department and said complete agreement on Berlin issues and plans had been reached.

There was no hint on what action was contemplated.

At Helmstedt, in West Germany, an allied spokesman said after the men were on the road:

"Soviet authorities suddenly came to the convoy leader and told him the convoy could roll as soon as it showed its papers. The company leader refused to show his papers until Soviet armed vehicles blocking the path of the convoy had been removed.

Complied

"The Soviets complied, and after the vehicles had been removed, the convoy leader showed his papers."

This was not necessarily the end of the story, though.

On Oct. 11, the Soviets halted a convoy at Marienborn in a similar dispute. They let it go after 16 hours. Then, when it got to Babelsberg, they halted it again. The unit got to West Berlin two days late.

Both the French and the British refused to dismount for a head count before they left Berlin. The French were held 30 minutes, the British 50.

—THREE-TIERED STRUCTURE—

Usury Measure Sent To Floor

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

A three-tiered interest structure—which Atty. Gen. Clarence Meyer believes to be constitutional—received the unanimous blessing of the Legislature's Banking, Commerce and Insurance Committee late Tuesday.

The plan is incorporated in an amended version of LB11, which the committee dispatched to the floor on a 7-0 count.

The bill, sponsored by Sens. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth and Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, emerged as an odds-on favorite to gain eventual legislative passage and rewrite Nebraska's tottering interest rate laws.

In its amended form, the bill also generally embodies the proposals of Gov. Frank Morrison and utilizes language suggested by Lincoln attorney Robert A. Nelson, also a special assistant attorney general.

Three Structures

The measure establishes three interest structures:

—a 9% usury limit, retaining a penalty provision of forfeiture of interest.

—a new 12% maximum rate for time-sales and similar installment transactions, with a penalty calling for forfeiture of interest paid plus the amount of interest stated in the contract.

—an amended small loan law with a reduced limitation of $1,500 under a maximum rate of 30%. Penalties of forfeiture of principal and interest would be levied upon licensees who violate the act.

If enacted, LB11 will result in reduced interest rates for Nebraskans, particularly retail consumers.

LB26 Killed

Killed on a 5-2 committee vote was LB26, proposing an 18% maximum interest charge for time-sales and similar installment transactions.

In commenting on approval of LB11, Chairman Albert Kjar of Lexington told newsmen:

"This bill is going to supply the needed legislation we have been striving for. In certain areas, it represents a compromise.

"It is in the best interests of all the parties concerned, both lenders and borrowers. Under it, both the industry and purchasers can get along very well."

Under the unconstitutional 1959 and 1963 installment sales acts, time-sales had operated under a maximum rate of 30% and 24% respectively.

The revolving charge agreements act has contained a maximum of 18%. And installment loans functioned under a ceiling of $3,000—with rates of 30% on the first $300, 24% on the next $200, 18% on the next $500, and 12% on amounts over $1,000.

According to a committee statement prepared for presentation to the Legislature, Atty. Gen. Meyer "is of the opinion that the constitutionality of the provisions and principles embodied in (LB11) can be successfully defended."

" . . . installment transactions are substantially different from conventional loans because of the manner in which such loans must as a practical matter be handled, because of the difference in collection procedures and in types of security available, and because of other economic factors."

The general usury statute faces no constitutional objections, and the State Supreme Court has previously upheld a small loan act, although its form was somewhat different.

In distinguishing between the 9% usury law and the 12% installment rate, lawmakers established a 60-month time limit on installment transactions, provided for periodic installments of one month or less and prescribed that such "loans" be unsecured or secured only by a chattel mortgage, conditional sales contract, or pledge of chattels of any kind.

"And every week we can expect a few visitors, some of them oldtimers wanting to brush up on their grammar," said barber Lawrence Wenzbauer.

Emphasis on Music

Sponsoring the popular instruction is the local ZCBJ Lodge and its committee of Mrs. Albert Rexroth, Mrs. Lawrence Stehlik and Charles Rabstejnek. A public program with emphasis upon music will climax the 10-week course.

Besides his regular NU classes, Dr. Kucera now busies himself with evening classes each night but Saturday. Yet even this schedule doesn't match his determination to revitalize Czech culture in the state.

"Always there is time for one more class," he smiled. "We hope to organize that one this Sunday at North Bend."

Federal Reserve Board Tightens Use Of Credit

. . . TO BUY STOCKS

Washington (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board tightened up Tuesday on use of credit to buy stocks, increasing the margin requirement from 50 to 70%.

The action, effective Wednesday, means that a person who wants to buy stock on partial credit must put up a minimum of 70% of the price of the stock.

In other words, he could borrow only 30% of the stock's valuation.

Extensions

The action covers extensions of credit by banks as well as by brokers.

In its announcement, the board noted that over the past 15 months stock market credit has increased by 43%.

The higher margin requirement is expected to curb what the board considers excessive speculation. Stock prices have been strong in the past few months and have hit new highs in recent weeks.

Since July '62

The 50% margin has been in effect since July, 1962. It was reduced then from 70%.

At that time, stock prices had gone down in big selling waves in late May and June. Credit for stock purchases had dropped to a low level.

The 43% figure given by the board as the increase in stock market credit since the margin was reduced was derived from reports by brokerage firms that are members of the New York Stock Exchange and by member banks of the federal reserve system. Credit extended by these firms and banks increased $2.1 billion.

Also Changed

In addition to the effect on the amount of credit which may be extended to purchase a stock, the board also changed the regulation governing so-called undermargined accounts in cases where there is sale of part of the securities serving as collateral.

An undermargined account is one in which the stockbuyer has an equity less than the current margin requirement.

Beginning Wednesday, a customer who has an undermargined account can draw out only 30% of the cash whenever some of the securities are sold. The amount that could be withdrawn had been 50% since June 15, 1959.

The new 70% margin requirement compares with 90% in 1960 and 100% in 1946 when there was a post-war surge in stock prices.

Explorers Find Buried Viking Village

. . . APPARENT PROOF NORSE WARRIORS BEAT COLUMBUS

Washington (AP) — A buried Viking village — perhaps founded by Leif Erickson — offers proof that Norse warriors lived in North America some 500 years before Columbus.

That is the discovery of a Norwegian husband-wife explorer team—announced Tuesday by the National Geographic Society.

Excavated

So far they have excavated traces of nine structures and a primitive smithy. One house had five rooms and a great hall in the fashion of the Vikings.

"It cannot be definitely proved that this specific settlement was indeed founded by Leif Erickson, but there is indication it was," said the discoverer, Dr. Helge Ingstad.

"Whether or not it is the site of Leif Erickson's house can still be debated, but there are some reasons to believe that it is," said Dr. Junius Bird, curator of archaeology at the American Museum of Natural History, New York City.

Norse Origins

Both Bird and Dr. Henry B. Collins, a Smithsonian Institution anthropologist, confirmed that the site is of Norse origin and pre-dates Columbus. Both visited the diggings.

"The evidence of Norse occupation is not visually spectacular," Bird said. "It consists of a number of unpaved floors of houses and other structures and features built upon a sandy beach terrace."

It is a difficult area to work in, since the surrounding soil is highly acid and porous.

"With the exception of a few carbonized bone fragments even the bones of the kitchen refuse have bleached away and disappeared," Bird said.

The evidence then is mostly on the details of the structures that cannot clearly be attributed to Indians, Eskimos or later European residents, Bird said.

Radioactive dating processes indicate that the site was occupied about the year 1,000.

The walls of the buildings were made of sandy turf.

Rotted Down

"Through the centuries the walls have rotted down and been dispersed by wind, rain and frost to the point where not even visual ridges survived," Bird said. "Similarly no traces of roof structure survived, barring traces of what may have been some burned beams or rafters."

In the Norse sagas, Leif Erickson was said to have had a house so situated that in later voyages to the North American continent, it could be located easily without benefit of navigational instruments or charts.

This means the site must be located near distinctive geographic features. "The L'Anse Aus Meadows site meets this specification perfectly; so perfectly in fact that foolproof instructions for locating it are immediately obvious," Bird concluded in a statement.

Intensive

The Ingstads have been searching intensively for Norse settlements since 1960. He has explored the Arctic since 1926.

The Vikings—sea-going warriors and explorers—reached their peak in the period from the ninth to the eleventh centuries. Eric the Red established the first colony in Greenland in the year 987.

From there Erickson—also called Leif the Lucky—sailed west to find new landfalls. So say the Icelandic sagas. Now—after years of doubt—they seem to be based on fact.

Otepka Firing Brings Howls

...FROM GROSS, HRUSKA

Washington (AP) — The State Department fired its chief security risk evaluator Tuesday after ruling him guilty of giving confidential information to Senate investigators.

The ousted employe is Otto F. Otepka, 48.

His dismissal on charges of conduct "unbecoming an officer of the Department of State" brought cries of protest from Congress.

"That's the most reprehensible thing I've heard," said Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, who previously had described the charges against Otepka as an outrage.

Necessary

Gross said Otepka was fired "for providing a committee of Congress with information that was necessary to demonstrate that other officials of the government were not telling the truth."

Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., told a reporter that in his opinion the decision to oust Otepka was made by Secretary of State Dean Rusk. Hruska predicted the decision will be reversed on appeal, and said "it will be a great loss to the government and to the career service" if it is not reversed.

Describing Otepka as "a man of unquestioned integrity," Hruska said "Mr. Otepka will be vindicated."

Member

Hruska is a member of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee. This is the group Otepka was accused of supplying with classified documents.

Otepka was suspended from his regular duties Sept. 23, but has continued on the department payroll pending disposition of his case. He has been assigned to work on a seucirity handbook.

A qualified source said the case against him has been thoroughly studied and the decision to dismiss him was made on a high level.

Full Hearings

President Kennedy told his news conference on Oct. 9 that Otepka would be given full hearings, with a review by the Civil Service Commission. The President added that he would examine the issue himself, "when it comes time to take any disciplinary action, if such a time does come."

Two of the 13 specific charges against Otepka accused him of preparing a list of questions for J. G. Sourwine, Senate subcommittee counsel, to put to witnesses during an inquiry into the State Department's Cuban policies.

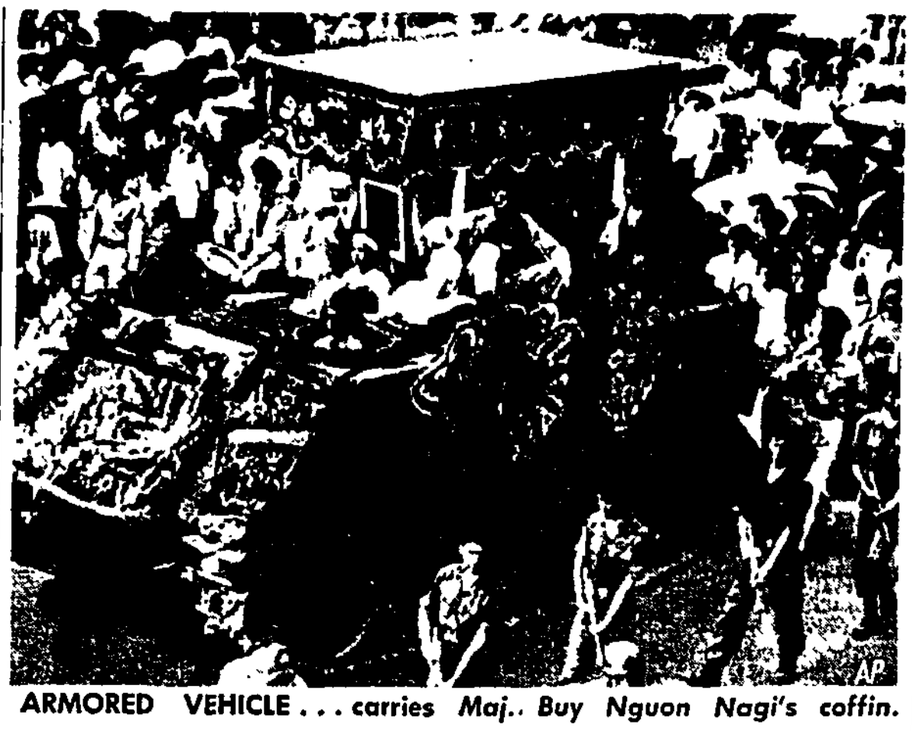

The charges were based partly on the findings of State Department sleuths who rummaged through Otepka's discarded carbon papers and used typewriter ribbons.

Can Continue

Otepka, who can continue to draw his $16,900-a-year salary if he decides to appeal through State Department review channels, contended the action against him was based on "some vague and amorphous standard."

He denied he had mutilated documents by clipping classified labels off them, but acknowledged he had prepared a memorandum for Sourwine including exhibits from department files which were classified confidential.

The charges said Sourwine used some of the questions prepared by Otepka in the Senate subcommittee's 1961 inquiry into why the State Department did not realize early in Fidel Castro's regime that the Cuban leader was a Communist.

Coup Chiefs Say Nhu, Diem 'Accidental Suicide' Victims

Saigon (AP)—With Ngo Dinh Can, another member of the deposed Ngo Dinh family, in their custody, Vietnamese coup leaders claimed Wednesday the late President Ngo Dinh Diem and Ngo Dinh Nhu committed "accidental suiside."

U.S. officials turned over Can, erstwhile dictator of Central Viet Nam, to revolutionary officials Tuesday after he had fled to the American consulate in Hue seeking refuge.

Asked what would happen to him, a military spokesman said only: "The government will look after that problem."

Struggling

As for the two top leaders, the spokesman claimed they were killed in an army personnel carrier while struggling for a pistol with an army captain guarding them.

He said Nhu lunged for the captain's gun when he and Diem were being pushed into the personnel carrier after being captured following their escape from the presidential Palace Saturday.

Asked whether the new regime would ask for extradition of Mrs. Nhu, the spokesman said:

No Revenge

"Our military people don't make revolutions for the sake of avenging or revenging."

Can was brought to Saigon on a 400-mile flight in a U.S. military plane from Hue, where Buddhist opponents of the ousted Ngo Dinh regime charged that he ruled as a bloody tyrant. It was not known whether Can was aware he was being brought here by the U.S. officials.

In Saigon, some foreigners expressed belief the military government would put Can on trial and perhaps sentence him to death or a long prison term.

One Process

U.S. officials were understood to have received assurances from revolutionary authorities that Can "would not be lynched and would receive due process of law."

Meanwhile, unconfirmed rumors circulated at Hue, capital of Central Viet Nam, that 180 bodies had been found in a mass grave at Can's mansion there. Responsible officials said rows of filthy dungeons were found in an old French arsenal on property owned by Can just south of Hue.

Can dropped from sight when the coup overthrew Diem's regime and he went to the U.S. Consulate in Hue Monday night. Consular officials notified the revolutionary government.

Then late Tuesday afternoon, Can was flown to Saigon and turned over to government officials. He was reported to have been rushed from the airport to the nearby headquarters of the military junta.

Diem's other brother is Archbishop Ngo Dinh Thuc, who is in Rome for the Roman Catholic Ecumenical Council. The three younger children of Mrs. Nhu arrived in Rome Tuesday to await the arrival of their mother, who is in Los Angeles with her 18-year-old daughter, Le Thuy.

Unknown

Archbishop Thuc met the two boys and a girl at Rome's airport and drove them off to an unknown destination. The children — Trac, 15; Quynh, 11, and their sister, Le Quyen, 4—were flown from Viet Nam in a U.S. military plane to Bangkok, Thailand. They were accompanied by a U.S. Embassy official aboard a commercial airliner to Rome.

Saigon continued its return to normal.

Mrs. Nhu Won't Fly To Children In Italian Capital

Beverly Hills, Calif. (UPI) —Mme Ngo Dinh Nhu will not fly over to Rome Wednesday, as previously announced, to rejoin her three younger children because of her doctor's advice late Tuesday night that she "cannot endure a trip at this time."

In a statement from the deposed first lady of South Viet Nam issued through a hotel official, she said she "cannot endure a trip at this time and intends (to meet with) her children as soon as possible, but first wants to speak (by telephone) to the archbishop in Rome."

Her three younger children arrived in Rome from Saigon earlier Tuesday and were met by Archbishop Ngo Dinh Thuc, Mme. Nhu's brother-in-law.

Americans Get Share Of Nobel Physics Prize

Stockholm, Sweden (AP)—The last of the Nobel Prizes for 1963, in physics and chemistry were awarded Tuesday to two Americans, two Germans and an Italian.

Mrs. Maria Goeppert Mayer, 57, of the University of California, Dr. Eugene Wigner 61, of Princeton University, and Dr. J. Hans D. Jensen, 56, of Heidelberg Unisity share the physics prize for their research into the structure of the atom and its nucleus.

Two chemists who helped to usher in the age of plastics divide the chemistry prize. They are Prof. Karl Ziegler of Muelheim, Germany, and Dr. Giulio Natta of Italy's Polytechnic Institute of Milan.

First

German-born Mrs. Mayer is the first woman residing in America to win a Nobel Prize in physics and the first woman to be so honored since Marie Curie of France shared the physics award with her husband in 1903.

Thus the United States wound up the year with three Nobel laureates. Dr. Linus Pauling of the California Institute of Technology won the delayed peace prize for 1962 last month. The prizes for medicine and literature also were awarded last month.

The prizes this year amount to $51,158 each. Wigner will get half the physics prize and Mrs. Mayer and Jensen will divide the remainder. The chemistry prize will be split 50-50.

Stockholm

All but the peace prize winner will receive their awards from the hands of Sweden's King Gustav VI Adolf in Stockholm Dec. 10. That is the anniversary of the death of Alfred Nobel, whose bequest set up the prizes. Pauling will receive his prize in Oslo.

Reaction of the laureate winners ranged from delight to bewilderment.

"I really don't know what to say," exclaimed Mrs. Mayer in La Jolla, Calif. "It . . . is it really true? I still can't believe it's true. Oh, how wonderful."

Hungarian-born Wigner, reached in Oak Ridge, Tenn., said it must be a mistake, when he was first informed of the news. The man who spends much time on research into peaceful uses of atomic energy said he knew Mrs. Mayer and Jensen well and was delighted to share the prize with them.

Jensen got the news in Heidelberg and remarked: "That's fantastic. But I can't believe its true until I get the official notification."

The Swedish Royal Academy of Science in its announcement said Wigner's research 30 years ago gave substance to the theory that the atom's nucleus is made up of protons and neutrons. Methods based on principles he developed later "constitute the chief weapons in the effort to understand the physics of the elementary particles," the citation added.

Shell Structure

It said Mrs. Mayer and Jensen were honored "for their discovery concerning nuclear shell structure." Through measurements of radiation, they were able to map the structures of the various nuclei.

Mrs. Mayer and Jensen began research independently but later collaborated and in 1955 published a book on the theory of the structure of the nuclear shell.

The academy reported that the work of Ziegler and Natta led to "a number of new products in the field of plastics, such as laundry detergents and antiknock admixtures of high octane fuels for engines."

Early Work

Ziegler was one of the early researchers in the field. His research has led to such industrial processes as the conversion of industrial alcohol from petroleum.

Natta said in Sanremo, Italy, that much of his later work was influenced by a lecture he heard Ziegler deliver in Frankfurt, Germany, in 1952. He also was an early worker in the field.

Natta began research into the production of synthetic rubber after Mussolini tried to make Italy self sufficient in the 1930s. The League of Nations had ordered economic sanctions against Italy because of its attack on Ethiopia in 1935.

"I was not interested in politics," Natta said, "just in scientific research."

'Others' Adjusting To Long Session

Washington (AP)—The other side of Congress—the wives, secretaries, doorkeepers and janitors—have adjusted philosophically to a year-round session.

In fact, a spot check indicated Tuesday they had seen it coming and worked out the practical problems of when to take a vacation. This is, all but the wives.

"I haven't been out of this front door. We don't know what a vacation is." Mrs. Clifford Davis said.

President

Wife of the Democratic representative from Memphis, Tenn., Mrs. Davis is president of the Congressional Wives' Club.

Like that of many other congressional wives, her vacation is going to be going back home for Christmas. But Mrs. Davis said she hadn't heard any grumbling. "They're just making the best of it," she said.

During the past year, Congress has taken off several days, or even a week at the time around holiday periods such as Easter and the Fourth of July.

Check Winds

But most of the congressmen have used such periods to go back home and check the political winds.

"You go home—but you never have a vacation as such," Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., said in an interview.

Magnuson has a bill for Congress to meet from Jan. 3 to July 15 to consider legislative matters and then recess. It would reconvene on the second Monday in November to act on appropriations bills through December.

Interest

"I think there will be a lot of interest in it next year," he said. "I think they're going to take a good look at it."

Some Republican and Democratic wives started a bipartisan effort last year to get congressional sessions to coincide with the school year. Some congressmen got interested in it, and, as astute women sometimes do, they sat back this year and let the men think it was their idea.

The some 8,000 secretaries, staff workers, doorkeepers and such who work around the Capitol have taken their vacations during the year.

On Schedule

James Cromwell, president of the Congressional Secretaries' Club, said group trips to Europe, Mexico and Bermuda had gone on schedule...

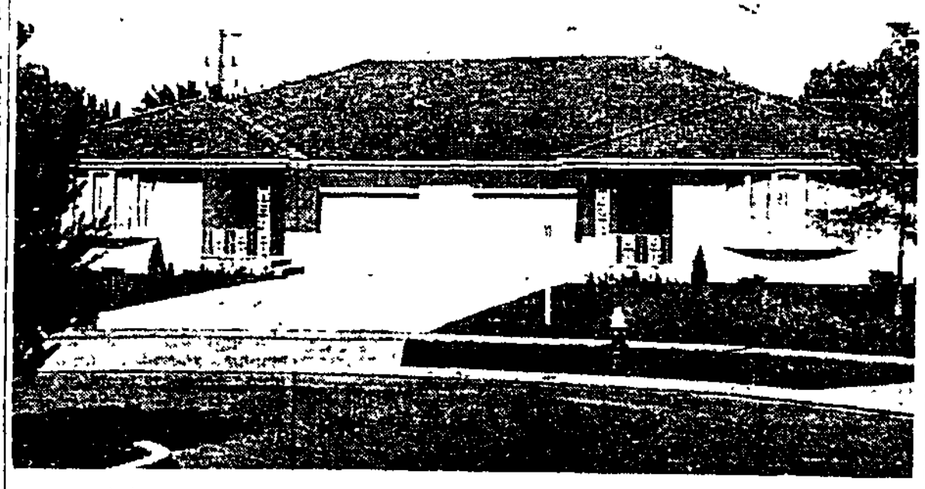

It used to be that everybody took off when Congress folded its records for the year. Washington all at once became a lonely old town.

It appears that familiar lull won't come at all this year, unless it's during the Christmas recess Congress plans from Dec. 20 to Jan. 2.

"You go home—but you never have a vacation as such," Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., said in an interview.

Magnuson has a bill for Congress to meet from Jan. 3 to July 15 to consider legislative matters and then recess. It would reconvene on the second Monday in November to act on appropriations bills through December.

Interest

"I think there will be a lot of interest in it next year," he said. "I think they're going to take a good look at it."

Some Republican and Democratic wives started a bipartisan effort last year to get congressional sessions to coincide with the school year. Some congressmen got interested in it, and, as astute women sometimes do, they sat back this year and let the men think it was their idea.

The some 8,000 secretaries, staff workers, doorkeepers and such who work around the Capitol have taken their vacations during the year.

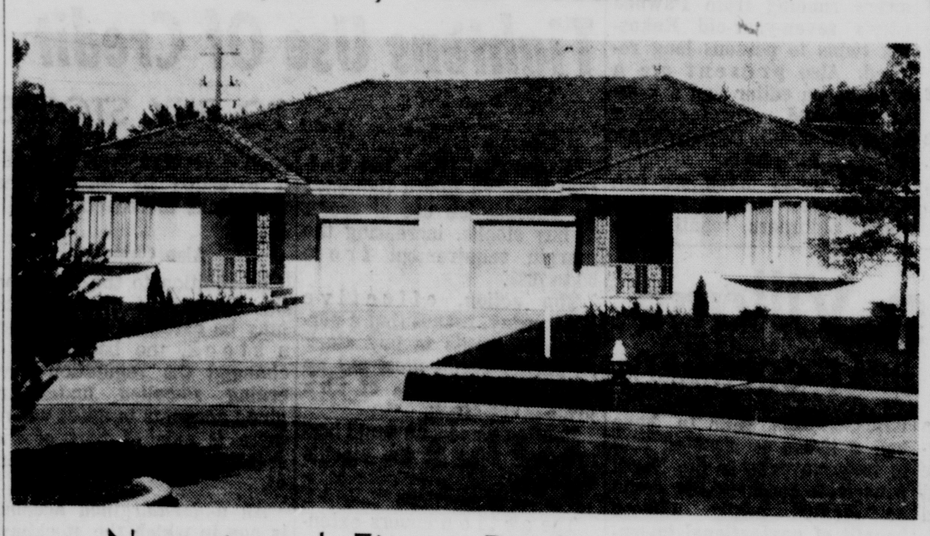

On Schedule

James Cromwell, president of the Congressional Secretaries' Club, said group trips to Europe, Mexico and Bermuda had gone on schedule...

It used to be that everybody took off when Congress folded its records for the year. Washington all at once became a lonely old town.

It appears that familiar lull won't come at all this year, unless it's during the Christmas recess Congress plans from Dec. 20 to Jan. 2.

Wheat Resale Aim Of Russia

. . . 'Sought For Export Purposes'

Washington (AP)—Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., said Tuesday the State and Agriculture Departments know, if a White House aide doesn't, that the Soviet Union wants U.S. wheat for resale purposes.

Hruska took the Senate floor to back up a speech he made in Nebraska last week in which he said Russia's principal purpose in buying U.S. wheat is to resell it to other nations at a profit.

The senator said that a White House aide, Theodore Sorensen, challenged his statements in a talk at Omaha Friday night. Sorensen was quoted by Hruska as saying:

"Possibly Senator Hruska has information the Central Intelligence Agency, the Department of State and the Department of Agriculture do not have. From the best information that could be gathered, the Russians do need wheat for internal commitments . ."

Hruska told the Senate that his statement was based on information from the State and Agriculture Departments. He quoted Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., as saying in a Senate speech Oct. 2, after a committee meeting attended by Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman, Undersecretary of State George Ball and Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges:

"It is not claimed by the executive branch of our government that the wheat is needed to relieve hunger in Russia . . . The proposed sale of wheat may not be a major transaction. On the other hand, it would not relieve hunger in the Soviet Union. It would enable the Soviet Union to meet its trade commitments."

Hruska also quoted a Columbia University specialist on communist affairs as saying there is no famine in Russia and the wheat deal is necessary to meet Russian's grain export commitments and "for political reasons."

The senator said the wheat deal is "clearly in the interest of supporting and maintaining the present communist system."

Brinkman's Hearing Set For Dec. 10

Columbus (AP)— A preliminary hearing for Harold Brinkman, 37, Columbus, on a child stealing charge was tentatively set Tuesday for Dec. 10 in Platte County Court.

Brinkman was free under $1,000 bond.

At the arraignment before Judge William A. Goetz, County Attorney C. Thomas White said Brinkman gave a full statement concerning the child stealing incident to the county attorney's office.

Brinkman in substance corroborated the story as told by Mrs. Carol Brinkman which implicates the Rev. George Swiney and his son, Loren, in the offense charged," White said. "Brinkman said he wished to face the matter and came back to Nebraska knowing he would be caught. He wished to reunite with his wife and intends to co-operate fully with the prosecution."

Brinkman had been sought since Aug. 31. He was arrested Saturday by sheriff's officers near Grand Island.

Also charged with child stealing in the case are the Rev. Mr. Swiney of the Bible Baptist Church and his son. Their preliminary hearing was continued Oct. 24 until Nov. 13.

Mrs. Tritsch Is Denied License For Bottle Club

The State Liquor Control denied the controversial application of Mrs. Lucille Tritsch of Nebraska City for a bottle club license.

The Nebraska City Council had recommended the application be rejected because of what it called a possible enforcement problem.

At a public hearing on the application last week, Nebraska City Mayor Bill Dawson noted that the bottle club would have been located in the same building as a beer tavern and a package liquor store also operated by Mrs. Tritsch. This situation, he said, would cause an enforcement problem since city ordinance prohibits the selling of liquor after 11 p.m. while the state bottle club law allows sales until midnight.

Mrs. Tritsch testified at the hearing that the bottle club would not operate on Sunday and that all applications for membership would be screened.

Regional Mental Health Meet Set

Omaha (AP)—The Region VI Committee for comprehensive long-range mental health planning—made up of representative citizens from Douglas, Sarpy, Washington, Dodge and Burt counties—will hold its first meeting in Omaha Nov. 7.

The committee will divide itself into task forces to study such specific problem areas as juvenile delinquency, aging, childhood and adult mental illness, prevention, chronic disease, retardation, school programs, alcoholism and drug addiction and cultural variants.

Bob and his father exchange congratulations. The loaf of bread was baked from flour milled from Bob's winning wheat sample.

Young Market Wheat Champ Continues To Top His Elders

Indianola—Nebraska's 1963 market wheat champion can't vote yet, but he has been outdoing his elders in the Nebraska Wheat Show since he was 16.

Robert Kelly, 19, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kelly. They have 1,440 acres 16 miles northwest of here, 800 acres cropland and the rest pasture.

Robert owns a share of the herd of Hereford stock cows on the farm. He got his start in the cattle business from profits in his work with certified seed wheat. He credits the Nebraska Grain Improvement Association with getting him started in the certified seed business.

Bob has been entering the Nebraska Wheat Show successfully for four years. In that time, he has never placed below first. In 1960, 1961, and 1962 he was the junior market wheat champion. In 1960, 1961, and again this year he was central region market wheat champion in the open class.

He had to compete strictly against adults this year, no longer being eligible for the junior competition. He swept all possible honors in the market wheat class.

Bob has stayed with the Bison wheat which won him his first Wheat Show honors. It was Bison that won for him again this year. However, he says he has been trying out several other varieties.

He handles the certified seed business, about 37 acres, on his father's farm, and helps with the rest.

A sophomore at McCook Junior College this year, Bob plans to attend the College of Agriculture and Home Economics in Lincoln next year.

Bob credits much of his success to 4-H club work. He has been active in 4-H for eight years and is a junior leader this year. His club is the Red Willow Boosters.

Last year he won a trip to the annual Chicago Grain Marketing Clinic, sponsored by the Chicago Board of Trade.

Rites Thursday For Biedenweg, U.S. Navy Pilot

Falls City (UPI)—A graveside service will be held at rural St. Peter's Lutheran Church cemetery Thursday morning for Lt. Cmdr. Fred Biedenweg, 34, Navy pilot, who died Friday at San Diego, Calif.

Biedenweg

He was a son of the Rev. and Mrs. H. M. Biedenweg. The Rev. Mr. Biedenwig is pastor at St. Peter's.

Commander Biedenweg was a graduate of Midland College, Fremont. Survivors include his wife, the former Marjorie Paulin of Fremont, two sons and a daughter.

Marine From Lincoln Hurt In Hawaii Fall

Honolulu (AP) — A young Nebraska Marine fell 225 feet from Pali Lookout, landed in mud and laid there for two days before he was found seriously injured, Tripler Hospital disclosed Tuesday.

Cpl. Robert C. Gomez, 21, of Lincoln, fell Saturday. He was found in the wilderness Monday.

He was unconscious, lying in six inches of mud, with his feet dangling in a stream.

Doctors said Gomez suffered a broken leg, chest injuries and numerous cuts.

Pali Lookout is a scenic spot near Honolulu, overlooking the windward side of the island. The elevation is 1,186 feet and below is a rugged and beautiful wilderness.

Gomez was with a group of Marines on a holiday. They said no one saw him fall and he wasn't missed until the group, in two cars, got back to Honolulu.

Summary of Conditions

Another weak Pacific cold front has been coming eastward and is oriented from southwestern Minnesota to near Omaha, to Concordia, into east central Colorado, then into southeastern Wyoming, continuing westward as a warm front, and then through northern Utah and northern Nevada into a significant developing low pressure area in the northern California-southwest Oregon section.

This Pacific front in eastern Nebraska should move to southern Michigan, through southern Illinois, to southeast Kansas, and across southern Kansas by Wednesday night, but no important cooling is expected. There may be some local cooling in eastern Nebraska Wednesday as well as local areas of western Iowa. Clear to partly cloudy skies will continue over the two-state area Wednesday. Cloudiness should increase again in Nebraska Wednesday night as the storm center on the west coast moves into the Rockies.

Brownsville, Tex. (UPI) — Druggist Tony Gonzales swept into the Brownsville mayor's office Tuesday by a startling 7-1 margin and became the first Latin American to hold the post in the 10-year history of the city.

Gonzales, who owns two Brownsville drug stores, received 2,978 votes to 407 for mortician Joe Besterio, also of Latin ancestry.

Two Nebraska IFYE Delegates En Route Home

Three Nebraska young adults are traveling this week to and from far places, as a part of the International Farm Youth Exchange program, according to John D. Orr, associate state leader for 4-H and YMW at the University of Nebraska.

Karen Edeal, Overton, arrived in Australia, where she will live and work with seven different farm families.

Sharon Reinmiller, Schuyler, is en route home from Finland, Dale Wicke, Waunceta, is en route home from Holland. They have been IFYE delegates in those countries since May. Sharon and Dale will spend a week at the National 4-H Foundation in Washington, D.C., where they will exchange experiences and make recommendations for the next year's program.

Dale and Sharon will go on an Agricultural Extension Service coordinated speaking tour in January, 1964.

The IFYE program is sponsored by Nathan Gold, Lincoln businessman, the Nebraska Rural Youth and the University 4-H Club.

Mother Of 4 Dies In Crash Near Stanton

By The Associated Press

Mrs. Norma Jean Ertzner, 37, Stanton, was killed Monday night in a crash 2½ miles west of Stanton on Nebraska 24.

County Attorney T. L. Grady said Mrs. Ertzner was alone in the car which went out of control and crashed into a power pole.

She is survived by her husband, Edward, and four children.

A Cortland couple Mr. and Mrs. Thee Wallman, were killed earlier Monday when their car and a truck collided at the junction of a county road and Highway 41 about 3 miles southeast of Cortland.

However, the State Accident Records Bureau said their deaths would not be added to the traffic death toll because the accident occurred on a closed highway.

At the same time, the bureau deleted the name of Claude Vaughn, Indianola, Iowa, a traffic accident victim. The accident occurred in Iowa, authorities learned.

The Oct. 5 death of Jim Sobotka of Omaha was also removed from the Nebraska traffic fatality list.

Accidents Records Bureau chief Tom Ryan said the official death certificate shows that Sobotka, 49, was killed in a farmyard in Douglas county when the tractor he was driving overturned and crushed him. It was originally thought it occurred on a public road.

WHY SMIRNOFF INSTEAD OF SCOTCH?

It's filtered through a "mountain" of charcoal

Scotch whisky has always been considered an extremely smooth liquor. Today many people have found that Smirnoff is still smoother. Every drop is filtered and refined through 7 tons of activated charcoal. This "black magic" removes most of the congeners. No wonder Smirnoff is the world's finest liquor; crystal clear, flawless and easy to take, even on-the-rocks. Today Smirnoff outsells every brand of Scotch in America. Isn't it time you tried it?

Mother Of 4 Dies In Crash Near Stanton

By The Associated Press

Mrs. Norma Jean Ertzner, 37, Stanton, was killed Monday night in a crash 2½ miles west of Stanton on Nebraska 24.

County Attorney T. L. Grady said Mrs. Ertzner was alone in the car which went out of control and crashed into a power pole.

She is survived by her husband, Edward, and four children.

A Cortland couple Mr. and Mrs. Thee Wallman, were killed earlier Monday when their car and a truck collided at the junction of a county road and Highway 41 about 3 miles southeast of Cortland.

However, the State Accident Records Bureau said their deaths would not be added to the traffic death toll because the accident occurred on a closed highway.

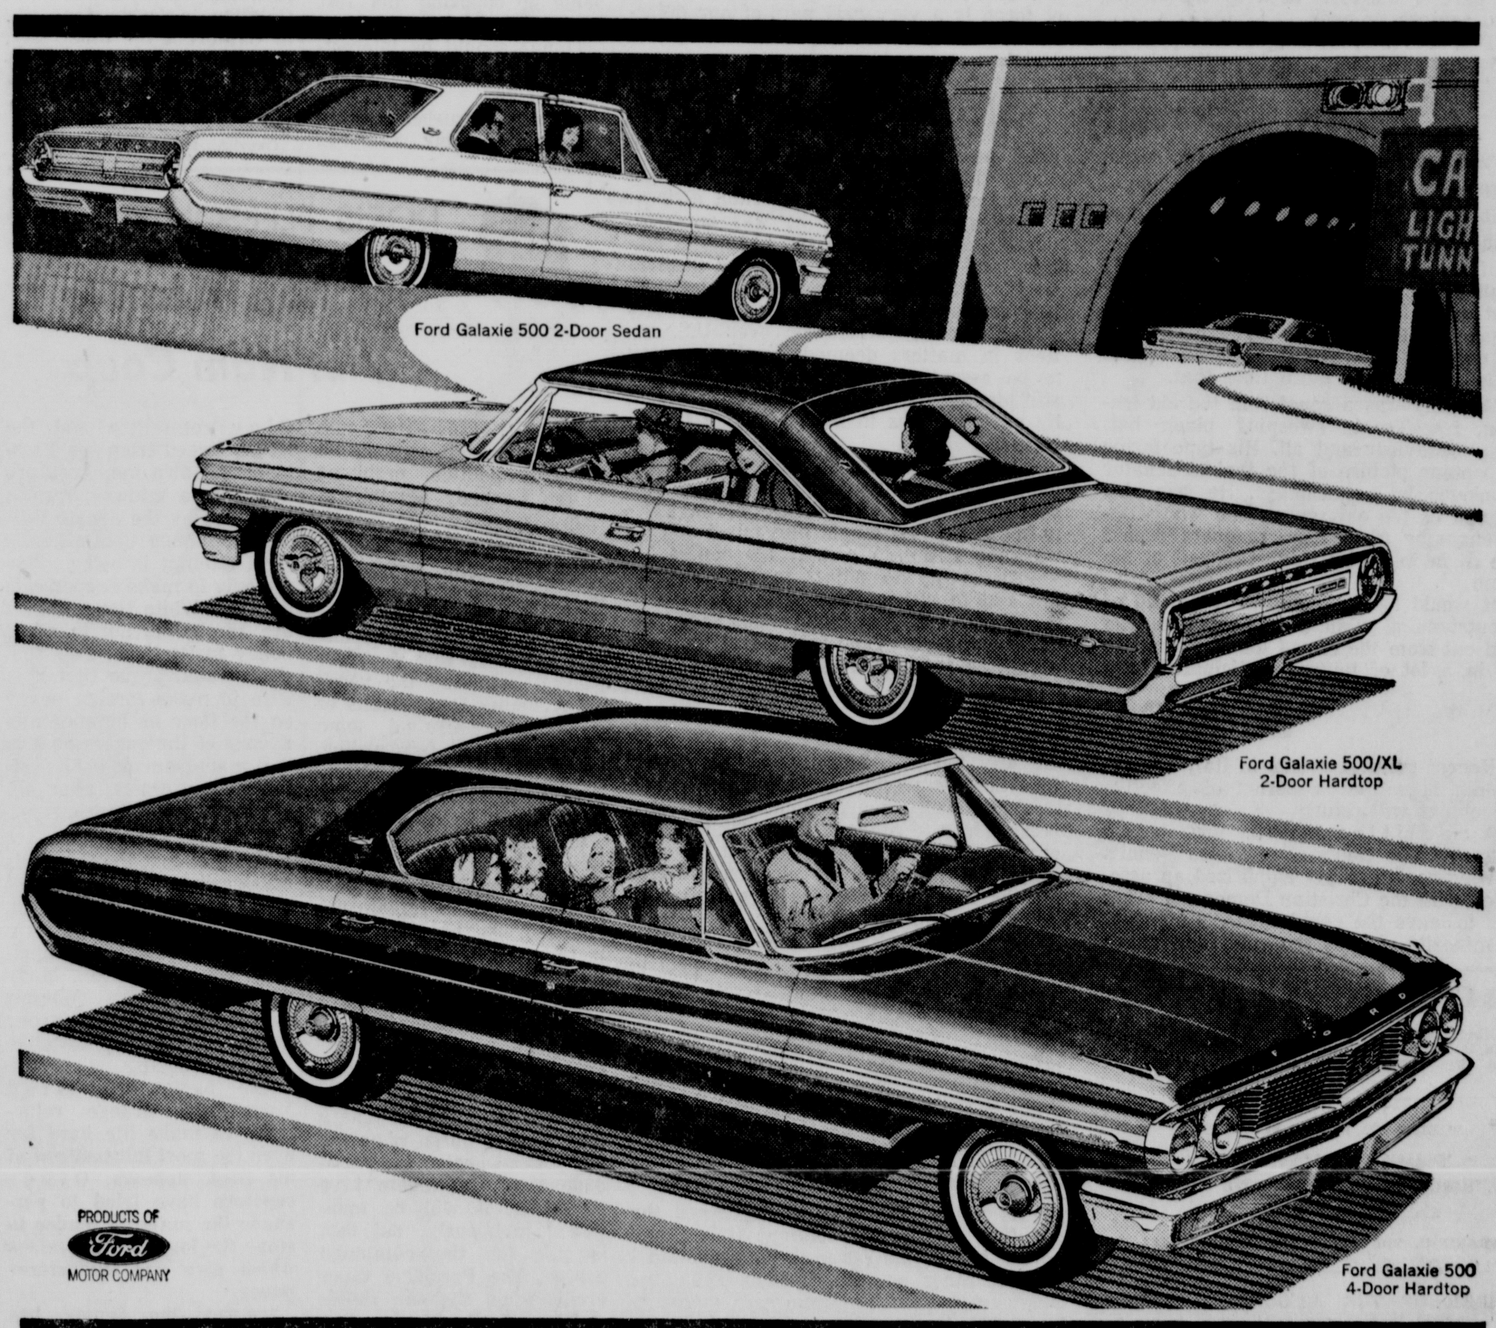

At the same time, the bureau deleted the name of Claude Vaughn, Indianola, Iowa, a traffic accident victim. The accident occurred in Iowa, authorities learned.

The Oct. 5 death of Jim Sobotka of Omaha was also removed from the Nebraska traffic fatality list.

Accidents Records Bureau chief Tom Ryan said the official death certificate shows that Sobotka, 49, was killed in a farmyard in Douglas county when the tractor he was driving overturned and crushed him. It was originally thought it occurred on a public road.

WHY SMIRNOFF INSTEAD OF SCOTCH?

It's filtered through a "mountain" of charcoal

Scotch whisky has always been considered an extremely smooth liquor. Today many people have found that Smirnoff is still smoother. Every drop is filtered and refined through 7 tons of activated charcoal. This "black magic" removes most of the congeners. No wonder Smirnoff is the world's finest liquor; crystal clear, flawless and easy to take, even on-the-rocks. Today Smirnoff outsells every brand of Scotch in America. Isn't it time you tried it?

Consolidation Big Factor

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The average individual generally considers his role in the public affairs of the community as pretty insignificant. There are those, even, who do not vote, on the theory that their one little ballot will not make any difference. Certainly, there are many who feel that there is nothing they can do about affairs in government. Nothing, however, could be further from the truth than this and it is proven often.

Take, for instance, the case of city-county consolidation. One man, Attorney Robert Guenzel, appeared before the City Council Monday in regard to this issue and serious consideration is now being given the subject. The records of city and county government are full of issues that stem from the actions of just one citizen. Many issues have been disposed of largely in accordance with the position taken by just one private citizen who took the time to make himself heard. Mr. Guenzel did not have to appear on the subject of consolidation but he is interested in the matter and has a good cause.

Efforts Of One Citizen

There are others, we must admit, who are also interested in the subject. Take the case of Winnifred Lewis, for instance, who insists that consolidation is at least associated with the communistic movement if not a direct part of it. She is against consolidation and, as a private citizen, has made herself heard and would be a factor in any vote on the question.

We believe that Miss Lewis is dead wrong but she does demonstrate the fact that the individual is not insignificant when it comes to community affairs. If the individual were insignficant, institutions such as the newspaper would not bother spending time trying to inform him, as his knowledge and opinion would count for nothing.

Mr. Guenzel may not get the study he wants of city and county consolidation but it is hoped that he does. It will be unfortunate if the matter of a new city-county building is put on the ballot in the spring with nothing settled as to consolidation, where possible, of functions of the two governments. It still defies us to understand how a building can be built for an organization when the organization doesn't even know how it intends to operate. Imagine an insurance compay going to a contractor and saying: "We can't tell you anything about our future operations but construct us a building that will meet whatever might come up in the years ahead for us."

This, in effect, is what the city and county would do if they did nothing about consolidation. They would tell the public to approve of spending funds for a new building when it wasn't even known what kind of operation would use the building. Would the building have a new jail? Who knows? Would the building have city and county court facilities? Who knows? Would the building have one or two law libraries? Who knows? Will there be central purchasing, common accounting arrangements, joint tax billing, single assessment procedures, separate County Board and City Council meeting rooms, some combination of engineering facilities, a single planning department, etc.? Who knows?

Quite frankly, we cannot conceive of a contract's being let to construct a new building without knowing in advance the operations of the occupant. What family would go to a builder and simply tell him to construct for it a $20,000 house? This would be completely ridiculous. The builder would have to know what the family wanted or he could not possibly satisfy their needs and desires.

Some argue that the city-county structure could be built, the governments moved in and the decisions on consolidation made at another time. They argue that present city and county housing is so inadequate that a new building is needed and would represent progress, with or without consolidation. But what they are saying is that Lincoln should settle for the least it can rather than the most from any construction program.

If a building would be erected without any consolidation plans, it is possible that we would never have any combination of any of the operations of the two governments. It is not planned or intended to merge the governmental subdivisions themselves. There would still be a county government handling the affairs of the county and a city government handling the affairs of the city. The combination would be only in the administration of these affairs. The legislative and judicial branches of the two governments would maintain all the power and authority they have today.

No Plans For Merging

It is believed that there are many places where the city and county would effectively combine their operations for a net savings to taxpayers and for greater taxpayer convenience. To ignore this is to put the new building proposal up to bat with two strikes already against it.

Taft, Glenn Get Billing In Ohio

WASHINGTON — Two spectacular names will probably be in the Ohio political race next year — Col. John Glenn, the famed astronaut, and Robert Taft Jr., son of the late "Mr. Republican." They will probably be running for Congress, one as a Democrat the other as a Republican, though not against each other.

Taft, who is now a congressman-at-large from Ohio, expects to run for the Senate against Democratic Senator Steve Young. Taft was expected to make headlines in Washington, but has laid low, and spends a lot of time back home polishing up political contacts.

Steve Young, twice Taft's age, has been one of the spryest, most peppery members of the Senate, has stood up to be counted on every issue, even dared take on the American Legion. He will not be easy to beat.

But the Democratic strategy, as hatched by astute Congressman Charley Vanik, of Cleveland, is to groom handsome Astronaut Glenn first by running him for Taft's seat — congressman-at-large — then put him up for the Senate against the Ohio Republicrat, Frank Lausche. Lausche, nominally a Democrat, votes Republican about half the time, is the only northern Democrat who lined up with Red China, Fidel Castro and Albania in opposing the test ban treaty.

Things should be interesting in Ohio next year.

Premier Khrushchev dropped some frank remarks about American presidents to Kremlin visitors the other day.

He said he preferred President Kennedy to Eisenhower. Ike, he said, didn't control his own administration. Kennedy, he said, was a man you could disagree with but still respect.

As for Harry Truman, Khrushchev snorted that all Russians hated Truman.

His only comment on the late President Roosevelt was a Russian proverb: "When there are no fish, lobster is fish. When there are no birds, an ass is a nightingale."

Sen. Goldwater has deftly withdrawn the manuscript of his new book, "The Red Stripe of Freedom," written for McGraw Hill. Advisors told Barry the book would raise cain with labor and Republican moderates. Goldwater returned the advance royalty to McGraw Hill and promised to revise the manuscript after the '64 election . . . inside word is that it was a deal with Sen. Norris Cotton of New Hampshire that caused Goldwater to reserve his stand on the United Nations. Before Cotton would mastermind the Goldwater campaign in the Granite State, he required his candidate to come out for the UN . . . in New Hampshire, it's said that Cotton, attorney for Bernard Goldfine, has now jumped from Goldfine to Goldwater . . . in California the other day, Gov. Rockefeller told Republicans privately that he will announce his candidacy for president this month.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Moral Letdown Due To War

WASHINGTON — Not long ago Malcolm Muggeridge, that acid critic of British morals and manners, laced into the holier-than-thou hand-wringing that has gone on over the Profumo scandal.

Prime ministers by the score, he was bold enough to say, have been adulterers. One of the few exceptions was Gladstone, who on leaving a late sitting of the House of Commons made it a practice to pick up a prostitute and take her home for supper where he and Mrs. Gladstone questioned her about her wicked life.

This is relevant to the effort to make a Profumo scandal here out of homespun materials without benefit of lords and ladies whose very names are the stuff of headlines. No one can doubt that the ingredients are readily at hand. It would be surprising if politicians were immune from the postwar drop in moral standards reflected in the high crime rate, in mounting divorce and in a variety of other less statistically demonstrable ways.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Profumo scandal served a most useful purpose in Britain. As the sensational press fanned it up with the memoirs of Christine Keeler and others in the spectacular cast of characters, attention was diverted from the nation's deficiencies in education, economic development and other matters.

It was a grand old hay ride far easier to read about than parliamentary reports on how Britain must train more scientists if she is to keep her place as a world power.

A similar sensation would serve here to distract attention from a fumbling and faltering Congress that now in its eleventh month has done next to nothing. Hopefully the Robert G. (Bobby) Baker investigation may blossom into something really diverting as rumors fly about of mysterious houses and beautiful models suddenly removed from the Washington scene.

But, if the Baker case proves disappointing, a Kinsey-like inquiry into the sex life of both Congress and the executive branch must not be ruled out. After all, sex is relevant to many of the problems that lawmakers and policy-makers confront. An ideal chairman for a committee conducting such an inquiry would be the senator from Arkansas, John McClellan, who combines the qualities of Calvin and Robespierre in almost equal balance.

This could go on for weeks in the winter and early spring and it would be guaranteed to titillate the public beyond any thought of such serious matters as civil rights and taxes. Recourse to the Fifth Amendment could not be ruled out, but obviously anyone using such an escape hatch would be forever condemned.

The melancholy truth is that war is the great corrupter of morals and the destroyer of standards of conduct. A relatively few men do the fighting and dying, a few women the waiting and weeping. For the rest it becomes a great binge in which restraints and inhibitions are conveniently shucked off.

After World War I Warren Gamaliel Harding presided over perhaps the most squalid administration in history. In that discreet day it was not until after his death that word leaked out about his youthful mistress whom he once hid in the White House coat closet. The boozy poker parties in the little green house on K Street went on among the insiders as large chunks of the public domain were plundered. After Harding's death Calvin Coolidge—so brilliantly labeled by William Allen White "a puritan in Babylon"—was a handy symbol as the great bull market roared on toward ruin.

In the aftermath of World War II many instances have come to light of what declining standards mean. In 1957 a federal judge in Newark had sharp things to say about the General Electric supply company for hiring call girls to "entertain" customers at a dealers' convention. And General Electric was plainly no better or worse than many large organizations. One of Edward R. Murrow's most forthright —and controversial — telecasts dealt in 1959 with "The Business of Sex." Murrow reported that "the use of call girls in industry is pretty widespread at this time . . ."

With a defense budget of $52 million, a large part of it going to industry in cost-plus contracts with some of them in billions, rather than hundreds of millions of dollars, the dependence of business and labor on government for profits and jobs has become deeply entrenched in the economy. This has been the source of widespread abuse. While his innocence of wrongdoing may be shown beyond a doubt, the foolish letters written by retiring Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth, suggesting ways to help his bank, were almost enough in themselves to condemn him.

One of the few men talking about the pursuit by business of the government dollar is Edwin P. Neilan, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce. With an election year coming up he is bound to be heard.

No Berlin Compromise

The Berlin blockade now being waged by the Soviet Union has only the surface appearance of complexity. It would seem strange, at first glance, that the Soviets would throw such a monky-wrench into things just at a time when the world appears to be on the verge of getting along quite well.

Actually, the action of the Reds in harassment of Western movement through East Germany into and out of Berlin is true to form. It is a part of the inconsistency that is really the only consistent thing about communism. Irrationality should be recognized by now as an integral part of the tools used by the Kremlin to achieve its ends.

This does not fully explain the apparent contradiction of recent Soviet actions but a full understanding is next to impossible to achieve. What immediate end the Russians have in mind with their Berlin blockade is something the West does not know. It is known that the Soviet pattern throughout its history has been to change from day to day as the situation seems to demand or as best suits its needs.

In Berlin, the West has only one course of action to follow — firmness. Whether we know for certain what the intentions of the communists are, we have no choice but to maintain our rights and position in Germany as we see them. It could be disastrous if the issue were forced so far, but the U.S. must make it plain that the use of force is a very real part of our determination not to take any dictation from Moscow.

Sen. Connally—Statesman

Ten years ago Tom Connally, of Texas, retired from the U.S. Senate at the age of 76. It was the end of 36 years of individual distinction as a congressional leader.

His death the other day reminds that a half a generation of Americans have arrived at maturity since the Connally star glittered in the national sky. To such he was only a name. The memory of him is worth a good deal more than that.

Connally was a senator in the old tradition, frock coat, sweeping black hat, crusty behaviour and all. His type forms the popular picture of the typical senator so beloved by cartoonists. He was also a Texan of the old school, one who without changing clothes or manners would have fit in well with Davy Crockett at the Alamo.

It would be impossible to trace all of the outstanding public acts of this man who stood out from the crowd for 36 years. He was in a lot of things, participated in a great number of victories, played on the losing side, too, many times. But he can be remembered for two important actions.

After World War I he was an isolationist, saw no good in the League of Nations and held a rigidly reserved position on U.S. participation in the World Court. He fostered the doctrine that the court would take no jurisdiction over U.S. actions in matters deemed by this country to be essentially domestic. This doctrine still plagues the world. It has been invoked by many nations to hamstring the United Nations.

After 1945 it was a different Tom Connally who played such an instrumental part in forming the United Nations. Thirty six years had taught him much and he was not afraid to correct his course.

An ability to adjust to the facts of life and to risk one's career to do so is the mark of a great statesman. Sen. Connally was never found wanting in that. He should be long remembered.

Back On The Track

Recent political events in Italy encourage the hope that a period of effective government will return.

A coalition majority has been achieved. The congress of Pietro Nenni's left wing socialists has authorized an association with the Christian Democrats. That tends to leave the communists, a substantial minority, out in the cold, and paves the way for Aldo Moro, secretary of the Christian Democrats, to become premier.

With such an agreement struck there is no reason to continue the caretaker government under Giovanni Leone. It has held Italy together since the elections several months ago failed to give any party sufficient strength to govern.

It is not clear how many concessions the Christian Democrats had to extend in order to win socialist support, but it can be assumed that they were more extensive than the liberalizing steps taken by the Christian Democrats earlier under Fanfani. One may assume that Italy will move forward with greater regard for the low earning masses with a greater thrust toward industrialization and better living standards in the poverty stricken south of Italy.

As far as the West is concerned the coalition promises to continue Italy's support of NATO, the European Common Market and other activities which keep the country removed from communist encroachment. This is agreeable news when it is considered that the Italian Communist Party holds a higher per cent of adherents than in any other European country on the side of the West.

But it must be remembered that the political problems in Italy are symptoms rather than causes. Both wealth and opportunity suffer a spotty distribution. The modernization of the Italian economy still has a considerable distance to go before equalization between regions will eliminate areas of discontent. Now that a decisive government has returned that process can be resumed.

Nation Accepts Viet Nam Coup

WASHINGTON—The South Viet Nam revolt presents no domestic political problems to the Kennedy administration.

The Diem regime, including Madame Nhu, proved unable to attract any significant defenders in economic, religious or Republican circles here. A few far-right groups, including the vociferous Young Republicans of California, raised some cheers for the fair visitor, but State Department apprehensions that she might make trouble proved groundless.

Congressional comment was held to a minimum, and leading Republicans expect that condition to remain unchanged. As one explained it, the problem is essentially military and the strategic importance of the fight there against communist North Viet Nam was a cardinal aspect of Eisenhower foreign policy.

Should the situation take a turn for the worse when the Republican choice for president starts to debate the President, it will be mentioned invidiously, but that is par for the campaign course. The President takes credit when the sun shines and he gets the blame when it rains. Nowhere is this more true than in foreign affairs.

The impact of South Viet Nam does, however, show up in the largely dreary and confusing debate in the Senate, and in the Vietnamese revolt has sharpened tongues and temjers.

At this point the economizers are in full cry against the compromises which the Clay committee and the House forced from the President. Its own members are attacking a midway version approved by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

An attempt is being made not only to make deeper cuts than the White House thinks are admissible but to adopt policy restrictions. Few senators would argue that it is wise to make foreign policy on the floor or hamper any agency of the government in the management of its affairs. Congress is, after all, the legislative branch.

☆ ☆ ☆

The fact that the Senate is considering such restrictions under the leadership of Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon is a good measure of its unhappiness with foreign aid. Many members admire Morse's courage; almost no one would care to acknowledge him as the leader.

Here again Sen. Mike Mansfield's strange reluctance to make life hard for even the most intransigent of his flock appears. Other senators have tried to persuade the majority leader to stage the long, hard sessions which give any filibusterer pause.

Instead, the Senate has continued to enjoy few and short sessions as the autumn leaves fall. More are in prospect until next year, including long recesses at Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Between the Mansfield geniality and the Kennedy compromises the fight has gone out of the more vigorous and younger senators who don't mind a good quarrel when they are sure of their leaders.

Car Towed In

Lincoln, Neb.

I think it is pretty good when a young man has no right to park his car in front of his mother's home for the night without a patrolman having a wrecker tow it in at 12:30 a.m. It cost this young man $8.25 to get his car.

This happened to my son on October 23.

Not So 'Wonderful'

Tekamah, Neb.

"It is a wonderful feeling to be a farmer and in those quiet moments be able to reflect on the joy and meaning of our way of life."

These well chosen and stirring words were borrowed from an advertising folder designed to help sell two new books, written an now being introduced by the publishers of Farm Quarterly Magazine. They pertain to farm life and are entitled "The Good Old Days" and "The Good Life."

Perhaps the publishers of this farm magazine like so many others are so preoccupied or obsessed with the good old days and those aspects of farming which could make it a good life that they are blissfully unaware that American agriculture today is in dire need of something economically more tangible than any however well intended literary tribute. It is emphasis on things such as this and the constant stressing of more and more efficiency which seem to suggest a kind of incomprehensiveness or lack of grasp of the real and urgent issues of agriculture. It is perhaps the shallow-minded thinking of gentlemen farmers and others not the least financially dependent on agriculture's economic welfare and therefore not the least concerned with it. It is, of course, also the old game of "you look that way while I continue to steal all I can from you."

But to get back to that "wonderful feeling of being a farmer." There are sometimes other feelings involved which disturb the thoughts of some of those "quiet moments." For the family-type farmer who foresees his own prospects of economic survival written in the somber desolation of the all too frequent abandoned farmstead —for those who are watching a lifetime of honest effort being washed away by the economically devastating two-directional tidal wave of organized corporate price-fixing — for those who have bothered to inform themselves of the economic facts of agriculture and so recognize also the viciousness of the cause, the tragedy of the results and yet the potential simplicity of the cure—there come some disquieting moments and even sleepless nights which can in no way be described as "wonderful."

The Obligations

Bennet, Neb.

Are we doing all we can in this country to control juvenile delinquency? Every time anyone suggests that perhaps there should be more control over pornographic literature, there are those who shout to high heaven the word "freedom."

But let us remember that freedom must also be controlled so that your freedom does not interfere with my freedom. If you think you are completely, totally free, then try to drive your car on the sidewalk sometime. Freedom also involves obligation to others. The cry of liberty is often a smokescreen.

Is it a violation of civil liberties to deny the sale of liquor to a 10-year-old boy? Is it censorship to prosecute those who sell narcotics to junior high school girls?

Peddling pornographic poison to children is a heinous crime. It is as bad as selling dynamite to youngsters. One destroys the soul; the other the body. Any community which does not punish such a criminal is failing its duty.

If we do not raise our voices in opposition to the business of obscenity, with its vast revenue, it will become a well-organized machine under the direction of criminals. Unless we stop them, these vicious forces will undermine the moral fiber of the nation's youth, and thereby destroy our nation much more effectively than an invasion by a foreign power could succeed in doing.

Bill Of Rights

Beatrice, Neb.

I see by The Star that the federal government is commencing to look into the laws of the southern states. That should be backed up by enforcing the Emancipation Proclamation which we have had for a hundred years and which has not been thoroughly enforced. Now it should be enforced to the limit.

The Negroes are just as much American citizens as the white people and are covered by our Bill of Rights. So why is there so much ado about this new bill concerning civil rights? It can't give us anything because we already have it. The Emancipation Proclamation takes care of the Negroes and it is up to the federal government to uphold it.

I don't like to see our government pushed around. It shows weakness.

Premier Khrushchev dropped some frank remarks about American presidents to Kremlin visitors the other day.

He said he preferred President Kennedy to Eisenhower. Ike, he said, didn't control his own administration. Kennedy, he said, was a man you could disagree with but still respect.

As for Harry Truman, Khrushchev snorted that all Russians hated Truman.

His only comment on the late President Roosevelt was a Russian proverb: "When there are no fish, lobster is fish. When there are no birds, an ass is a nightingale."

Sen. Goldwater has deftly withdrawn the manuscript of his new book, "The Red Stripe of Freedom," written for McGraw Hill. Advisors told Barry the book would raise cain with labor and Republican moderates. Goldwater returned the advance royalty to McGraw Hill and promised to revise the manuscript after the '64 election . . . inside word is that it was a deal with Sen. Norris Cotton of New Hampshire that caused Goldwater to reserve his stand on the United Nations. Before Cotton would mastermind the Goldwater campaign in the Granite State, he required his candidate to come out for the UN . . . in New Hampshire, it's said that Cotton, attorney for Bernard Goldfine, has now jumped from Goldfine to Goldwater . . . in California the other day, Gov. Rockefeller told Republicans privately that he will announce his candidacy for president this month.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Moral Letdown Due To War

WASHINGTON — Not long ago Malcolm Muggeridge, that acid critic of British morals and manners, laced into the holier-than-thou hand-wringing that has gone on over the Profumo scandal.

Prime ministers by the score, he was bold enough to say, have been adulterers. One of the few exceptions was Gladstone, who on leaving a late sitting of the House of Commons made it a practice to pick up a prostitute and take her home for supper where he and Mrs. Gladstone questioned her about her wicked life.

This is relevant to the effort to make a Profumo scandal here out of homespun materials without benefit of lords and ladies whose very names are the stuff of headlines. No one can doubt that the ingredients are readily at hand. It would be surprising if politicians were immune from the postwar drop in moral standards reflected in the high crime rate, in mounting divorce and in a variety of other less statistically demonstrable ways.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Profumo scandal served a most useful purpose in Britain. As the sensational press fanned it up with the memoirs of Christine Keeler and others in the spectacular cast of characters, attention was diverted from the nation's deficiencies in education, economic development and other matters.

It was a grand old hay ride far easier to read about than parliamentary reports on how Britain must train more scientists if she is to keep her place as a world power.

A similar sensation would serve here to distract attention from a fumbling and faltering Congress that now in its eleventh month has done next to nothing. Hopefully the Robert G. (Bobby) Baker investigation may blossom into something really diverting as rumors fly about of mysterious houses and beautiful models suddenly removed from the Washington scene.

But, if the Baker case proves disappointing, a Kinsey-like inquiry into the sex life of both Congress and the executive branch must not be ruled out. After all, sex is relevant to many of the problems that lawmakers and policy-makers confront. An ideal chairman for a committee conducting such an inquiry would be the senator from Arkansas, John McClellan, who combines the qualities of Calvin and Robespierre in almost equal balance.

This could go on for weeks in the winter and early spring and it would be guaranteed to titillate the public beyond any thought of such serious matters as civil rights and taxes. Recourse to the Fifth Amendment could not be ruled out, but obviously anyone using such an escape hatch would be forever condemned.

The melancholy truth is that war is the great corrupter of morals and the destroyer of standards of conduct. A relatively few men do the fighting and dying, a few women the waiting and weeping. For the rest it becomes a great binge in which restraints and inhibitions are conveniently shucked off.

After World War I Warren Gamaliel Harding presided over perhaps the most squalid administration in history. In that discreet day it was not until after his death that word leaked out about his youthful mistress whom he once hid in the White House coat closet. The boozy poker parties in the little green house on K Street went on among the insiders as large chunks of the public domain were plundered. After Harding's death Calvin Coolidge—so brilliantly labeled by William Allen White "a puritan in Babylon"—was a handy symbol as the great bull market roared on toward ruin.

In the aftermath of World War II many instances have come to light of what declining standards mean. In 1957 a federal judge in Newark had sharp things to say about the General Electric supply company for hiring call girls to "entertain" customers at a dealers' convention. And General Electric was plainly no better or worse than many large organizations. One of Edward R. Murrow's most forthright —and controversial — telecasts dealt in 1959 with "The Business of Sex." Murrow reported that "the use of call girls in industry is pretty widespread at this time . . ."

With a defense budget of $52 million, a large part of it going to industry in cost-plus contracts with some of them in billions, rather than hundreds of millions of dollars, the dependence of business and labor on government for profits and jobs has become deeply entrenched in the economy. This has been the source of widespread abuse. While his innocence of wrongdoing may be shown beyond a doubt, the foolish letters written by retiring Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth, suggesting ways to help his bank, were almost enough in themselves to condemn him.

One of the few men talking about the pursuit by business of the government dollar is Edwin P. Neilan, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce. With an election year coming up he is bound to be heard.

No Berlin Compromise

The Berlin blockade now being waged by the Soviet Union has only the surface appearance of complexity. It would seem strange, at first glance, that the Soviets would throw such a monky-wrench into things just at a time when the world appears to be on the verge of getting along quite well.

Actually, the action of the Reds in harassment of Western movement through East Germany into and out of Berlin is true to form. It is a part of the inconsistency that is really the only consistent thing about communism. Irrationality should be recognized by now as an integral part of the tools used by the Kremlin to achieve its ends.

This does not fully explain the apparent contradiction of recent Soviet actions but a full understanding is next to impossible to achieve. What immediate end the Russians have in mind with their Berlin blockade is something the West does not know. It is known that the Soviet pattern throughout its history has been to change from day to day as the situation seems to demand or as best suits its needs.

In Berlin, the West has only one course of action to follow — firmness. Whether we know for certain what the intentions of the communists are, we have no choice but to maintain our rights and position in Germany as we see them. It could be disastrous if the issue were forced so far, but the U.S. must make it plain that the use of force is a very real part of our determination not to take any dictation from Moscow.

Sen. Connally—Statesman

Ten years ago Tom Connally, of Texas, retired from the U.S. Senate at the age of 76. It was the end of 36 years of individual distinction as a congressional leader.

His death the other day reminds that a half a generation of Americans have arrived at maturity since the Connally star glittered in the national sky. To such he was only a name. The memory of him is worth a good deal more than that.

Connally was a senator in the old tradition, frock coat, sweeping black hat, crusty behaviour and all. His type forms the popular picture of the typical senator so beloved by cartoonists. He was also a Texan of the old school, one who without changing clothes or manners would have fit in well with Davy Crockett at the Alamo.

It would be impossible to trace all of the outstanding public acts of this man who stood out from the crowd for 36 years. He was in a lot of things, participated in a great number of victories, played on the losing side, too, many times. But he can be remembered for two important actions.

After World War I he was an isolationist, saw no good in the League of Nations and held a rigidly reserved position on U.S. participation in the World Court. He fostered the doctrine that the court would take no jurisdiction over U.S. actions in matters deemed by this country to be essentially domestic. This doctrine still plagues the world. It has been invoked by many nations to hamstring the United Nations.

After 1945 it was a different Tom Connally who played such an instrumental part in forming the United Nations. Thirty six years had taught him much and he was not afraid to correct his course.

An ability to adjust to the facts of life and to risk one's career to do so is the mark of a great statesman. Sen. Connally was never found wanting in that. He should be long remembered.

Back On The Track

Recent political events in Italy encourage the hope that a period of effective government will return.

A coalition majority has been achieved. The congress of Pietro Nenni's left wing socialists has authorized an association with the Christian Democrats. That tends to leave the communists, a substantial minority, out in the cold, and paves the way for Aldo Moro, secretary of the Christian Democrats, to become premier.

With such an agreement struck there is no reason to continue the caretaker government under Giovanni Leone. It has held Italy together since the elections several months ago failed to give any party sufficient strength to govern.

It is not clear how many concessions the Christian Democrats had to extend in order to win socialist support, but it can be assumed that they were more extensive than the liberalizing steps taken by the Christian Democrats earlier under Fanfani. One may assume that Italy will move forward with greater regard for the low earning masses with a greater thrust toward industrialization and better living standards in the poverty stricken south of Italy.

As far as the West is concerned the coalition promises to continue Italy's support of NATO, the European Common Market and other activities which keep the country removed from communist encroachment. This is agreeable news when it is considered that the Italian Communist Party holds a higher per cent of adherents than in any other European country on the side of the West.

But it must be remembered that the political problems in Italy are symptoms rather than causes. Both wealth and opportunity suffer a spotty distribution. The modernization of the Italian economy still has a considerable distance to go before equalization between regions will eliminate areas of discontent. Now that a decisive government has returned that process can be resumed.

Nation Accepts Viet Nam Coup

WASHINGTON—The South Viet Nam revolt presents no domestic political problems to the Kennedy administration.

The Diem regime, including Madame Nhu, proved unable to attract any significant defenders in economic, religious or Republican circles here. A few far-right groups, including the vociferous Young Republicans of California, raised some cheers for the fair visitor, but State Department apprehensions that she might make trouble proved groundless.

Congressional comment was held to a minimum, and leading Republicans expect that condition to remain unchanged. As one explained it, the problem is essentially military and the strategic importance of the fight there against communist North Viet Nam was a cardinal aspect of Eisenhower foreign policy.

Should the situation take a turn for the worse when the Republican choice for president starts to debate the President, it will be mentioned invidiously, but that is par for the campaign course. The President takes credit when the sun shines and he gets the blame when it rains. Nowhere is this more true than in foreign affairs.

☆ ☆ ☆

The impact of South Viet Nam does, however, show up in the largely dreary and confusing debate in the Senate, and in the Vietnamese revolt has sharpened tongues and tempers.

At this point the economizers are in full cry against the compromises which the Clay committee and the House forced from the President. Its own members are attacking a midway version approved by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

An attempt is being made not only to make deeper cuts than the White House thinks are admissible but to adopt policy restrictions. Few senators would argue that it is wise to make foreign policy on the floor or hamper any agency of the government in the management of its affairs. Congress is, after all, the legislative branch.

☆ ☆ ☆

The fact that the Senate is considering such restrictions under the leadership of Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon is a good measure of its unhappiness with foreign aid. Many members admire Morse's courage; almost no one would care to acknowledge him as the leader.

Here again Sen. Mike Mansfield's strange reluctance to make life hard for even the most intransigent of his flock appears. Other senators have tried to persuade the majority leader to stage the long, hard sessions which give any filibusterer pause.

Instead, the Senate has continued to enjoy few and short sessions as the autumn leaves fall. More are in prospect until next year, including long recesses at Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Between the Mansfield geniality and the Kennedy compromises the fight has gone out of the more vigorous and younger senators who don't mind a good quarrel when they are sure of their leaders.

Car Towed In

Lincoln, Neb.

I think it is pretty good when a young man has no right to park his car in front of his mother's home for the night without a patrolman having a wrecker tow it in at 12:30 a.m. It cost this young man $8.25 to get his car.

This happened to my son on October 23.

Not So 'Wonderful'

Tekamah, Neb.

"It is a wonderful feeling to be a farmer and in those quiet moments be able to reflect on the joy and meaning of our way of life."

These well chosen and stirring words were borrowed from an advertising folder designed to help sell two new books, written an now being introduced by the publishers of Farm Quarterly Magazine. They pertain to farm life and are entitled "The Good Old Days" and "The Good Life."

Perhaps the publishers of this farm magazine like so many others are so preoccupied or obsessed with the good old days and those aspects of farming which could make it a good life that they are blissfully unaware that American agriculture today is in dire need of something economically more tangible than any however well intended literary tribute. It is emphasis on things such as this and the constant stressing of more and more efficiency which seem to suggest a kind of incomprehensiveness or lack of grasp of the real and urgent issues of agriculture. It is perhaps the shallow-minded thinking of gentlemen farmers and others not the least financially dependent on agriculture's economic welfare and therefore not the least concerned with it. It is, of course, also the old game of "you look that way while I continue to steal all I can from you."

But to get back to that "wonderful feeling of being a farmer." There are sometimes other feelings involved which disturb the thoughts of some of those "quiet moments." For the family-type farmer who foresees his own prospects of economic survival written in the somber desolation of the all too frequent abandoned farmstead —for those who are watching a lifetime of honest effort being washed away by the economically devastating two-directional tidal wave of organized corporate price-fixing — for those who have bothered to inform themselves of the economic facts of agriculture and so recognize also the viciousness of the cause, the tragedy of the results and yet the potential simplicity of the cure—there come some disquieting moments and even sleepless nights which can in no way be described as "wonderful."

The Obligations

Bennet, Neb.

Are we doing all we can in this country to control juvenile delinquency? Every time anyone suggests that perhaps there should be more control over pornographic literature, there are those who shout to high heaven the word "freedom."

But let us remember that freedom must also be controlled so that your freedom does not interfere with my freedom. If you think you are completely, totally free, then try to drive your car on the sidewalk sometime. Freedom also involves obligation to others. The cry of liberty is often a smokescreen.

Is it a violation of civil liberties to deny the sale of liquor to a 10-year-old boy? Is it censorship to prosecute those who sell narcotics to junior high school girls?

Peddling pornographic poison to children is a heinous crime. It is as bad as selling dynamite to youngsters. One destroys the soul; the other the body. Any community which does not punish such a criminal is failing its duty.

If we do not raise our voices in opposition to the business of obscenity, with its vast revenue, it will become a well-organized machine under the direction of criminals. Unless we stop them, these vicious forces will undermine the moral fiber of the nation's youth, and thereby destroy our nation much more effectively than an invasion by a foreign power could succeed in doing.

Bill Of Rights

Beatrice, Neb.

I see by The Star that the federal government is commencing to look into the laws of the southern states. That should be backed up by enforcing the Emancipation Proclamation which we have had for a hundred years and which has not been thoroughly enforced. Now it should be enforced to the limit.

The Negroes are just as much American citizens as the white people and are covered by our Bill of Rights. So why is there so much ado about this new bill concerning civil rights? It can't give us anything because we already have it. The Emancipation Proclamation takes care of the Negroes and it is up to the federal government to uphold it.

I don't like to see our government pushed around. It shows weakness.

Truck Fee Collection Bill Planned

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

Gov. Frank Morrison said late Tuesday he is having a bill prepared for introduction to provide a practical method for the collection of certain truck fees heretofore collected at ports of entry.

He made the announcement following a late-afternoon conference with Department of Motor Vehicles Director B. H. G. Elting, Sens. George Gerdes of Alliance, Elvin Adamson of Nenzel, and Assistant Atty. Gen. Chauncey Sheldon.

The issue, which stirred considerable debate on the floor of the Legislature Tuesday during discussion of the budget bill, stems from the closing of ports of entry through which the non-resident commercial motor vehicle fees have been collected.

Exclusive Agents

Closing of the ports of entry was approved by the 1963 Legislature in LB441, which also provided that the various county treasurers should be the exclusive agents for the Motor Vehicle Department in certain fee collections.

Use of the county officers for this pupose now has been determined an impractical solution to the problem, and Elting has requested $160,000 so his department either can hire new personnel to collect the fees, or appoint agents in designated service stations to perform the duties.

Through an attorney general's opinion delivered to Elting Tuesday afternoon, it was determined it would not be possible to follow either of his proposals without amending other statutes. The opinion outlines enabling legislation for that purpose.

Thus, Morrison said, he has directed Elting to have an amendment to LB441 drafted which will authorize the Department of Motor Vehicles to have the fees collected by persons other than county treasurers.

Asked if introduction of the bill would be going beyond the formal call of the extraordinary session, Morrison said he was quite certan the matter would come within the purview of the call.

He noted that the attorney general already has held that any matter referred to in the omnibus budget bill implies the opening of that subject to inquiry.

"It's simply a matter of clearing by amendment an ambiguity in the law," Morrison stated.

Driver Training Survives Test

The driver education program survived a renewed attack upon its implementation Tuesday as lawmakers defeated 9-30 a motion to eliminate its appropriation from the omnibus budget bill.

Arguments on the driver training program, and proposed methods of collecting certain truck fees were the only items in the budget bill, LB7, which proved controversial as the Legislature advanced the measure off general file 41-0.

Sen. Cecil Craft of North Platte sponsored the move to knock out funds for the driver training program arguing that the program does not be long in the public schools, that it will not be successful in reducing accidents, and that it will be too costly for Nebraska taxpayers.

A handful of senators joined Craft in arguments against the measure, but a greater number joined together to speak in behalf of driver education as a necessary effort to cut down traffic accidents on Nebraska highways.

With Craft's motion killed, the lawmakers proceeded to adopt previously reported committee amendments to LB7, including the much-discussed financing of the Kerr-Mills program now slated to begin operation Jan. 1.

Marvel Accepts Blame For 3 Errors

Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings, Budget Committee chairman, stated Tuesday that he, the commitee, and its staff have to assume responsibility for the three most important errors in the 1963-65 appropriations act.

He administered a verbal spanking to those who are "constantly trying to affix blame" for errors and omissions which occurred in the budget bill, adding that the errors are "to be shared by many people."

Marvel then expressed the hope that "those who have criticized will join hands in trying to improve" procedures to avoid such errors in the future.

11 Items

The Hastings senator noted that Gov. Frank Morrison had included 11 budgetary items in the call for the special session, and that hearings on these items had been conducted "in complete harmony."

Marvel said, only three of the 11 items are of "prime importance."

These, he explained, were failure to include administrative funds for the Kerr-Mills program; misplacement of financing for the driver education program, and the omission of the $20,000 increase in the revolving fund for Services for the Visually Impaired.

He attributed these oversights to lack of communication, and lack of proper procedure between the Legislature, its fiscal analyst staff and state government departments.

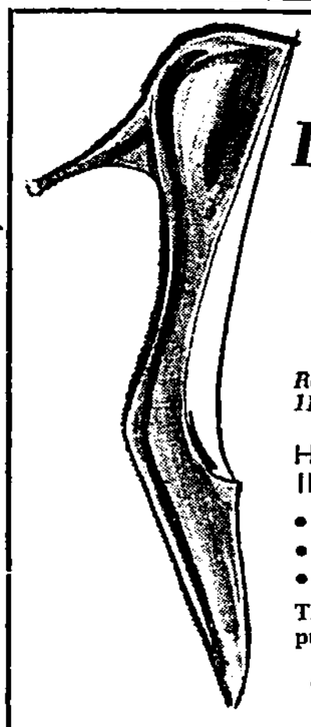

Mistakes 'Human'

Marvel also noted that while these errors were primarily the responsibility of the Budget Committee and its staff, the oversights were made by humans who make mistakes "because we are human."

Criticisms leveled against the mistakes "have discredited me, the (Budget) committee and the Legislature," Marvel said.

Although he declared the other eight items in the budget bill were "not emergency matters at all," the committee has "acted in good faith" in its hearings on them.

The Hastings senator then stated he thought perhaps the governor has learned something about human errors also, explaining that in the 11 items in the special budget bill, the governor made two errors himself which Marvel contended "isn't a very good batting average."

Sunday Closing Orders Continued For 3 Stores

Lancaster District Judge Bartlett Boyles Tuesday continued restraining orders enjoining officials from enforcing the Sunday closing law against three Lincoln stores.

Judge Boyles gave attorneys until Nov. 15 to file briefs in the suits brought against local and state officials by Four-Star Drug, Skagway, and the QP Store.

Date for further hearing on the injunctions and declaratory judgment sought will be set after briefs are submitted, Judge Boyles said.

Moves For Dismissal

County Atty Paul Douglas moved for dismissal of the temporary restraining orders, pointing out that the stores have shown no proof of damage and that stores open six days a week can make as much profit as those open seven.

Douglas, in an affidavit filed Tuesday, stated that injunctive relief to certain stores grants "unfair advantage" to them and permits them to "increase and expand business at the expense of those who comply," with the law.

Attorney Norman Krivosha, representing Four-Star Drug, argued that being forced to close would cause "irreparable damage" to business while the matter is pending.

"Substantial Loss"

Taylor Greer, representing Skay-Way, stated that O. P. Skaggs has perishable commodities which require attention seven days a week, and enforcement of the law, LB710, would result in substantial loss to the Skaggs stores.

Attorney Robert Perry, representing the QP Store, called the bill "unfair legislation" since competitors of the QP Store may remain open seven days a week under the "Mama and Papa" clause.

The bill, which prohibits the sale of certain commodities on Sunday, excepts small stores which employ not more than two full-time and one part-time person, commonly referred to as "Mama and Papa" stores.

Commissioners Hear Consolidation Proposal

Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday took no immediate action on a proposal for citizen committee studies on possible city-county consolidation presented by Lincoln attorney Robert Guenzel.

Guenzel, who also appeared before the City Council Monday, pointed out that unless positive steps are taken to coordinate the functions of the city and county governments, efforts to gain support for a City-County Building will be futile

He emphasized that citizens must be shown that city-county government is going forward before their support for the building will be possible.

Detailed Plan

Guenzel suggested that the two governmental bodies immediately employ a firm of accounting experts to prepare a detailed plan for the coordination of the treasurers' and assessors' offices, and appoint a number of citizens' committees to study the various other aspects of coordination.

"There is a possibility of coordinating the engineering departments, the repair and maintenance shops, the jail, the attorneys' offices, or even the sheriff and police department," he said.

"It would seem to me that, immediately, citizens' committees utilizing individuals familar with these fields should be appointed to study these matters," he added.

Guenzel noted that although it would be impossible to combine all departments, some action must be taken immediately because "we're throwing $60,000 to $80,000 down the drain every year we don't start."

Relief Cases To Be Heard Before Action?

Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday decided to investigate further the possibilities of giving persons with relatives confined in the State Hospital an opportunity to be heard before the board makes a determination of ability to pay for hospital services.

Commissioner William Grossman pointed out that the matter had been brought to his attention regarding persons the board determined were able to pay and dropped from relief without having an opportunity to be heard on the matter.

The present procedure is that the relief and county attorney's offices make a survey of the financial situation of such persons and the County Board automatically drops them from the rolls if the survey indicates that the person is financially able to pay for the care at the hospital.

Grossman said he felt that these people should be notified of the findings by the county attorney and relief offices and then have a time within which they might appear before the board prior to final determination of the matter.

Shirt Burns, Tot Is Hospitalized

Steven Schroeder, 4, 1001 No. 70th, received first and second degree burns on the upper portion of his body Tuesday afternoon when his shirt burst into flames as he was roasting marshmallows over an electric range.

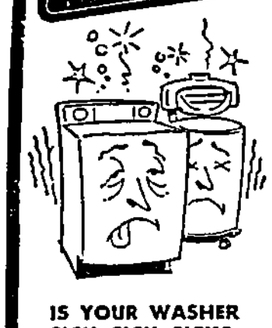

The flames were put out by the child's grandfather, Stanley Kastl. Steven was reported in fair condition at Bryan Memorial Hospital.

Alliance Woman Is Crash Victim

Hemingford (AP) — A 29-year-old Alliance woman was killed late Tuesday when her car smashed into the rear of a farm truck loaded with sugar beets on Neb. 2 about three miles south of Hemingford.

The victim was Darlene G. Alderman, a rural school teacher.

The truck, driven by 25-year-old Calvin C. Hucke of Hemingford, had stopped to let oncoming traffic pass so it could turn off onto a county road.

The death brought the state's traffic toll for the year to 290. It was 328 on Nov. 6 of last year.

Two Years Added To Inmate's Time

A Nebraska Penal Complex inmate was sentenced to two additional years Tuesday on an escape and auto theft charge.

Lancaster District Judge Herbert Ronin sentenced William Hardy, 20, to consecutive one-year terms on the two charges filed in connection with the June 30 escape from the institution.

Poland To Buy Canadian Wheat

Ottawa (AP)—Canada signed an agreement Tuesday to sell Poland about $88 million worth of wheat over three years.

Trade Minister Mitchell Sharp said Canada will supply 14.7 million bushels in the first year—with at least half to be shipped after the opening of navigation next spring. The second and third years would see shipment of a total of 29.4 million bushels.

Martel Named Minneapolis UPI Bureau Manager

Chicago (UPI) — Appointment of Robert W. Martel as bureau manager for United Press International at Minneapolis was announced Tuesday by Dale M. Johns, central division manager.

Martel is a native of New Bedford, Mass., and attended the Univeristy of Nebraska. He worked on the Lincoln, Neb., Journal three years in the sports department and served four years in the U.S. Air Force during the Korean War.

He joined UPI in Omaha and transferred to Minneapolis in 1961. He succeeds Joseph Franey, resigned.

Probation Revoked, Man Given 18 Months

Lancaster District Judge Elmer Scheele Tuesday revoked probation on a Lincoln man charged with possessing a forged instrument and sentenced him to 18 months in the Nebraska Penal Complex.

Carl Cassner, 19, of 301 So. 18th, had pleaded guilty on Nov. 6, 1962, to the Oct. 1, 1962, offense, and had been placed on probation for two years by Judge Scheele.

Prowler 'Fooling Around' Shot By Michigan Archer

Benton Harbor, Mich. (AP)—Clarence Boruff, a carpenter whose hobby is bow and arrow hunting, shot an arrow at a prowler he spotted "fooling around" his station wagon in suburban Benton Township Monday night.

"The last thing I saw, he was running down the street with an arrow sticking in his leg," Boruff told police.

Police alerted hospitals to report any treatment of an arrow-wounded leg.

First-Round Approval Given 3 Bills Cutting Interest Penalties

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature Tuesday handed first-round approval to three bills reducing penalty provisions of Nebraska interest rate laws.

Two were first amended on the floor to provide that the reduced penalties—forfeiture of interest only—be applied "exclusively" in a retroactive manner.

However, the third, LB17, reduced penalties in the installment loan act from forfeiture of principal and interest to payment of interest only, then applied provisions of the bill retroactively.

Language in LB17 would seem to indicate that the reduced penalty would also apply to future transactions—although there was some disagreement as to whether such would be the case.

Phrase Removed

Lawmakers evidenced intent to only give the bill a retroactive effect by approving an amendment removing a phrase which applied the reduced penalty to transactions made "after the effective date of this act."

However, the limiting effect of the word "exclusively" was not written into the language of LB17.

As amended, the bill was advanced on a 26-10 vote.

Lining up in opposition were senators Adamson, Brandt, Erlewine, Forrester, Foster, Gerdes, Eric Rasmussen, Reeves, Stromer and Warner.

Also advanced were:

—LB16. declaring a public policy that the penalty section of the general usury statute payment of interest) be applied to invalid contracts written under installment sales acts or the revolving charge agreements act if the latter is found unconstitutional.

Reducing Penalty

—LB18, reducing the penalty in the industrial loan and investment act from forfeiture of a portion of the principal and interest to payment of interest.

LB16 moved ahead on a 34-2 count, with Carpenter and Forrester opposing. LB18 was advanced 29-6, with Carpenter, Damrow, Erlewine, Forrester, Klaver and Reeves forming the minority.

All three measures were prepared by finance industry representatives and sponsored by Sens. Albert Kjar of Lexington, H. L. Gerhart of Newman Grove and W. H. Hasebroock of West Point.

Carpenter secured adoption of an amendment to LB17 providing that lenders must "refund" to borrowers all interest or charges collected in violation of the act.

As a result, Carpenter told newsmen, lenders will be required to refund all interest paid on invalid contracts since 1959.

Power to Act

Citing an 1882 U.S. Supreme Court ruling, Sen. Michael Russillo of Omaha declared that "the law is clear that the Legislature has the pwoer to act retroactively" in regard to usury penalties.

However, a number of lawmakers urged that an opinion be sought from the attorney general—and both Kjar and Sen Don McGinley of Ogallala promised that one would be forthcoming.

The attorney general had earlier indicated. in an opinion last July on a similar issue, that retroactive reduction of penalties would violate the state constitution.

Tuesday's debate was marked by a sharp exchange between Kjar and Carpenter.

Carpenter charged that a number of senators, including Kjar, would benefit personally if the penalty-reduction bills were passed.

Kjar suggested that Carpenter was "absolutely wrong" in urging others to sue (as Carpenter himself has done), and that he was "trying to cloud the issue and muddy the waters."

Missourian Gets Sunrise District Boy Scout Post

Norman E. Leach of Berkely, Mo., has been named district scout executive of the Boy Scouts. His headquarters will be in York.

Leach will report to the Cornhusker Council in Lincoln Monday.

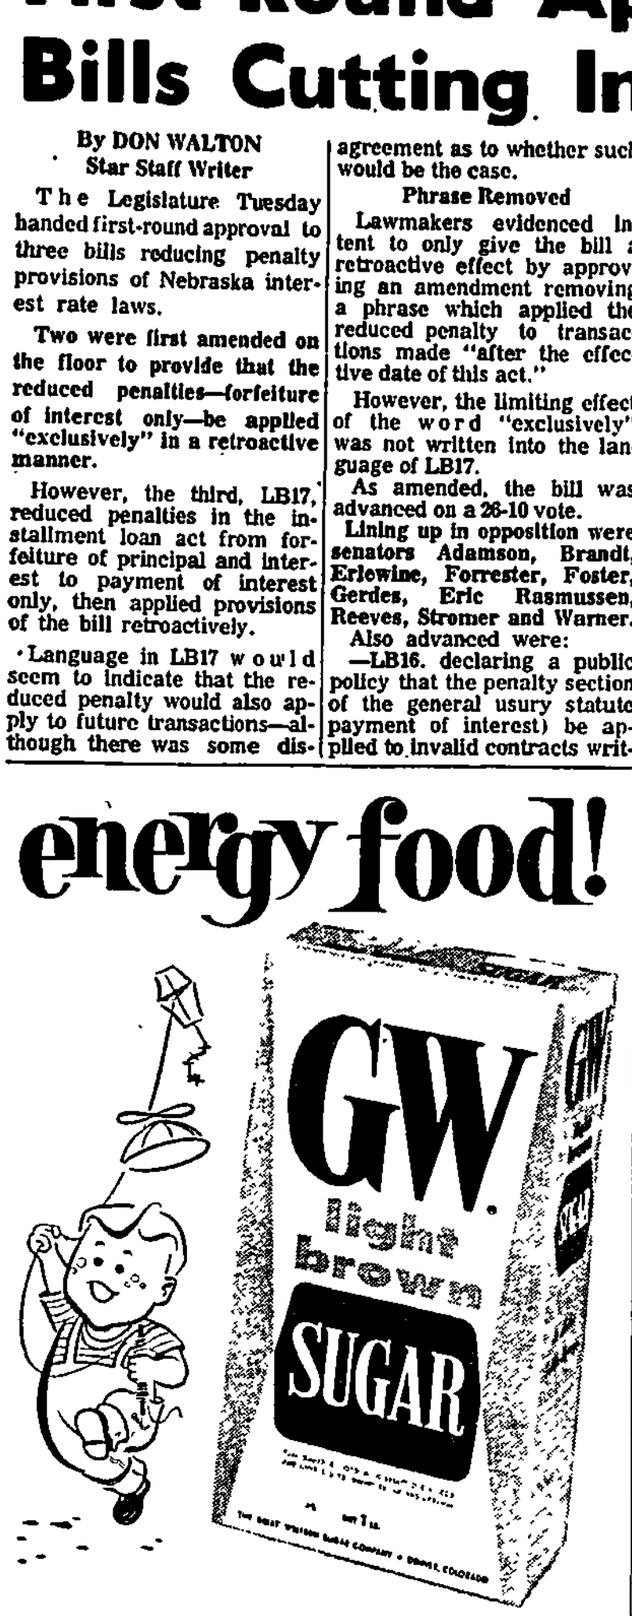

The Sunrise District has more than 1,000 boys enrolled in 45 units in Polk, York, Butler, Seward, Fillmore and Saline Counties.

Leach entered scouting as a Cub Scout in 1950. He attained Life Rank and, as a volunteer leader, served as assistant scoutmaster in Berkeley for three years; troop committee chairman in Columbia, Mo., for one year, and neighborhood commissioner in Columbia for three years.

Burney Hits GOP's Hedging

By WILLIAM B. KETTER
United Press International

Lt. Gov. Dwight D. Burney of Hartington said Tuesday there is a reluctance on the part of state Republican officials to endorse a candidate for governor in 1964 until after the party primary next spring.

He said he does not think this should be the case.

"I think if the party has a favorite candidate," Burney said in an interview, "it should get behind him from the start so the people will know who that candidate is. Otherwise, a candidate that the party doesn't favor could receive the nomination."

Burney has filed for the GOP gubernatorial nomination and it is generally believed that he has the strong backing of party leaders.

The veteran politician said he believes at least one more top GOP candidate will file for the primary election, but he said he does not know who it will be.

Possible Candidates

Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings, chairman of the Budget Committee, former Gov. Val Peterson of Hastings and former Interior Secretary Fred Seaton of Hastings have all been mentioned as possibilities. Seaton was defeated by Governor Morrison in the 1962 election.

Burney said he welcomes a spirited campaign among Republicans for the party nomination but he said all primary campaigns should be constructive.

"No useful purpose would be served by blasting each other when we all seek to capture the governor's chair for the Republican Party," he said.

Burney said he will kickoff his campaign after Jan. 1. He said he will tour the state extensively, making stops in most major cities and "as many small towns and villages as time permits."

He said he will employ a campaign manager to aid his cause, but that he has not selected one yet.

"I am looking over a field of prospective campaign managers and have had interviews with some," Burney said.

Governor Morrison announced last week he will seek a third consecutive term, but said he will not enlist the aid of a campaign manager.

Burney said he believes Morrison will be a "tough" candidate" for the Republican nominee, but that "any man can be beaten."

Burney defeated Morrison in 1956 by more than 50,000 votes in the race for the lieutenant governor's chair. Morrison, however, entered that campaign late because he was an appointed candidate.

Burney said he intends to discuss all issues thoroughly during his campaign.

Jobs, Jobless Show Decline In September

Both employment and unemployment in Nebraska declined during September, according to the State Labor Department's Division of Employment.

The division's monthly report attributed the declines to seasonal factors.

Total employment during September was 623,900. This was 10,700 below August, and 17,100 below the September 1962 figure.

The unemployment total of 13,700 was 2,500 below August and 1,300 less than September 1962.

The rapid decline in farm work during the month was responsible for most of the loss in total jobs, the report said.

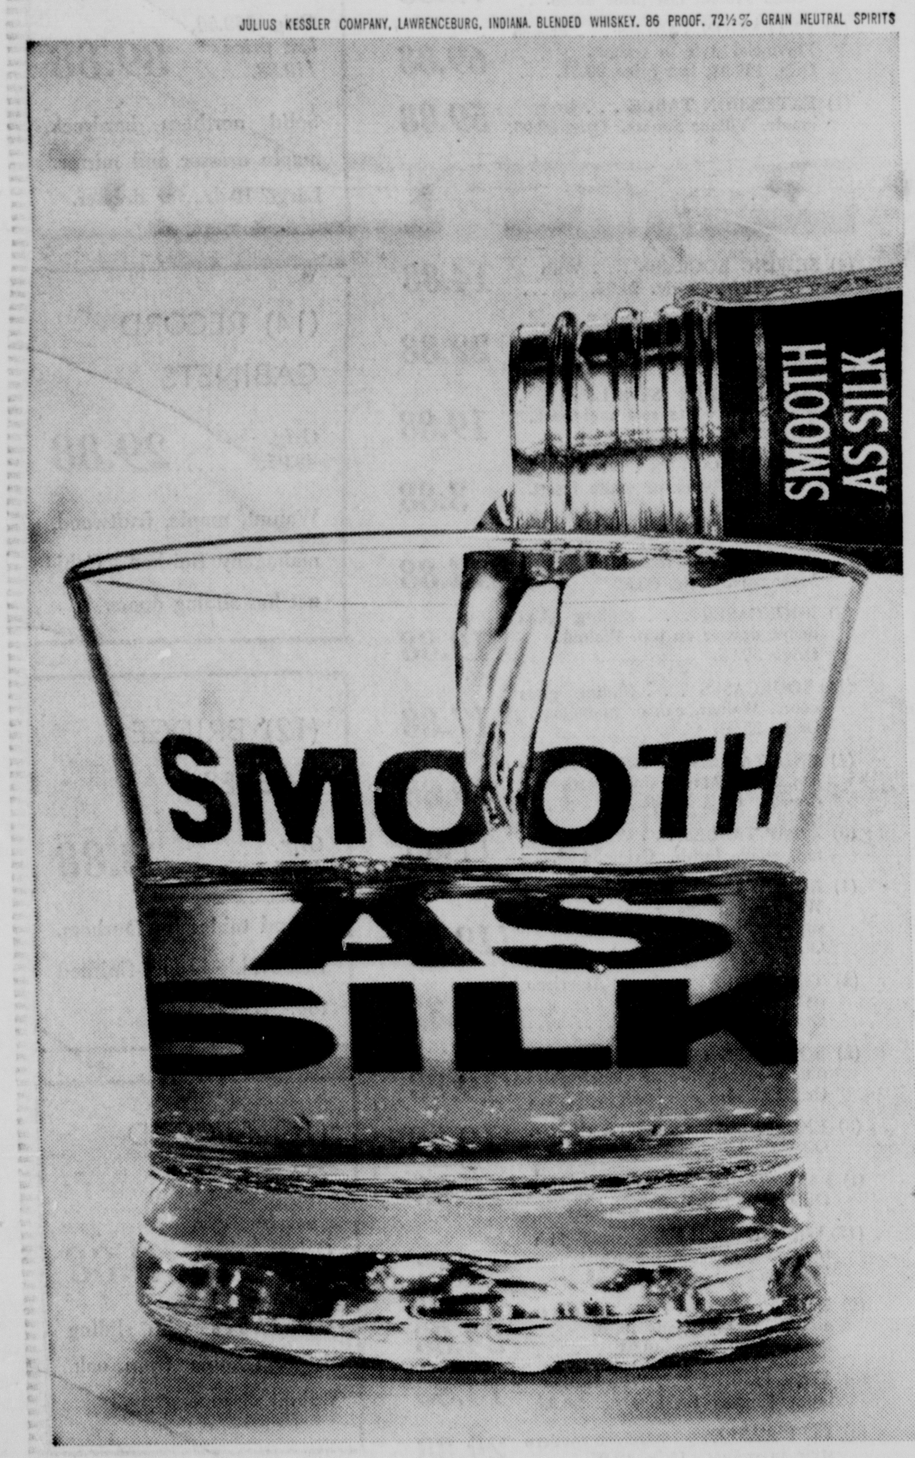

Employment in the Lincoln labor market area was set at 66,200 for September, up 1,350 from August, but down 200 from September of last year. A September unemployment total of 1,300 was 350 below both August of this year and September 1962.

JULIUS KESSLER COMPANY, LAWRENCEBURG, INDIANA. BLENDED WHISKEY. 86 PROOF. 72½% GRAIN NEUTRAL SPIRITS

THREE WORDS THAT CAN ONLY MEAN KESSLER

No smoother whiskey ever came out of a bottle because no smoother ever went in. Kessler has no rough spots, no sharp edges, no uneven tastes. America's lightest-tasting whiskey shows more and more people all the time just how smooth a whiskey can be. And the price of Kessler's smoothness is as remarkable as the whiskey itself.

Burney Hits GOP's Hedging

By WILLIAM B. KETTER
United Press International

Lt. Gov. Dwight D. Burney of Hartington said Tuesday there is a reluctance on the part of state Republican officials to endorse a candidate for governor in 1964 until after the party primary next spring.

He said he does not think this should be the case.

"I think if the party has a favorite candidate," Burney said in an interview, "it should get behind him from the start so the people will know who that candidate is. Otherwise, a candidate that the party doesn't favor could receive the nomination."

Burney has filed for the GOP gubernatorial nomination and it is generally believed that he has the strong backing of party leaders.

The veteran politician said he believes at least one more top GOP candidate will file for the primary election, but he said he does not know who it will be.

Possible Candidates

Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings, chairman of the Budget Committee, former Gov. Val Peterson of Hastings and former Interior Secretary Fred Seaton of Hastings have all been mentioned as possibilities. Seaton was defeated by Governor Morrison in the 1962 election.

Burney said he welcomes a spirited campaign among Republicans for the party nomination but he said all primary campaigns should be constructive.

"No useful purpose would be served by blasting each other when we all seek to capture the governor's chair for the Republican Party," he said.

Burney said he will kickoff his campaign after Jan. 1. He said he will tour the state extensively, making stops in most major cities and "as many small towns and villages as time permits."

He said he will employ a campaign manager to aid his cause, but that he has not selected one yet.

"I am looking over a field of prospective campaign managers and have had interviews with some," Burney said.

Governor Morrison announced last week he will seek a third consecutive term, but said he will not enlist the aid of a campaign manager.

Burney said he believes Morrison will be a "tough" candidate" for the Republican nominee, but that "any man can be beaten."

Burney defeated Morrison in 1956 by more than 50,000 votes in the race for the lieutenant governor's chair. Morrison, however, entered that campaign late because he was an appointed candidate.

Burney said he intends to discuss all issues thoroughly during his campaign.

CARMICHAEL

Jobs, Jobless Show Decline In September

Both employment and unemployment in Nebraska declined during September, according to the State Labor Department's Division of Employment.

The division's monthly report attributed the declines to seasonal factors.

Total employment during September was 623,900. This was 10,700 below August, and 17,100 below the September 1962 figure.

The unemployment total of 13,700 was 2,500 below August and 1,300 less than September 1962.

The rapid decline in farm work during the month was responsible for most of the loss in total jobs, the report said.

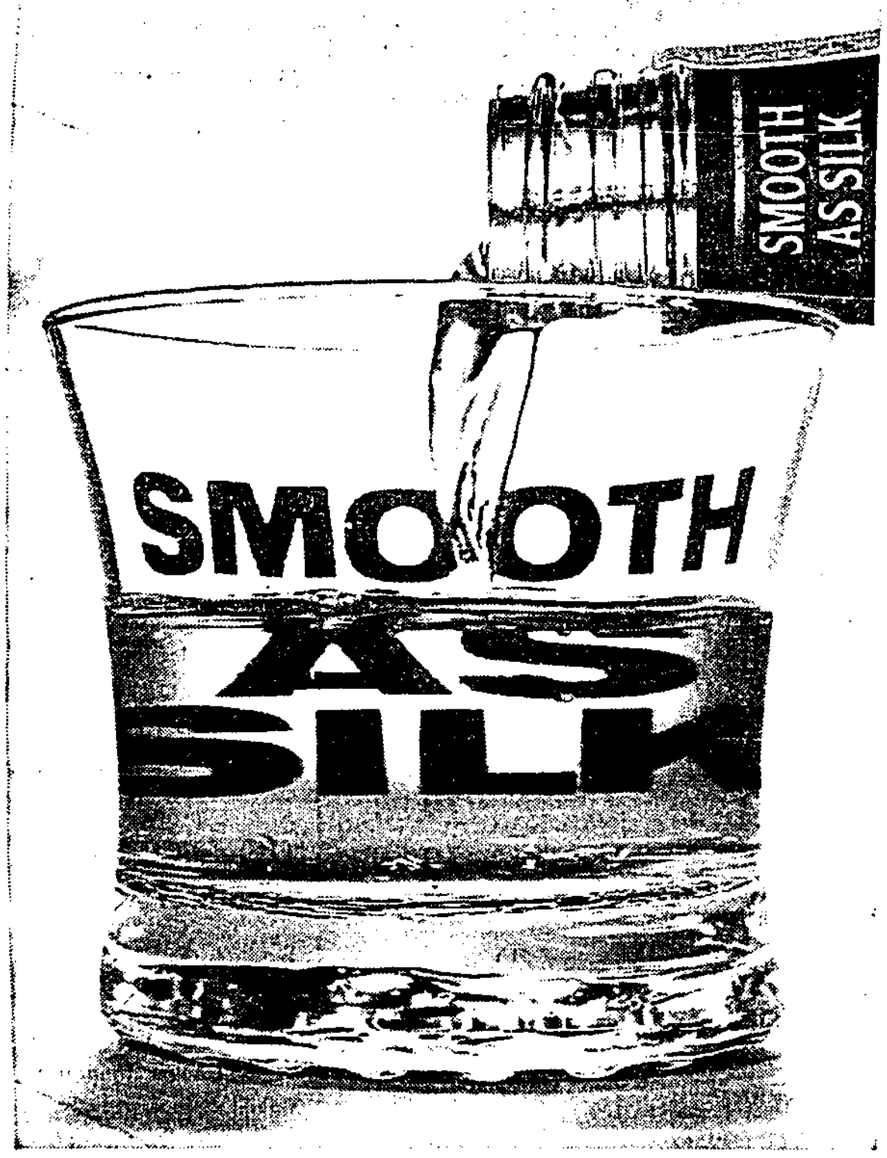

Employment in the Lincoln labor market area was set at 66,200 for September, up 1,350 from August, but down 200 from September of last year. A September unemployment total of 1,300 was 350 below both August of this year and September 1962.

POSTCARD by Stan Pitzer

In the windy city of Chicago, an enterprising radio station put two cows in a department store window.

The cows had earphones.

In one cow's ears, they piped soothing Muzak.

The other cow got an earful of rock 'n' roll.

Otherwise these cows got the same amount of hay.

☆ ☆ ☆

At the end of a week or so, they added up each cow's milk production. It proved beyond doubt that cows subjected to rock 'n' roll are rocking and rolling too much to give much milk.

The cow on Muzak delivered like the morning mail.

But the cow on rock 'n' roll was all churned up.

I don't suppose this is of much value to anybody—except cows. But it shows the power of music.

☆ ☆ ☆

Well, this only gets around to the fact that we have planted the window box.

A sprig of ivy here. A few dwarf chrysanthemums. Some herbs—mint and basil and so on.

I keep a tape recorder in the room. And once in awhile I give these plants a blast of music. Music has great effect on plants. This was proved in experiments in India where a university professor got a veena player to play music to balsam seedings.

A veena is something like a guitar, I think.

You can wrap a lot of single-string hot licks out of a guitar. And I imagine you can sing along with a veena and get a lot of musical action going.

Anyway, the balsam seedings with music came up like payday in the Army. Whereas balsam seedings without msuic just lay around going nothing and hardly stretching themselves to put out a leaf.

☆ ☆ ☆

It is still too early to tell—have to wait until mint julep time in the spring—but I think the music will be good for these plants.

I am not playing them any jazz. No rock 'n' roll.

I am giving these plants some recordings of Lindbergh songs.

"Over the ocean he flew like a cloud,
"That sort of boy makes a mother feel proud."

There are a number of collectors of Lindbergh songs. When "Lucky Lindy" flew the Atlantic in "The Spirit of St. Louis," the song writers turned on all 88 keys. I don't know now many songs there were. But enough to collect.

☆ ☆ ☆

A collector of Lindbergh songs is "Red" Smith, the sports writer. And I recall a memorable evening—I think in Mexico City at Dario Borzani's Restaurante Rivoli—when he and his wife sang in harmony:

"Hello, mother, this is your boy.
"I'm calling from Paris to tell you with joy,
"That I flew for you and the red, white and blue,
"America did it again!"

☆ ☆ ☆

Songs like that should make a plant get up and work. Dig the goodies out of the window box soil and produce leaves and chlorophyll and good things that go into plants.

Such songs should make cows give milk and bees make honey.

They are stirring and tuneful and historic.

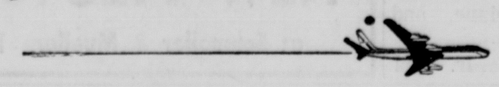

Nothing is too good for my window box. And we shall see if the plants are appreciative. Come julep time.

BLUE BIRDS WILLOW SCENE PALACE GEESE

EMPEROR'S PEACOCK

Exquisite Oriental Art Treasures
Now Yours as Full Color 13" by 36" Prints
Only $1 for One—Or All 4 for Only $3

Imagine hanging in your home these superb full-color reproductions of hand painted Oriental "Beautiful Birds" wall panels. These masterpieces have been faithfully reproduced from paintings created by an Oriental artist who has captured the true feel and glorious colors of ancient hand-brocaded Chinese art treasures.

We have shown one of the 4 panels larger than the others (they are all the same size) to indicate the remarkably beautiful and delicate brush work which went into them. Their true color and craftsmanship can only be suggested in the small size shown here.

Offer Will Not Be Repeated

We urge you to order your panels now while the offer lasts. They may soon be true collectors' items. Each panel is on heavy vellum finish paper with a lovely border — can be "hung" without framing if you wish. You will be delighted with the grace and beauty these art treasures will add to your home. This offer will not be repeated in the Journal and Star. This is your only chance to order. Be sure to fill in and mail the coupon now.

POSTCARD by Stan Lapsley

In the windy city of Chicago, an enterprising radio station put two cows in a department store window.

The cows had earphones.

In one cow's ears, they piped soothing Muzak.

The other cow got an earful of rock 'n' roll.

Otherwise these cows got the same amount of hay.

☆ ☆ ☆

At the end of a week or so, they added up each cow's milk production. It proved beyond doubt that cows subjected to rock 'n' roll are rocking and rolling too much to give much milk.

The cow on Muzak delivered like the morning mail.

But the cow on rock 'n' roll was all churned up.

I don't suppose this is of much value to anybody—except cows. But it shows the power of music.

☆ ☆ ☆

Well, this only gets around to the fact that we have planted the window box.

A sprig of ivy here. A few dwarf chrysanthemums. Some herbs—mint and basil and so on.

I keep a tape recorder in the room. And once in awhile I give these plants a blast of music. Music has great effect on plants. This was proved in experiments in India where a university professor got a veena player to play music to balsam seedings.

A veena is something like a guitar, I think.

You can wrap a lot of single-string hot licks out of a guitar. And I imagine you can sing along with a veena and get a lot of musical action going.

Anyway, the balsam seedings with music came up like payday in the Army. Whereas balsam seedings without msuic just lay around going nothing and hardly stretching themselves to put out a leaf.

☆ ☆ ☆

It is still too early to tell—have to wait until mint julep time in the spring—but I think the music will be good for these plants.

I am not playing them any jazz. No rock 'n' roll.

I am giving these plants some recordings of Lindbergh songs.

"Over the ocean he flew like a cloud,
"That sort of boy makes a mother feel proud."

There are a number of collectors of Lindbergh songs. When "Lucky Lindy" flew the Atlantic in "The Spirit of St. Louis," the song writers turned on all 88 keys. I don't know now many songs there were. But enough to collect.

☆ ☆ ☆

A collector of Lindbergh songs is "Red" Smith, the sports writer. And I recall a memorable evening—I think in Mexico City at Dario Borzani's Restaurante Rivoli—when he and his wife sang in harmony:

"Hello, mother, this is your boy.
"I'm calling from Paris to tell you with joy,
"That I flew for you and the red, white and blue,
"America did it again!"

☆ ☆ ☆

Songs like that should make a plant get up and work. Dig the goodies out of the window box soil and produce leaves and chlorophyll and good things that go into plants.

Such songs should make cows give milk and bees make honey.

They are stirring and tuneful and historic.

Nothing is too good for my window box. And we shall see if the plants are appreciative. Come julep time.

Exquisite Oriental Art Treasures
Now Yours as Full Color 13" by 36" Prints
Only $1 for One—Or All 4 for Only $3

Imagine hanging in your home these superb full-color reproductions of hand painted Oriental "Beautiful Birds" wall panels. These masterpieces have been faithfully reproduced from paintings created by an Oriental artist who has captured the true feel and glorious colors of ancient hand-brocaded Chinese art treasures.

We have shown one of the 4 panels larger than the others (they are all the same size) to indicate the remarkably beautiful and delicate brush work which went into them. Their true color and craftsmanship can only be suggested in the small size shown here.

Offer Will Not Be Repeated

We urge you to order your panels now while the offer lasts. They may soon be true collectors' items. Each panel is on heavy vellum finish paper with a lovely border — can be "hung" without framing if you wish. You will be delighted with the grace and beauty these art treasures will add to your home. This offer will not be repeated in the Journal and Star. This is your only chance to order. Be sure to fill in and mail the coupon now.

Betrothal Revealed

Of interest to both Lincoln and campus circles is the announcement being made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Earle Vincent Johnson of Washington, D.C., formerly of Lincoln, of the betrothal of their daughter, Nancy Lee, to Lt. Frederich Donald Naegele, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederich Harold Naegele of Indianpolis, Ind., and Venice, Fla.

Plans are being made for a February wedding.

A former student at the University of Nebraska, Miss Johnson is a member of Alpha Phi. Her fiance attended the University of Illinois and is a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternitp.

There's Never A Dull Day In Suburbia

COTNER TERRACE

We've been thinking of more inventions which could add a bit to what already is gracious living in Suburbia. How would Cotner Terrace residents like a calendar that had only weekends, or at least skipped Mondays?

Then there is the idea of installing a magic atomizer over front doors, so when the breadwinner comes home in a bad mood, he would be sprayed with a favorite aroma, leaving him in a pleasant frame of mind throughout dinner.

We thought, too, of a candy extract that could be added to spinach, corn, peas, and other vegetables which would trick the children into eating them minus the usual grumbles.

But probably the very best invention would be one which slowed time down so everyone could enjoy all of the guests, trips, neighborhood activities, and the like without worrying about what hour of the day it was, what day it was, or even what month it was. That, truly, would be a welcome addition to Suburban living.

Fortunately, these fanciful inventions could not affect the weekend schedule of Mr. and Mrs. James Carroll and their children, Susan and Jayne, who were the Sunday guests of Mrs. Carroll's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Chastain of Hastings, and their family, David, Diane, and Tommy.

Also in Hastings for the day were Mrs. Carroll's brothers-in-law and sisters, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Reichenbach and sons, Danny and Chucky of McCook, and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Schaafs of Lincoln.

It was a busy weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hoyt and their daughter, Sharon, who entertained relatives and friends at Sunday dinner. Mrs. Hoyt's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Slife of Lake Jackson, Tex., were in Lincoln on their way to Staplehurst.

Also on the guest list were Mrs. Hoyt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Slife of Staplehurst, who will be host and hostess this week to the Texas visitors; Mrs. Hoyt's uncle, Homer Slife of Utica; her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Hoyt, and John Copeland of Bassett.

Spending most of the weekend in Fullerton were Mr. and Mrs. William Rollf. They were guests at the home of Mrs. Rollf's mother, Mrs. Claudia Irwin.

Mrs. Peter Badje of Columbus, who is Mrs. Rollf's cousin, also was a weekend guest of Mrs. Irwin.

There is more Homecoming news, but this time it concerns Homecoming at Iowa State University. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bills spent last weekend in Ames, Iowa, as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Conklin, both alumni of Iowa State.

Mr. and Mrs. Bills attended most of the Homecoming activities during their visit including the game and dance.

Saturday-to-Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Hubbard were their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hersh and children, Lorrie, Diane, and Danny, of Omaha.

Next weekend, Mr. and Mrs. Hubbard will be traveling to Beatrice for a visit with Mr. Hubbard's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John Traubel.

Future plans for Mr. and Mrs. Temple Merchant include a visit from their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Jones of Newton, Iowa, and their children, Debby, Stephen, Betsy, and Patty, who will be in Lincoln Nov. 16.

PERSHING HEIGHTS

Twenty-five years of marriage was celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. Harris Stolley last weekend. Saturday night they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Pietsch, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Alles, and Mr. and Mrs. Jake Hamsa at a party held at the Legion Club.

An open house was held Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. Stolley, who received congratulations from many friends and relatives.

NORTHEAST HEIGHTS

Meeting for their monthly bridge game tonight at the home of Mrs. Ted Marshall will be Mrs. Ray Anderson, Mrs. Harold Staberg, Mrs. W. S. Staberg, Mrs. Dave Schuman, Mrs. Ed Pavelka, Mrs. Howard Luedtke, and Mrs. Dick Beachell.

A recent visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jones was William Lionberger, formerly of Lincoln, who now lives with his family in Los Angeles, Calif. Mr. Lionberger, who was the house guest of his paernts, Mr. and Mrs. Lionberger, while in Lincoln, recently completed helicopter training at Ft. Hood, Tex.
the California National

Currently associated with Guard, he spent several days in Lincoln with his parents en route home to Los Angeles.

Autumn Bride-Elect

This morning Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Peterson of Martell announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Beverly Jean, to Larry D. TeSelle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vester TeSelle of Milford.

The wedding is planned for Friday, Nov. 29.

Mr. TeSelle is a former student at the University of Nebraska.

TALK

It's a bit early to take up the matter of another hectic football weekend. But we do want to tell you about one of the dancing club parties. The members of the Mad Hatters Club will dine and dance on Saturday evening at Hotel Hotel Lincoln. The dinner will be served in the Victorian Room, with dancing later in the Emerald room.

In charge of the party details is a committee composed of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Paugh, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wallick and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Perry.

Dinner dance guest couples will include Mr. and Mrs. Dick Englehardt, Mr. and Mrs. Florian Hrdlicka, Mr. and Mrs. Frank James, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Virus, and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Wessel.

* * *

Nursery news this morning involves petite Miss Laurie Margaret Ziegenbein, who arrived at Lincoln General Hospital on Tuesday, Nov. 5.

The baby is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ziegenbein of Andover, Mass., and her mother is the former Barbara Beechner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Beechner of Lincoln.

Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Ziegenbein of Norfolk are the paternal grandparents.

Why Grow Old?

Facial Expression

Josephine Lowman

Today I am thinking, not of being right, but of being happy, of being well, of staying young.

No one can go about with the chip on the shoulder and be any of the three. It is so easy to form mental and emotional habits which are harmful. It's easy to fall into ruts of this sort, to become bitter or critical, to feel imposed upon or persecuted, to adopt a gloomy outlook without realizing it or to hold a grudge.

Perhaps your life is hard. It will help if you bring as much optimism to it as possible. Maybe someone has imposed on you or let you down badly. Take your measure of this person and act accordingly in the future but don't become bitter about it.

Do you realize that our emotions affect not only our health and glands, but the way we look, even the actual contour of our face?

One of today's most famous portrait artists told me not long ago that the mouth is the "give-away" as to what kind of a person a woman is. He was not speaking of young women, although he might be able to guess their temperament and character to a certain extent in this way.

Bitterness and meanness draw the corners of the mouth and facial contour down. Depression and unhappiness cause the whole of us to sag, including our face. There is real magic in the effect happiness, excitement, joy, eagerness and love have on the face. The eyes sparkle and the whole face seems to lift out of its slump. It actually feels that way.

Our habits of thought and or are as important, if not more so, as our habitual posture and our habits of diet and exercise.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Individual Happiness" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet number 65 to Josephine Lowman in care of the Lincoln Star, Lincoln, Neb.

Sorority Honors New Members

New members of Epsilon Sigma Alpha business women's sorority were the guests of honor on Tuesday evening when the Lincoln chapters of the organization entertained at an installation reception at the Union Loan and Savings Bldg.

Greeting the guests was Miss Delma Lefler, president of the sorority's city council, and in charge of arrangements for the reception, which included a program by ballet students, were Mrs. Ed Wagner, chairman, Mrs. Keith Thompson and Miss Virginia Cook.

Miss Mearldine Roker and Mrs. LeRoy Rasmussen presided at the ceremony during which jeweled pins were presented to Mrs. Richard Barksdale, Mrs. Sondra Koetter and Miss Pat McCormick. Also honored were new pledges, Miss Phyllis Sahs and Miss Sonja Nelson, and sorority transfer, Mrs. William J. Rewerts, formerly of Hastings.

PTA Council

The November program of the Lincoln Council of Parents and Teachers will feature a talk by Dr. Chester Gausman, director of vocational and adult education in the Lincoln Public Schools.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 ♥	1 ♠	1 NT	Pass
4 ♥	Pass	Pass	4 ♠
Pass	Pass	Dble.

Opening lead — five of hearts.

The bidding by the opponents frequently provides the declarer with a blueprint of their hands. The picture may not be entirely clear, but the declarer will often obtain all the information he needs to guide him to the best method of play.

For example, take this hand where South is in four spades doubled and West leads a heart. East takes the queen and continues with a heart which South ruffs.

Declarer sees that he must lose two club tricks, come what may, so his only chance of making the contract is to avoid a trump loser.

Ordinarily, with this spade combination, declarer would lead a low spade to the king and another one back, planning to finesse the jack and hoping that East originally had either the Q-x-x or the Q-x—in which case he would lose no spade tricks.

But declarer does not have to be a mindreader to realize that the normal way of playing the spades is bound to fail in this hand. He should certainly assume that West has the queen of spades, since West overcalled the spade bid with one notrump.

Declarer has no way of knowing whether West's spade holding is Q-x-x-x, but he should proceed on the assumption that West has one of these holdings.

Accordingly, at trick three, he cashes the ace of spades. When both opponents follow suit, he continues with the jack, planning to finesse if West follows low.

This play settles the issue, regardless of whether West covers with the queen or not. In either case, South makes the contract, since he avoids a trump loser.

Note that South's method of play, unusual though it is, cannot cost him a trick, and, at the same time, it gives him a chance to gain one. If he finds West with the Q-10-x or Q-10-x-x, the jack play does no harm, but if he is lucky enough to find West with the Q-x-x, he picks up the entire suit without loss.

Prenuptial Courtesies

The incentive for a series of bridal showers recently is the approaching marriage of Miss Carolyn Ann Leavitt to Henry Billings McEwen, which will be an event of Nov. 16.

In prenuptial courtesy to Miss Leavitt, Mrs. Edward Schwartzkopf entertained at a dessert-supper and shower at her home. The guest list included neighbors and former neighbors of the honoree.

The bride-to-be also was honored recently at a tea and miscellaneous shower for which Mrs. Joel Sidell was hostess to former Southeast High School classmates of Miss Leavitt.

Planning an early December wedding is Miss Reda Marie Catherell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester W. Catherell, who will become the bride of Ray D. Andrews of Greenwood on Saturday, Dec. 7.

The service will be solemnized at 7:30 o'clock in the evening at the United Lutheran Church.

Thursday evening, the bride-elect was the guest of honor at a party held at the home of Miss Kay Stuertz.

The guests, former classmates of the honoree, presented a miscellaneous shower to Miss Catherell, and assisting Miss Stuertz as hostesses were Miss Joan Dormer, Miss Sherry Kingery, Miss Susan Neal and Miss Gwen Drake.

Dear Abby

Why Not Make Speech To Your Husband

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband works the second shift, which means he leaves home at 2:30 in the afternoon and comes home after midnight. By the time he wakes up in the morning the children have gone to school. He doesn't even know he has a family. I have all the decisions to make and all the discipline problems. I am fed up with the full responsibility. Don't tell me he is earning a living for "his family." He has plenty of seniority where he works and could get on the first shift by asking for it. What do you think I should do?

FED UP TO HERE

DEAR FED UP: I think you should tell your husband what you have told me. Unless you have already told him so many times he thinks you're kidding.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: Just read "ALL MAN'S" letter. He said, "Women drivers, bah!"

I am a woman driver who has been driving since the age of 16. I am now over 60 and have yet to be involved in any kind of accident, stopped for speeding, or given a ticket for overparking or wrong parking. Show me a man with the same record!

I find that most men are "weaver boys." They weave in and out of traffic to get ahead, and when you reach the next stop light, they are sitting there — waiting.

ALL WOMAN

DEAR ABBY: I have a relative (through marriage) who is far from poor. In fact she is a lot better of financially than I am. But this woman gives used things for gifts. And she doesn't even bother to have them gift-wrapped. She just puts them in a paper sack. Last week she gave me such a "birthday gift." I gave it to a needy person. She could have bought me three new powder puffs for 25 cents and I'd have appreciated it more. What is wrong with people like that?

HURT

DEAR HURT: It's hard to say. If she's off her rocker, you shouldn't be critical. But if she's simply ignorant, continue to accept the gifts without comment and pass them along where they will bring some joy.

CONFIDENTIAL TO M. W.: A man should never be ashamed to admit that he has been in the wrong. It is another way of saying that he is wiser today than he was yesterday.

Pentagon Shifts Defense Forces

Washington (AP)—The Pentagon streamlined control of its brush fire emergency forces Tuesday by assigning to the Army-Air Force Strike Command all defense responsibility for the Middle East, Southern Asia and much of Africa.

The main effect will be to strip from the Navy an important command jurisdiction it has long held in that vast area. However, the Navy will retain its command of U.S defenses in the Mediterranean, where the powerful 6th Fleet is kept on patrol.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, in announcing the shift with President Kennedy's approval, defined the purpose in these words:

"The change in command arrangements consolidates under a single commander responsibilities formerly fragmented among several commanders."

Some Jobs

Gen. Paul D. Adams, Strike Command chief, will take over some jobs now performed by Army headquarters here, Continental Army Command Headquarters at Ft. Monroe, Va., and in Paris and London.

His area of command was defined as "the Middle East, Southern Asia, including India and Pakistan, and Africa south of the Sahara." Under Adams will be military assistance advisory groups and training missions in these areas which total about 1,000 men.

The Strike Command, which operates from MacDill Air Force Base in Florida, was created by McNamara two years ago. Its mission is planning and organizing forces and military doctrine for dealing with emergencies around the world. The command recently handled the airlift of a full armored division from Texas to Germany in around 63 hours.

No Area

The command previously has had no area responsibility. It has been chiefly an Army-Air Force operation with eight Army divisions, some 50 tactical air squadrons and various other units of both services on call when needed —a force of about 200,000 fighting men.

For the first time, a Navy fleet element will be brought under control of the Strike Command. A Defense Department spokesman told newsmen this fleet will consist of a small naval task force which shows the U.S. flag in the Red Sea.

Normally, this Red Sea force includes from two to four destroyers, a seaplane tender and a C54 propeller-driven transport airplane. But other fleet units could be assigned quickly to the force if needed.

Staff Of 400

Adams's staff now totals about 400 Army and Air Force officers and men along with four Navy officers and one Marine officer. To take care of the new responsibilities, the Pentagon said, the staff will be built up.

The additions will include people drawn from Army headquarters here, from Ft. Monroe, from headquarters of the U.S. European command in Paris and headquarters of the U.S. naval forces, "Eastern Atlantic and Mediterranean, London.

A staff under Adm. C. D. Griffin, commander in chief of U.S. naval forces in Europe, has dealt with Middle East problems. Adm. Harold Page, commander in chief Atlantic, has included among his duties responsibility for Africa south of the Sahara.

BUS CRASH FATAL TO 8

Truckee, Calif. (AP)—Eight men died Tuesday in the crash of a Sacramento to Reno gambling excursion bus on rain-slick U.S. 40. Thirty-one others, including the driver of the special Greyhound bus, were injured.

The California Highway Patrol said the bus, trying to pass another vehicle on the eastbound lane of U.S. 40, caught its tires on the freeway divider. The bus went out of control, overturned and rolled over at least three times.

Passengers were strewn about the mountain highway in a driving rain. The only witnesses apparently were a motorist, riding with a single passenger.

Five persons were killed outright. They were identified by the Nevada County coroner's office as Roy Ryler Smith, Gus Tascatos, John Nick Bark and Edward Morgan, all elderly men from Sacramento, and Terris George Hegardt, 51, of Ontario, Calif.

Sidney Wade, 45, of Sacramento, died in a nearby hospital three hours after the crash.

Walter Kessler, 74, of Sacramento, succumbed at a Reno hospital, and Frank McGrath, 74, of Sacramento, died in the Truckee hospital.

The more seriously injured were taken to Washoe Medical Center in Reno. By nightfall 11 persons were being treated there.

The other 22 remained in Tahoe Forest Hospital at Truckee, a mountain town hospital that has 21 beds and already had 12 patients.

John Gastanik Jr., 38, of Sacramento, the bus driver, refused to comment on the mishap. He suffered head injuries.

New Fire Tower Bids To Be Taken On November 27

New construction bids on the Fire Department's new training tower north of Sherman Field will be received Nov. 27.

City Purchasing Agent Wayne Harvey said Tuesday that plans and specifications for the structure were revised after previous bids were rejected as exceeding the estimate.

The City Council has appropriated $65,000 for the project, including engineering and related items.

Harvey said the tower construction has been revised to cement block from previous plans for reinforced concrete.

Passengers were strewn about the mountain highway in a driving rain. The only witnesses apparently were a motorist, riding with a single passenger.

Five persons were killed outright. They were identified by the Nevada County coroner's office as Roy Ryler Smith, Gus Tascatos, John Nick Bark and Edward Morgan, all elderly men from Sacramento, and Terris George Hegardt, 51, of Ontario, Calif.

Sidney Wade, 45, of Sacramento, died in a nearby hospital three hours after the crash.

Walter Kessler, 74, of Sacramento, succumbed at a Reno hospital, and Frank McGrath, 74, of Sacramento, died in the Truckee hospital.

The more seriously injured were taken to Washoe Medical Center in Reno. By nightfall 11 persons were being treated there.

The other 22 remained in Tahoe Forest Hospital at Truckee, a mountain to hospital that has 21 beds already had 12 patients.

John Gastanik Jr., 38, of S ramento, the bus driver, fused to comment on the n hap. He suffered head inj ies.

Woman Given 1-Year Term In Car Death

Mrs. Nadine L. Hardesty, charged with motor vehicle homicide in connection with the June 8 death of Rolland R. Stewart, was sentenced to one year in the Women's Reformatory at York Tuesday by Lancaster District Judge Herbert Ronin.

Mrs. Hardesty, 27, of 2709 F, had pleaded nolo contendere and was found guilty Oct. 15.

Mr. Stewart died of injuries resulting from an accident at 27th and Theresa when the motorcycle he was riding collided with the car driven by Mrs. Hardesty.

Two Nebraskans Reach St. Louis On Canoe Trip

Two adventurous Nebraska youths passed the half-way mark of their Missouri River canoe trip from Nebraska City to Mississippi when they reached St. Louis, Mo

Ray VandeKrol, 19, of Lincoln, and Ronnie Panko, 19, of Pawnee City, are determined to push on toward their goal despite such obstacles as high winds, rain and Ray's bout with blood poisoning after he stepped on a nail at Glasgow, Mo.

The youths have been supplementing their diet with fish, geese, ducks and squirrels they caught along the way.

New Fire Tower Bids To Be Taken On November 27

New construction bids on the Fire Department's new training tower north of Sherman Field will be received Nov. 27.

City Purchasing Agent Wayne Harvey said Tuesday that plans and specifications for the structure were revised after previous bids were rejected as exceeding the estimate.

The City Council has appropriated $65,000 for the project, including engineering and related items.

Harvey said the tower construction has been revised to cement block from previous plans for reinforced concrete.

For some things...there are no substitutes

To end up with a bottle of an unknown brand when it's 7 Crown you set out to buy, is to forego the taste that has brought more pleasure to more people than any other whiskey in America. That's a fact it's good to remember next time you're in your favorite liquor store.

Is America selling out ?

America WILL...if it doesn't develop enough future leaders now. They are needed to hold our position in science, in business and jobs, in living standards.

Where do we get leaders? Higher education trains most of them. But colleges are facing higher costs. Many need classrooms, laboratories and competent teachers.

To hold our lead we must back our colleges. Either we help them meet costs or we ... sell out.

HELP THE COLLEGE OF YOUR CHOICE NOW!

To find out how the college crisis affects you, write to HIGHER EDUCATION, Box 36, Times Square Station, New York 36.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you. One letter simply stands for another in this example. A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you. Liston, Clay Sign Contract For Heavyweight Title Bout

Predict Record Gate

. . . IN FEBRUARY

Denver (AP) — Sonny Liston, the solemn champion, and Cassius Clay, the gabby challenger, scribbled their names Tuesday on a contract for a multi-million dollar heavyweight title fight in mid-February, probably in Los Angeles.

Former heavyweight champion Joe Louis put in a bid at the contract signing from Los Angeles interests, guaranteeing $1 million for the fight.

Jack Nilon, Liston's advisor, said that was the biggest firm offer that has been received to stage the fight. Nilon said other cities that have submitted bids are Minneapolis, Chicago, Miami and Las Vegas.

Louis said he was putting in the proposal for United World Enterprises, Inc. Also present was George Parnassis of the Olympic Boxing club of Los Angeles.

The contract signing had its theatrical moments as Clay tried to hog the scene with noisy spoutings from his phonograph recording and other quotations from his nightclub repertoire.

Liston, sitting calmly and at times looking puzzled at the noisy challenger, summed up his feelings with the declaration: "I hope you look the same when I get done with you."

Officials for Intercontinental Promotions, Inc. — Liston's group—said they expected the bout to gross between $6 million and $8 million, a record for any bout.

Liston's fight last year in Chicago in which he took the crown from Floyd Patterson grossed about $5.5 million, Ben Bentley, publicity director for Intercontinental, said.

Clay will get 22.5 per cent of the gross, compared with the 12.5 per cent Liston got in his first fight with Patterson. Liston, an officer in Intercontinental, will get 40 per cent.

Comic overtones laced the contract signing at a downtown hotel. Clay monopolized the early minutes by demanding a seat away from Liston.

A huge sign was unwrapped showing an enlarged photograph of Liston. It cautioned Clay to take care of himself now that he's signed a contract.

Clay responded by swinging his right hand against Liston's photograph.

"Watch out you don't hurt your hand," Liston smiled.

Clay repeated his prediction that he would knock out Liston in the eighth round, but the champion did not forecast when he expected the bout to end.

Bentley said his prediction of $6 million to $8 million for the fight was conservative. He said he expected the live gate to return $500,000 to $1 million, closed circuit television $5-6 million, motion pictures $150,000-$250,000 and radio $200,000. He added that there would be unlimited revenue from television tapes flown to Europe for showing within 24 hours after the fight.

. . . ALSO 6TH IN SCORING NATIONALLY

New York (AP) — Utah State continues to lead in total offense and Nebraska in rushing offense among the nation's major college football teams.

However, statistics released Tuesday by the NCAA Service Bureau, point up the difference in attacking styles between Texas, the nation's top-ranked team and Baylor. The teams meet in Austin, Tex., Saturday.

Baylor leads in passing offense with 109 completions in 197 attempts for a .553 average. The Bears' passes have covered the most yards, 1,410, and their 197 passes is more than any other team except Tulsa, which has tossed 207.

Texas, on the other hand, has managed to get off 421 rushing plays, more than any other major outfit. The Longhorns are sixth in rushing offense.

Utah State's total offense average is 396.1 on 2773 yards gained in seven games. Wichita is next with 394.8 followed by Nebraska at 380.4.

Nebraska boosted its lead in rushing offense against Missouri last week while Oklahoma moved up from fourth to replace Army as the runner-up. The Cornhuskers have gained an average of 289.0 yards and the Sooners 277.5.

Utah State also is the pacesetter in scoring with 251 points in seven games for an average of 35.9 points per game. Then come Princeton with 32.0, Navy 30.4, Texas 29.3, Wichita 28.7 and Nebraska 26.9.

Jayhawks Present Versatile Offense

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Kansas will present the most versatile offense of any team Nebraska has faced thus far, Husker coach Bob Devaney said Tuesday.

"While Missouri banks on defense, this team presents a versatile offense with Gale Sayers, Steve Renko, Armand Baughman and Ken Coleman," the Husker coach noted.

With this group of backs, the Huskers must be prepared for a varied attack. Sayers is the No. 1 outside threat while fullbacks Coleman and Baughman can blast up the middle and Renko presents a double problem with his running and passing.

"Renko on the option presents a similar problem to Missouri's Gary Lane on the rollout," Devaney said. "Renko is more powerful, but probably isn't as fast as Lane."

The Huskers, who were hampered in preparations for Missouri last week by injuries, again face an injury problem in getting ready for the Jayhawk encounter Saturday.

Quarterback Dennis Claridge remained in the NU Student Health Center Tuesday night, still suffering from a badly swollen leg that could keep him on the sidelines against Kansas.

"We are waiting on Claridge and hope he can play, but we are preparing to go with Fred Duda at quarterback," the Husker coach said.

Several other Huskers, including left halfbacks Willie Ross and Maynard Smidt, defensive safety Dick Callahan and right halfback Ted Vactor, have been slowed in practice sessions this week by charley horses.

"With backs like these not being able to go full speed, it hurts your practices because it throws the timing off," Devaney observed.

Kansas Game Sold Out

The Nebraska-Kansas football game officially was listed as "sold out" by Cornhusker ticket manager Jim Pittenger Tuesday.

Pittenger said that Nebraska was sold out of general admission bleacher seats. All Memorial Stadium seats have been sold out for some time.

A limited number of knothole tickets will be available at game time, as previously announced, Pittenger noted.

The Husker-Jayhawk clash will draw a capacity crowd of 38,000, the NU ticket boss said.

OSU Trip Planned

The Nebraska Alumni Association is sponsoring a chartered plane to Oklahoma State for the Husker game there Nov. 16.

The plane will leave Lincoln at 9 a.m. Saturday morning, arriving in Stillwater, Okla., at 11:40 a.m. The party will return to Lincoln after the game. Deadline for making reservations is next Monday at the NU Alumni Office in the Nebraska Union.

Stanky Rejects Chance To Manage Baltimore

New York (AP)—Lee MacPhail, president of the Baltimore Orioles, acknowledged Tuesday he had approached Eddie Stanky to manage the club, but found the former St. Louis Cardinal manager-infielder unreceptive.

"I met with Stanky this morning," said MacPhail, "and he told me he had decided, after careful consideration, to remain in the St. Louis organization.

"I respect his decision but I feel I did not get his final answer," MacPhail told The Associated Press by telephone from Clearwater, Fla., where he is observing Oriole farmhands in the Florida Winter League.

"I feel Stanky left the door open—even if only a little."

MacPhail emphasized, however, that he had not officially offered the managing job to Stanky nor to anybody else.

The Orioles have been without a manager since Billy Hitchcock was dismissed at the end of this past season and kicked upstairs to an executive post.

Stanky, who managed the Cards from 1952 until the middle of 1955, currently is their director of player personnel. Contacted in St. Petersburg, Fla., where he is in charge of the club's rookie team in the Instructional League, Stanky said he had turned down what he called a "very attractive offer" to manage the Orioles.

"It wasn't an easy decision to make," said Stanky. "Lee MacPhail was very kind and considerate. I respect his ability as a baseball man and I know I'd like working for him. I like the Baltimore club, too. I analyzed and studied it for 10 days and I'm convinced there's a lot of talent there. It's a good organization. But I'm working for some wonderful people, too.

Stanky

"I'd like to say this. I've had four offers to manage since I've been with the Cards and this is the one I gave the most consideration."

Stanky did not close the managerial door forever.

"I don't believe there is one man who has been a major league manager who can honestly say 'I'll never manage again,'" he said.

Loop Title At Stake For NWU

Nebraska Wesleyan University's Plainsmen will be trying to equal a 16-year-old record when the Hastings College Broncos invade O. N. Magee stadium Friday night.

It's been 16 years since the Plainsmen have won seven games in a season. The last time was 1947 when Coach George "Bus" Knight's team compiled a 7-1-1 record.

Friday night's contest will also decide the Great Plains College Association championship. Both NWU and Hastings have 2-0 records in the four-team association, with victories over Colorado College and Doane.

The Plainsmen this year have a 6-2 mark including victories over Midland, Wayne, Graceland and Dana. Losses were inflicted by Northwest Missouri and nationally-ranked Northern, S.D.

Ironically, it was Hastings which handed the only loss of the year to the 1947 team in the final game of the season. Hastings took that game, 7-0.

NWU's Coach Ray Westover was a member of that 1947 Plainsmen squad. Westover's Plainsmen haven't fared well against Hastings in the past three seasons.

The Broncos won in 1960 by a 20-6 score; walloped the Plainsmen 38-6 in 1961 and squeaked out a 13-7 win last year.

The last time the Plainsmen beat Hastings was 1952. The series record, dating back to 1908, has NWU winning 20, Hastings 21 with seven ties.

Game time for the season's final contest for both teams is 7:30 p.m.

PHILLIES SEND DOWN TORRE, SEVEN OTHERS

Philadelphia (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies sold eight players Tuesday, including Frank Torre, a National League veteran, to their Little Rock team in the International League.

The eight included Bob Oldis, second-string catcher, who was with the Phillies throughout the 1963 season. Oldis was with the 1960 world champion Pittsburgh Pirates.

At the same time, the club announced the purchase of pitcher Gary Kroll, a 22-year-old right-hander, from Little Rock.

Torre, a part-time first baseman this past season, hit .250 in 97 games.

Not All Action

A study conducted at Kansas State reveals that you have plenty of time for ice box raids while watching Saturday afternoon football games in your home. Or if you are one of the millions of fans who flock to the stadiums each week, you won't miss much by going out for a hot dog.

The study was conducted by Jack Backer, a member of the K-State journalism staff, who used the Oklahoma-Kansas State contest as his test game. Backer found that although a football game is scheduled for 60 minutes of playing time, the actual time amounted to only 14:22.5.

Of this time, Oklahoma used 9:21.5 while Kansas State had the football in play 5:01. The rest of the time, therefore, was taken up in unpiling, getting back into the huddle, calling the play in the huddle, approaching the line of scrimmage and calling the play at the time, Backer noted. Actual playing time is from the time the ball is snapped until the official signals the end of the play.

Cards Impressed, Scribe Not

Apparently former Nebraska gridder Pat Fischer, who is now in his third year with the St. Louis Cardinals of the NFL, is more highly regarded by the Cards than by a columnist in Lawrence, Kan.

What a scribe in Lawrence, Kan., knows about National Football League play, we cannot answer. But for all Nebraska fans, here is Bill Mayer's description of Fischer:

"Can't help wondering if defensive cornerback Pat Fischer of the St. Louis Cardinals is the most overrated player in the National Football League. About the only thing the ex-Nebraskan consistently seems good at is having temper outbursts that produce costly 15-yard penalties.

"The Temperamental Fischer caused squad trouble with harangues as a Nebraska player and it seems, via television, that he goes out of his way as a pro to create turmoil, generally by overdoing the rough stuff or hurling verbage at some opponent. Most of the foes are wise, however. They pay little heed and let him hang himself. They simply go about the job of exploiting him.

"The word around the NFL is to 'go for Fischer.' If you don't wear him down physically, it may not be long before he loses his temper and you get 15 cheap yards. Announcers affectionately refer to him as 'The Toy Bulldog' and that's precious. But it's hard to see how the Card secondary defense can be really solid with short-fused Fischer playing a corner."

Mayer's blast at Fischer was written after the Cards game with Green Bay. We wonder if he still feels the same way after hearing how the Cards feel about Fischer when they presented the same ball to him a week later after St. Louis defeated Washington.

Devaney Lost Backfield

Bob Harrington, a United Air Lines account executive who travels on charter flights with football teams, has told Denver Post sports editor Chuck Garrity of an incident where Nebraska coach Bob Devaney once lost a backfield on a charter flight while Devaney was at Wyoming.

"It was the Wyoming team that had Jim Walden at quarterback," Harrington recalled. "We had a short layover in Chicago and Devaney told everyone to be back at the airport at 2 o'clock. Came 2 o'clock and everyone was there — except the four backs.

"They had forgotten to get their watches off mountain time. Actually, they were just a few minutes late — according to their watches.

"Devaney really chewed them out, though, and we never had any more problems like that."

'T' Formation At NU

Curley Byrd, who made the steps from football coach to English teacher to athletic director to assistant president and finally president, recalls at the age of 74 many early points about college football.

While reminiscing the other day, Byrd claimed that the "T" formation was used first at the University of Nebraska in 1899.

However, the "T" formation didn't help the Nebraska team much that year as they finished with a 2-7-1 record. The two wins were over Lincoln High, 6-0, and Drake, 12-6. Losses came against Iowa State, Kansas City Medics, Missouri, Iowa, Kansas, South Dakota and Grinnell.

Liston, Clay Sign Contract For Heavyweight Title Bout

Predict Record Gate

. . . IN FEBRUARY

Denver (AP) — Sonny Liston, the solemn champion, and Cassius Clay, the gabby challenger, scribbled their names Tuesday on a contract for a multi-million dollar heavyweight title fight in mid-February, probably in Los Angeles.

Former heavyweight champion Joe Louis put in a bid at the contract signing from Los Angeles interests, guaranteeing $1 million for the fight.

Jack Nilon, Liston's advisor, said that was the biggest firm offer that has been received to stage the fight. Nilon said other cities that have submitted bids are Minneapolis, Chicago, Miami and Las Vegas.

Louis said he was putting in the proposal for United World Enterprises, Inc. Also present was George Parnassis of the Olympic Boxing club of Los Angeles.

The contract signing had its theatrical moments as Clay tried to hog the scene with noisy spoutings from his phonograph recording and other quotations from his nightclub repertoire.

Liston, sitting calmly and at times looking puzzled at the noisy challenger, summed up his feelings with the declaration: "I hope you look the same when I get done with you."

Officials for Intercontinental Promotions, Inc. — Liston's group—said they expected the bout to gross between $6 million and $8 million, a record for any bout.

Liston's fight last year in Chicago in which he took the crown from Floyd Patterson grossed about $5.5 million, Ben Bentley, publicity director for Intercontinental, said.

Clay will get 22.5 per cent of the gross, compared with the 12.5 per cent Liston got in his first fight with Patterson. Liston, an officer in Intercontinental, will get 40 per cent.

Comic overtones laced the contract signing at a downtown hotel. Clay monopolized the early minutes by demanding a seat away from Liston.

Clay responded by swinging his right hand against Liston's photograph.

"Watch out you don't hurt your hand," Liston smiled.

Clay repeated his prediction that he would knock out Liston in the eighth round, but the champion did not forecast when he expected the bout to end.

Bentley said his prediction of $6 million to $8 million for the fight was conservative. He said he expected the live gate to return $500,000 to $1 million, closed circuit television $5-6 million, motion pictures $150,000-$250,000 and radio $200,000. He added that there would be unlimited revenue from television tapes flown to Europe for showing within 24 hours after the fight.

Kansas will present the most versatile offense of any team Nebraska has faced thus far, Husker coach Bob Devaney said Tuesday.

"While Missouri banks on defense, this team presents a versatile offense with Gale Sayers, Steve Renko, Armand Baughman and Ken Coleman," the Husker coach noted.

With this group of backs, the Huskers must be prepared for a varied attack. Sayers is the No. 1 outside threat while fullbacks Coleman and Baughman can blast up the middle and Renko presents a double problem with his running and passing.

Loop Title At Stake For NWU

Nebraska Wesleyan University's Plainsmen will be trying to equal a 16-year-old record when the Hastings College Broncos invade O. N. Magee stadium Friday night.

It's been 16 years since the Plainsmen have won seven games in a season. The last time was 1947 when Coach George "Bus" Knight's team compiled a 7-1-1 record.

Friday night's contest will also decide the Great Plains College Association championship. Both NWU and Hastings have 2-0 records in the four-team association, with victories over Colorado College and Doane.

The Plainsmen this year have a 6-2 mark including victories over Midland, Wayne, Graceland and Dana. Losses were inflicted by Northwest Missouri and nationally-ranked Northern, S.D.

Ironically, it was Hastings which handed the only loss of the year to the 1947 team in the final game of the season. Hastings took that game, 7-0.

NWU's Coach Ray Westover was a member of that 1947 Plainsmen squad. Westover's Plainsmen haven't fared well against Hastings in the past three seasons.

The Broncos won in 1960 by a 20-6 score; walloped the Plainsmen 38-6 in 1961 and squeaked out a 13-7 win last year.

The last time the Plainsmen beat Hastings was 1952. The series record, dating back to 1908, has NWU winning 20, Hastings 21 with seven ties.

Game time for the season's final contest for both teams is 7:30 p.m.

PHILLIES SEND DOWN TORRE, SEVEN OTHERS

Philadelphia (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies sold eight players Tuesday, including Frank Torre, a National League veteran, to their Little Rock team in the International League.

The eight included Bob Oldis, second-string catcher, who was with the Phillies throughout the 1963 season. Oldis was with the 1960 world champion Pittsburgh Pirates.

At the same time, the club announced the purchase of pitcher Gary Kroll, a 22-year-old right-hander, from Little Rock.

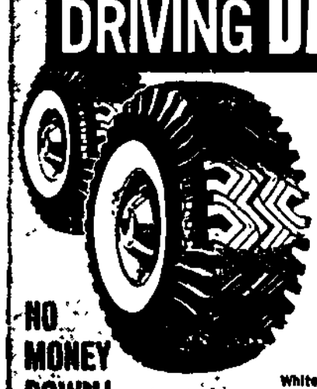

Torre, a part-time first baseman this past season, hit .250 in 97 games.

Not All Action

A study conducted at Kansas State reveals that you have plenty of time for ice box raids while watching Saturday afternoon football games in your home. Or if you are one of the millions of fans who flock to the stadiums each week, you won't miss much by going out for a hot dog.

The study was conducted by Jack Backer, a member of the K-State journalism staff, who used the Oklahoma-Kansas State contest as his test game. Backer found that although a football game is scheduled for 60 minutes of playing time, the actual time amounted to only 14:22.5.

Of this time, Oklahoma used 9:21.5 while Kansas State had the football in play 5:01. The rest of the time, therefore, was taken up in unpiling, getting back into the huddle, calling the play in the huddle, approaching the line of scrimmage and calling the play at the time, Backer noted. Actual playing time is from the time the ball is snapped until the official signals the end of the play.

Cards Impressed, Scribe Not

Apparently former Nebraska gridder Pat Fischer, who is now in his third year with the St. Louis Cardinals of the NFL, is more highly regarded by the Cards than by a columnist in Lawrence, Kan.

What a scribe in Lawrence, Kan., knows about National Football League play, we cannot answer. But for all Nebraska fans, here is Bill Mayer's description of Fischer:

"Can't help wondering if defensive cornerback Pat Fischer of the St. Louis Cardinals is the most overrated player in the National Football League. About the only thing the ex-Nebraskan consistently seems good at is having temper outbursts that produce costly 15-yard penalties.

"The Temperamental Fischer caused squad trouble with harangues as a Nebraska player and it seems, via television, that he goes out of his way as a pro to create turmoil, generally by overdoing the rough stuff or hurling verbage at some opponent. Most of the foes are wise, however. They pay little heed and let him hang himself. They simply go about the job of exploiting him.

"The word around the NFL is to 'go for Fischer.' If you don't wear him down physically, it may not be long before he loses his temper and you get 15 cheap yards. Announcers affectionately refer to him as 'The Toy Bulldog' and that's precious. But it's hard to see how the Card secondary defense can be really solid with short-fused Fischer playing a corner."

Mayer's blast at Fischer was written after the Cards game with Green Bay. We wonder if he still feels the same way after hearing how the Cards feel about Fischer when they presented the ame ball to him a week later after St. Louis defeated Washington.

Devaney Lost Backfield

Bob Harrington, a United Air Lines account executive who travels on charter flights with football teams, has told Denver Post sports editor Chuck Garrity of an incident where Nebraska coach Bob Devaney once lost a backfield on a charter flight while Devaney was at Wyoming.

"It was the Wyoming team that had Jim Walden at quarterback," Harrington recalled. "We had a short layover in Chicago and Devaney told everyone to be back at the airport at 2 o'clock. Came 2 o'clock and everyone was there — except the four backs.

"They had forgotten to get their watches off mountain time. Actually, they were just a few minutes late — according to their watches.

"Devaney really chewed them out, though, and we never had any more problems like that."

'T' Formation At NU

Curley Byrd, who made the steps from football coach to English teacher to athletic director to assistant president and finally president, recalls at the age of 74 many early points about college football.

While reminiscing the other day, Byrd claimed that the "T" formation was used first at the University of Nebraska in 1899.

However, the "T" formation didn't help the Nebraska team much that year as they finished with a 2-7-1 record. The two wins were over Lincoln High, 6-0, and Drake, 12-6. Losses came against Iowa State, Kansas City Medics, Missouri, Iowa, Kansas, South Dakota and Grinnell.

Huskers Rank High

NEBRASKA REJOINS UPI SELECT GROUP AT 10TH

New York (UPI)—Unbeaten, top-ranked Texas faces double trouble Saturday in quest of its first national football title.

The United Press International board of coaches rated Texas No. 1 Tuesday for the fourth consecutive week.

The Longhorns not only must cope with Baylor's Don Trull, the nation's leading passer, but they must regain their high-scoring offense which launched them into the No. 1 position.

Illinois, Mississippi and Navy cut deeply into the Texans' lead with one-sided, high-scoring victories last Saturday, the kind of triumphs which demand favor and the kind Texas has not had since its 28-7 pasting of Oklahoma a month ago.

Second-ranked Illinois picked up three first-place ballots from Texas, Mississippi No. 3, gained five and fourth-place Navy and Auburn, rated-fifth, one each, leaving the Longhorns with 25, or 10 less than their unanimous rating a week ago.

Oklahoma continued to climb, moving into sixth position, Alabama slipped three places to seventh after narrowly beating Mississippi State and Michigan State cracked the Top 10 barrier for the first time this season in eighth.

Pittsburgh rebounded into ninth spot and Nebraska returned to 10th-place after a four-week absence.

The 35-man coaches board ranks teams from first to 10th with points awarded on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis.

Alabama meets Georgia Tech in Birmingham and Kansas visits Nebraska in addition to the Baylor-Texas tussle on the card featuring games between the Top 20 teams.

The ratings:

	Points
1. Texas (25) (7-0)	333
2. Illinois (3) (5-0-1)	281
3. Mississippi (5) (5-0-1)	228
4. Navy (1) (6-1)	223
5. Auburn (1) (6-0)	189
6. Oklahoma (3-1)	140
7. Alabama (6-1)	116
8. Michigan State (4-1-1)	98
9. Pittsburgh (5-1)	94
10. Nebraska (6-1)	62

Second 10: 11, Baylor 45; 12, Ohio State 42; 13, Washington 16; 14, Army 13; 15, Missouri 10; 16, Wisconsin 7; 17 (tie), Georgia Tech and Memphis State 6; 19 (tie), Arkansas, North Carolina and Kansas 3.

Others receiving votes: North Carolina State, Arizona State, Utah State, Syracuse.

Torrid Pace Set At NWU By Slatinsky

Quarterback Mike Slatinsky is setting a torrid offensive pace for Nebraska Wesleyan University after eight games.

The St. Charles, Ill., junior has connected for 42-115 passes for 625 yards and 10 touchdowns and has rushed for 259 yards on 127 carries.

Slatinsky has accounted for 15 of the Plainsmen's 23 touchdowns this year. He has rushed for five six-pointers, picking up two of them in last week's game at Dana, for a season's total of 30 points.

Sophomore end Dwight Tietjen is still the leading scorer with 42 points on six touchdown pass plays and 56-yard punt return.

Dave Newlon, who operates from fullback or right halfback, is the leading rusher with 309 yards on 71 carries for 4.3 yards per carry.

Omaha Kegler Is All-Star Winner

Omaha — Omahan George Miller knocked down 4,807 pins to win the Nebraska All-Star Bowling Championship last weekend.

Another Omahan, John Sparano, was second with 4,723 and 1959 champion Bill Koehler of Lincoln fired a 4,716 total.

All three men will go to Dallas, Tex., in January for the Bowling Proprietors of America Assn. All-Star tournament.

Dunkel Has NU No. 11

By DICK DUNKEL

On the strength of its 37-3 walloping of Louisiana State last Saturday, Mississippi has nosed out Texas for the college football rating lead, according to the Dunkel Index.

The Rebels (5-0-1) this season hav played opposition indexed at 89.1 and have outscored it by 18.8 points per game for the best total of 107.9.

Texas (7-0) lost rating in its tight 17-12 win over SMU but held second place with 107.7.

Other current leaders, their records and Saturday scores:

Illinois (5-0-1), 41-21 over Purdue; Mich. State (4-1-1), 30-13 over Wisconsin; Washington (4-3), 22-7 over So. California; Arkansas (4-3), 21-7 over Texas A&M; Baylor (5-1), 32-13 over TCU; Oklahoma (5-1), 35-0 over Colorado; Auburn (6-0), 19-0 over Florida; Alabama (6-1), 20-19 over Miss. State.

The Dunkel system, a progressive index based upon scoring margin combined with opposition rating, now shows the following rankings of leaders:

Palmer To Miss Meet

Sidney, Australia (AP) — Arnold Palmer said Tuesday that previous commitments would prevent his playing in the Cajun Golf Classic at Lafayette, La., Nov. 21-24.

VAUGHN, SAYERS STILL CLOSE FOR RUSHING LEAD

Kansas City, Mo. — A new leader in total offense for the fourth time in the past five weeks, another shift in the see-saw race for Big Eight Conference and national rushing honors and the same old stand in passing.

That's the picture reflected by Big Eight Conference individual statistical rankings released Thursday by the Conference office.

Kansas State's Larry Corrigan is the new total offense leader with an eight-yard margin (710-702) over last week's pace-setter, Steve Renko of Kansas, and has built up a 100-yard margin in passing over Missouri's Gary Lane, his nearest competitor. Corrigan has 587 yards passing to Lane's 480 and has led the league in that department for the past three weeks.

In rushing, it's Iowa State's Tom Vaughn on top with the same scant eight-yard margin over Gale Sayers of Kansas—642 to 634. Last week, Sayers led the nation with 555 rushing yards and Vaughn was third nationally with 536. The Iowa State fullback pulled in front of Conference runners this week with 106 on 26 carries against Oklahoma State while Sayers notched 79 on 15 rushes against Kansas State. They've been the pace-setters here since the opening week of the season, trading that spot six of the seven weeks of play.

The week's top individual performances went to the quarterbacks with Lane leading the pack. The Tiger sophomore completed eight of 20 passes for 143 yards and added 32 more rushing for a 175-yard day against Nebraska.

Huskers Top Loop Statistics In Four Team Departments

Kansas City, Mo.—National team statistical rankings this past week counted three Big Eight Conference teams—Nebraska, Oklahoma, and Kansas—among the nation's top 10 teams in rushing offense.

Nebraska led the nation with a 287.3 rushing average, Oklahoma was fourth with 156.6, and Kansas ninth with 235.7.

So, what happens over weekend contests? All three better their marks and appear headed for a performance comparable to that posted by conference teams a year ago when they grabbed off four spots among the nation's top 10 rushing teams. Then, it was Oklahoma second, Kansas fourth, Missouri sixth, and Nebraska ninth.

Over the weekend, Nebraska ran for 299 yards against Missouri to boost its average to 288.7, Oklahoma picked up 382 on the ground against Colorado to hike its average to 277.5, and Kansas gained 252 for an overall 238.0 rushing mark.

The Cornhuskers retained their conference lead in rushing and total offense and rushing and total defense, Kansas State maintained its passing offense margin, but Oklahoma State replaced Iowa State as the leader in pass defense.

Nebraska has now averaged 380.1 yards per game overall, followed by Oklahoma with 338.8 and Kansas with 314.3. Defensively, the Huskers lead with an 81.4 rushing average and a 198.3 total defense mark.

Huskers Rank High

NEBRASKA REJOINS UPI SELECT GROUP AT 10TH

New York (UPI)—Unbeaten, top-ranked Texas faces double trouble Saturday in quest of its first national football title.

The United Press International board of coaches rated Texas No. 1 Tuesday for the fourth consecutive week.

The Longhorns not only must cope with Baylor's Don Trull, the nation's leading passer, but they must regain their high-scoring offense which launched them into the No. 1 position.

Illinois, Mississippi and Navy cut deeply into the Texans' lead with one-sided, high-scoring victories last Saturday, the kind of triumphs which demand favor and the kind Texas has not had since its 28-7 pasting of Oklahoma a month ago.

Second-ranked Illinois picked up three first-place ballots from Texas, Mississippi No. 3, gained five and fourth-place Navy and Auburn, rated-fifth, one each, leaving the Longhorns with 25, or 10 less than their unanimous rating a week ago.

Oklahoma continued to climb, moving into sixth position, Alabama slipped three places to seventh after narrowly beating Mississippi State and Michigan State cracked the Top 10 barrier for the first time this season in eighth.

Pittsburgh rebounded into ninth spot and Nebraska returned to 10th-place after a four-week absence.

The 35-man coaches board ranks teams from first to 10th with points awarded on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis.

Alabama meets Georgia Tech in Birmingham and Kansas visits Nebraska in addition to the Baylor-Texas tussle on the card featuring games between the Top 20 teams.

The ratings:

	Points
1. Texas (25) (7-0)	333
2. Illinois (3) (5-0-1)	291
3. Mississippi (5) (5-0-1)	228
4. Navy (1) (6-1)	223
5. Auburn (1) (6-0)	169
6. Oklahoma (5-1)	140
7. Alabama (6-1)	116
8. Michigan State (4-1-1)	98
9. Pittsburgh (5-1)	94
10. Nebraska (6-1)	62

Second 10: 11, Baylor 45; 12, Ohio State 42; 13, Washington 16; 14, Army 13; 15, Missouri 10; 16, Wisconsin 7; 17 (tie), Georgia Tech and Memphis State 6, 19 (tie), Arkansas, North Carolina and Kansas 3.

Others receiving votes: North Carolina State, Arizona State, Utah State, Syracuse.

Torrid Pace Set At NWU By Slatinsky

Quarterback Mike Slatinsky is setting a torrid offensive pace for Nebraska Wesleyan University after eight games.

The St. Charles, Ill., junior has connected for 42-115 passes for 625 yards and 10 touchdowns and has rushed for 259 yards on 127 carries.

Slatinsky has accounted for 15 of the Plainsmen's 23 touchdowns this year. He has rushed for five six-pointers, picking up two of them in last week's game at Dana, for a season's total of 30 points.

Sophomore end Dwight Tietjen is still the leading scorer with 42 points on six touchdown pass plays and 56-yard punt return.

Omaha Kegler Is All-Star Winner

Omaha — Omahan George Miller knocked down 4,807 pins to win the Nebraska All-Star Bowling Championship last weekend.

Another Omahan, John Sparano, was second with 4,723 and 1959 champion Bill Koehler of Lincoln fired a 4,716 total.

All three men will go to Dallas, Tex., in January for the Bowling Proprietors of America Assn. All-Star tournament.

Dunkel Has NU No. 11

By DICK DUNKEL

On the strength of its 37-3 walloping of Louisiana State last Saturday, Mississippi has nosed out Texas for the college football rating lead, according to the Dunkel Index.

The Rebels (5-0-1) this season have played opposition indexed at 89.1 and have outscored it by 18.8 points per game for the best total of 107.9.

Texas (7-0) lost rating in its tight 17-12 win over SMU but held second place with 107.7.

Other current leaders, their records and Saturday scores:

Illinois (5-0-1), 41-21 over Purdue; Mich. State (4-1-1), 30-13 over Wisconsin; Washington (4-3), 22-7 over So. California; Arkansas (4-3), 21-7 over Texas A&M; Baylor (5-1), 32-13 over TCU; Oklahoma (5-1), 35-0 over Colorado; Auburn (6-0), 19-0 over Florida; Alabama (6-1), 20-19 over Miss. State.

The Dunkel system, a progressive index based upon scoring margin combined with opposition rating, now shows the following rankings of leaders:

VAUGHN, SAYERS STILL CLOSE FOR RUSHING LEAD

Kansas City, Mo. — A new leader in total offense for the fourth time in the past five weeks, another shift in the see-saw race for Big Eight Conference and national rushing honors and the same old stand in passing.

That's the picture reflected by Big Eight Conference individual statistical rankings released Thursday by the Conference office.

Kansas State's Larry Corrigan is the new total offense leader with an eight-yard margin (710-702) over last week's pace-setter, Steve Renko of Kansas, and has built up a 100-yard margin in passing over Missouri's Gary Lane, his nearest competitor. Corrigan has 587 yards passing to Lane's 480 and has led the league in that department for the past three weeks.

In rushing, it's Iowa State's Tom Vaughn on top with the same scant eight-yard margin over Gale Sayers of Kansas—642 to 634. Last week, Sayers led the nation with 555 rushing yards and Vaughn was third nationally with 536. The Iowa State fullback pulled in front of Conference runners this week with 106 on 26 carries against Oklahoma State while Sayers notched 79 on 15 rushes against Kansas State. They've been the pace-setters here since the opening week of the season, trading that spot six of the seven weeks of play.

The week's top individual performances went to the quarterbacks with Lane leading the pack. The Tiger sophomore completed eight of 20 passes for 143 yards and added 32 more rushing for a 175-yard day against Nebraska.

Huskers Top Loop Statistics In Four Team Departments

Kansas City, Mo.—National team statistical rankings this past week counted three Big Eight Conference teams—Nebraska, Oklahoma, and Kansas—among the nation's top 10 teams in rushing offense.

Nebraska led the nation with a 287.3 rushing average, Oklahoma was fourth with 277.5 and Kansas ninth with 238.0.

In passing, Kansas State was fourth with 183.0, Kansas 10th with 180.4 and Nebraska 11th with 179.4.

In total offense, Nebraska was second with 480.1, Oklahoma third with 338.8 and Kansas 10th with 314.3.

In defense, Nebraska was second in rushing with 81.4, Missouri third with 133.1 and Oklahoma fourth with 148.3.

In pass defense, Oklahoma State was first with 79.2, Oklahoma second with 80.0 and Iowa State third with 94.3.

In total defense, Nebraska was second with 198.3, Oklahoma third with 228.3 and Missouri fifth with 233.6.

So, what happens over weekend contests? All three better their marks and appear headed for a performance comparable to that posted by conference teams a year ago when they grabbed off four spots among the nation's top 10 rushing teams. Then, it was Oklahoma second, Kansas fourth, Missouri sixth, and Nebraska ninth.

Over the weekend, Nebraska ran for 299 yards against Missouri to boost its average to 288.7, Oklahoma picked up 382 on the ground against Colorado to hike its average to 277.5, and Kansas gained 252 for an overall 238.0 rushing mark.

The Cornhuskers retained their conference lead in rushing and total offense and rushing and total defense, Kansas State maintained its passing offense margin, but Oklahoma State replaced Iowa State as the leader in pass defense.

Nebraska has now averaged 380.1 yards per game overall, followed by Oklahoma with 338.8 and Kansas with 314.3. Defensively, the Huskers lead with an 81.4 rushing average and a 198.3 total defense mark.

Kearney's Captain 'Player Of Week'

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Football captains are usually selected because of their leadership qualities. And Kearney's Larry Miller really filled that bill as he led the Bearcats to a 38-32 triumph over McCook.

His five-touchdown performance that boosted the Kearney club to a 3-1 West Big Ten finish, earns the senior speedster "player of the week" honors.

The small sprinter returned a kickoff for 92 yards and bolted for touchdowns on scrimmage runs of 5, 6, 8 and 96 yards.

In 19 carries the halfback ripped the McCook defense for 201 yards as the young Kearney team rolled up over 350 yards on the ground.

The Bearcats, who have relied heavily on sophomore and junior talent this year, closed with a 4-4-1 record—their best since 1956.

Miller and the following gridders receive recognition for their top efforts last week:

John Sanders, Grand Island—Completed 10 of 13 passes, had a hand in all three touchdowns, as Grand Island nipped Fremont 20-19.

Darrell Eastman, Giltner—Runs of 8, 14, 57 for touchdowns against Roseland helped Hornets finish 8-1 for the season.

Alois Hottovy, East Butler—Four touchdowns sparked mates to a 45-7 rout of previously unbeaten Stromsburg.

Jerry Kinan, Oakdale—Connected on 13 of 18 passes, six for touchdowns, as Oakdale bombed Elgin 6-0 to complete an unbeaten season.

Don Marchant, Chadron Assumption—Scored five times as team ripped Cody, 45-7, to cap perfect 9-0 season.

Dayle Churchill, Pius X—Tough end play sparked Thunderbolts in their bid to upset Southeast.

Jim Riggins, Lincoln High—Soph scrambled for 185 yards in 19 carries, to feature Links' blitz of Omaha South.

Gary Probasco, Bartley—Junior back scored seven times as mates bombed Indianola, 80-6.

Larry and Louis Kontos, Wahoo—Brother act in line has been a big plus factor for unbeaten Warriors.

Ken Cornwell, Walthill—Ran for two tallies, passed for two and returned an intercepted pass for another as Walthill hit Homer, 64-0.

15 Gridders Honored

Ogallala — Western Conference coaches have named a 15-man all-conference football team. Chadron landed five berths on the team.

Ends — John Heiser, Chadron, Jerry Cronk, Sidney; Tackles—Guy Fish, Chadron, Jim Mischnick, Alliance, Tom Meismer, Ogallala; Guard—Rick Bennett, Gering, Lance Scherbarth, Chadron, Gene Burton, Ogallala; Center—Mel Schneider, Gering; Backs—Steve Smith and Lannie Shelmadine, Alliance, Larry Gold and Skip Thompson, Chadron, Jim Langdon, Sidney, Phil Warrick, Gering.

Nebraska Prep Ratings

Overall class rankings of high school football teams, based on season's performances.

By Don Forsythe

Eight-Man

1—Beaver Crossing (9-0)	6—Madrid (9-0)
2—Maywood (9-0)	7—Palisade (9-0)
3—Winnebago— (8-0)	8—Walthill (8-1)
4—Oakdale (9-0)	9—Cedar Bluffs (7-2)
5—Odell (9-0)	10—Amherst (7-1)

Challengers—Sumner (8-1), Bartley (7-1), Chadron Assumption (9-0), Talmage (8-0), York St. Joseph (8-1), Eddyville (8-0), Elba (7-2).

Comment—With only a few games remaining in this class next week's final ratings will show few, if any, changes.

Positions In 8-Man Race Undergo Minor Shuffling

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

The chase for state eightman honors underwent some minor shuffling this week despite the fact that the state's "big seven" maintained unbeaten records.

Beaver Crossing and Maywood continue to run 1-2, but Odell, which struggled past Adams, 20-18, was bumped from the No. 3 position.

Winnebago, which closed with a perfect 8-0 mark, moved up to No. 3 with high scoring Oakdale making a climb from No. 6 to No. 4.

Madrid, which had some trouble with Elsie, dropped to No. 6.

Only new team on the chart this week is Cedar Bluffs, which moves into the ninth spot.

Lonnie Slaughter's squad, loser by one point to No. 8 Walthill and by eight to Winnebago, carries a five-game winning streak into its finale with Mead.

The promotion to Cedar Bluffs dropped once-beaten Sumner from the top ten.

There are only a handful of eight-man games on the schedule this week, which indicates that there may be few changes in next week's final ratings.

3 Proposals On Agenda For NSAA

The annual representative assembly of the Nebraska School Activities Assn. will discuss three proposals, one of which has been recommended for passage, in its Dec. 5 meeting.

Only recommended proposal is to incorporate the NSAA.

Also up for discussion are proposals concerning the state basketball tournament.

One calls for the rotation of the Class A tournament between Lincoln and Omaha.

The other proposal, also proposed by the Omaha district meeting, calls for five divisions in the state tourney instead of the present four.

The size breakdown, based on boy enrollment, would be as follows: Class AA, 500 and up; Class A, 175-499; Class B, 100-174; Class C, 50-99; Class D, 49 and under.

The representative assembly has power only to recommend items to the board of control for approval.

Mustang Coaches Pick All-Conference Teams

Avoca—Mustang Conference coaches have selected their 1963 all-conference team, naming an offensive and defensive unit. Alvo-Eagle, which shared the league title with Elmwood, placed seven players on the 16-man squad.

OFFENSE

DEFENSE

Ends — Fred Crom, Nehawka, Steve Lawton, Palmyra; Guards — Orval Albers, Nehawka, Wally Winters, Alvo-Eagle; Linebackers — Dave Johnson, Nehawka, John Weichel, Alvo-Eagle, Larry Ahrens, Elmwood; Safety — Kent Ayres, Alvo-Eagle.

Mitchell Makes Changes At Ends

Lawrence, Kan. (AP) — Coach Jack Mitchell made a number of changes at the end positions on his Kansas football team Tuesday as a result of the shoulder injury suffered by Jay Roberts in the Kansas State game last week.

Mitchell said it's doubtful Roberts will play against Nebraska Saturday.

Bob Robben was promoted from the alternate team to starting righ end to replace Roberts. Alternate left end Larry Fairchild was moved to alternate right end behind Robben.

George Worley, who had been out for three weeks with a broken bone in his hand, has returned to the lineup at alternate left end.

The team ran defensive drills against Nebraska-type roll-out and trap plays. The Jayhawks also worked on their passing attack with all three quarterbacks throwing.

INTRODUCING THE DEPENDABLES FOR '64

We have designs to get you in our power

Our engineers are a wily group of guys who spend most of their time dreaming up ways to win your approval. Take the Dodge Polara 500.

You'd be hard-pressed to find a car that's got more going for you. Deeply-padded, contour-formed bucket seats. All-vinyl upholstery. Sill-to-sill carpeting. Padded dash. Center console. And lots of other trimmings. But that's only the half of it.

Perhaps our approach to power will further illustrate the point. With the Polara 500 you aren't baked in on a certain engine. You can choose from a standard 318 cu. in. V8 up to a street-version of our walloping, all-out 426 cu. in. Ramcharger V8. Compromise? Nope. We just feel that a freedom of choice is the surest road to your approval.

That's our way of doing business—giving you lots of car and lots of satisfaction at a price that's hard to quarrel with.

Senate Votes To Cut Foreign Aid Further

Washington (UPI) — The Senate voted by a narrow 42-40 margin Tuesday to make the Democratic leadership's compromise cut in the foreign aid bill even bigger.

The Senate version of the bill, at the outset Tuesday, would have authorized $4.2 billion for another year of miiitary, economic and technical assistance abroad. This is $300 million less than President Kennedy asked, but $700 million more than the House voted.

Only Tuesday morning, Senate Democratic leaders assured the President that their compromise bill, with a built-in slash to a $3,817,000,000 total, would pass, although it might take some time.

But late Tuesday, they saw the Senate approve an amendment by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., that would cut that amount by another $25 million. The leadership compromise is still to be voted on.

Defeat After Victory

This narrow defeat followed an equally narrow victory in beating down a similar amendment by Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., to increase the compromise cut by $75 million.

The vote defeating the Ellender amendment was 43 to 40.

In each amendment, the bill's provision for development loans would have been slashed from the $975 million recommended in the compromise bill.

While Ellender's defeated proposal would have meant a simple $75 million cut, Morse's successful amendment carried with a $25 million cut elimination of any authorization for development loans for the subsequent two years.

Tuesday's voting cut broadly across party and ideological lines, indicating widespread Senate dissatisfaction with all or part of the much-criticized aid program.

$3,792,000,000 Proposal

The action left the proposed over-all aid authorization at $3,792,000,000. The House already has approved a $3.5 billion aid bill.

After a Democratic leadership meeting at the White House Tuesday morning, Sen. J. William Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he was "fairly confident" that a $385 million bipartisan cut would hold up.

He said, however, that "the outlook is very dim" for early action. "Prospects are not very promising," he said. "It looks like it may take a very long time to arrive at a conclusion."

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt has said that continuing debate ofer the aid measure would prevent the Senate from acting on a civil rights bill this year, as well as the administration tax cut bill.

Fulbright said the cut agreed upon by leaders of both parties was a "good compromise" and "has pretty solid backing of the more moderate and responsible members of the Senate."

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, after meeting with the President, also predicted a "long siege" before final action on a "decent" aid bill.

The Difference

Washington (AP)— Nebraska Senators Hruska and Curtis voted Tuesday for adoption of a foreign aid bill amendment of Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., to cut the development loan fund authorization by $25 million to $950 million. The Senate adopted the amendment on a 42-40 roll call vote.

New York Wants Off-Track Betting

New York (AP) — A proposal to legalize off-track betting on horse races breezed to a smashing victory Tuesday night in a New York City advisory referendum.

Returns from 3380 of 4852 election districts gave: yes 651,723; no, 196,992.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner, a Democrat, and other proponents have estimated that off-track betting would raise $200 million a year, to be divided between city and state, to help meet education and other costs.

Opponents, including leaders of the Republican-controlled state legislature, have argued that it would hurt business by diverting consumer spending and would increase relief rolls.

The betting referendum specifically asked the voters whether they favored a local law to establish and provide funds for a committee to formulate a plan for off-track betting.

State action would be required o legalize such betting.

Muny Court's Cash Receipts Up $33,735

The Municipal Court handled cash receipts of $348,186 for the 1962-63 fiscal year ended Aug. 31, an increase of $33,735 from the previous fiscal period.

This was reported Friday in an independent audit made for the city by Phillip G. Johnson & Co.

Collected fines totaled $244,508—representing an increase of $29,472. Court costs totaled $62,482, an increase of $5,855.

Criminal and civil cases amounted to 22,297 during the year as compared with 19,900 for the previous year.

Parking meter violations totaled 88,615, an increase of 11,504. Parking Violations Bureau collections amounted to 108,087, an increase of $14,593.

NLRB Man Here For Investigation Of Union Charges

A National Labor Relations Board investigator from Kansas City was here Tuesday investigating charges that six Lincoln sheet metal contractors have been unfair in negotiations with Local 541 of the Sheetmetal Workers.

The investigator is Mark Kitchin.

The six contractors are being picketed by the union due to a disagreement over wages, hours and working conditions.

They are Bonebright Heating and Air Conditioning, Cornhusker Heating and Air Conditioning, C. S. Guenzel Co., M. G. Lehman Air Conditioning Contractors, Ray Martin Co. and the Wentz Heating and Air Conditioning Co.

Negotiations between them and the union ended after an unsuccessful attempt to reach agreement on a wage increase.

Youth Appeals Reckless Driving Fine, Suspension

An 18-year-old Lincoln youth appealed a decision of Judge John Jacobson in Municipal Court Tuesday after the judge fined him $100 and suspended his driver's license for three months.

Douglas Schmidt, of 4217 So. 49th, was released under $100 appeal bond after he was found guilty of reckless driving. He had pleaded innocent.

The charge arose from a Sept. 1 incident. Officers Robert Jatczak and Laddie Tlamka testified they chased the car Schmidt was driving from 48th and Antelope Creek Road to 56th and Linden where the car went into a ditch and rolled onto its top.

Schmidt became unconscious after the accident and stopped breathing momentarily, but Jatczak gave him artifical respiration and revived him.

The officers said they chased the car at speeds of about 55 miles per hour through southeast Lincoln.

Charge Amended From Rape, Man Enters Guilty Plea

Dannie L. Simons, charged with raping a 14-year-old baby sitter Aug. 21, pleaded guilty in Lancaster District Court Tuesday to an amended charge of fondling a minor.

Simons, 30, of 2048 Holdrege, was originally charged with raping the girl when he was taking her home after she had been hired to sit with the four Simons children for the evening.

Lancaster District Judge Herbert Ronin deferred sentencing pending an investigation by the adult probation officer.

Eleven-year-old James E. Kennedy takes a close look in Savannah, Ga., at a freak lizard with two tails. It was found in a schoolyard. After exhibiting the oddity to his sixth-grade classmates, James, son of Mr. and Mrs. James O. Kennedy, took it home for a pet.

Guards Drag 'Red' Youths Away From RFK's Office

Washington (AP) — Justice Department guards shoved and dragged six members of an alleged Communist front youth group from outside the office of Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy Tuesday.

The youths—part of a group of 21—refused to leave Kennedy's reception room and the hallway outside when the department closed for the day.

The other 15 left after an aide to the attorney general, who was attending a White House meeting, agreed to accept a petition of protest and pass it on to Kennedy Wednesday.

Before this, however, three uniformed guards were summoned to drag six of the youths, including two girls, from the reception office and into a waiting elevator.

The youths went limp and slumped to the floor when the guards approached.

They said they are members of an organization known as "Advance." Kennedy last January asked the subversive Activities Control Board to declare the group a Communist front organization. It was this request that the youths protested.

Marvin Markman, 24, of The Bronx, who said he is vice chairman of Advance, denied the group is a Communist front.

11 Holidays Or 6? Question Tabled By Health Board

The Lincoln-Lancaster County Board of Health Tuesday night tabled a question of whether the present 11 annual holidays for department employes should be contined or reduced to six.

The board will await action by the Lincoln City Council. City Hall employes Monday requested the council restore the 11-holiday schedule the employes had worked under before the council reduced the number to six.

In other business, the board Tuesday approved a maximum of $400 for seven department employes to attend a meeting of the American Public Health Association in Kansas City Nov. 10 to Nov. 15.

Man Found Lying Asleep On Floor Pleads Innocent

A Lincoln man, found lying asleep on the floor of the home of R. P. Leager, 950 Adams, pleaded innocent in Municipal Court to a charge of trespassing.

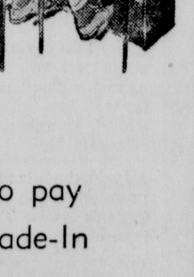

Police said they found the man asleep between the living room and the dining room in Leager's home.

The man was released on $50 bond to appear for trial Nov. 12.

6 Of The Flying Wallendas' Injured Practicing Wire Act

Sarasota, Fla. (AP)—Six members of the "Flying Wallendas" circus aerial team were injured—none seriously—Tuesday in a wire act like one that struck tragedy into the troupe two winters ago.

The wire was only about 12 feet above ground Tuesday when the Wallendas essayed their human pyramid on a lot where they maintain winter practice facilities.

"All we know, there was a big crash," said 57-year-old Karl Wallenda, founder and leader of the troupe. "Something gave."

X-rayed

Wallenda told about it at the hospital where he was being X-rayed for possible pelvic injuries.

"We wanted to do the pyramid once more to show we weren't afraid," he said. "It was to be a farewell to Herman and Gunther before they retire."

A television cameraman (NBC) was filming the act when the wire, stretched between two trees, gave way.

3rd Mishap

It was the third accident to the Wallenda troupe in less than two years.

Yetta Wallenda Grotefant fell to her death during her high pole act in Omaha last April, the third member of the troupe to be killed during a performance.

In January 1962, seven members of the troupe were performing the human pyramid three stories above the concrete floor of the fairgrounds coliseum in Detroit. There was no net; there never was.

Takes Edge

"If you have a net, it takes the edge of the performance," Karl said. "We wouldn't have any feeling. We would just do it."

Jenny Wallenda Faughan was watching from the platform. "It looked like Dieter (Shepp) didn't feel so good," she said. "His left hand holding the (balance pole opened. He tried to grab the pole. I thought, 'oh my God, something is wrong.'"

The pyramid fell apart. Dieter Schepp and Jenny's husband, Richard, were killed. Mario Wallenda suffered spinal injuries and likely will never walk unaided again. With instinct bred by 18 generations of circus forebears, Karl grabbed the wire and reached out and caught Jana Schepp who had been sitting on the chair atop the pyramid.

The troupe had not performed the trick since.

On Chair

Jenny Faughan was on the chair Tuesday. One of the other performers caught her.

Gunther Wallenda, 37, who escaped injury in the first accident, was the most seriously hurt. He was struck under the chin by his shoulder pole and suffered cuts on the forehead, eye, mouth and chin. Louis Murillo, 29, suffered wire burns and bruises.

Paul Jordan, 33, and Herman Wallenda, 62 father of Gunther and brother of Karl were bruised. Andy Anderson 28, escaped injury.

Following the Detroit accident, Gunther and Herman Wallenda went back on the high wire the following night to perform.

Keep Date

After Tuesday's accident, members of the troupe kept a date at the Circus Hall of Fame where they presented part of their apparatus used in the Detroit tragedy to officials for display.

The troupe has a contract to perform the pyramid at Fort Worth, Tex., for 11 days beginning Nov. 20.

"We're going to use the net in Fort Worth," said Karl. "We won't use the net on the other acts, just on the seven-man.

"If we had been high today at least two would have been killed."

Russillo Given OK To Hold LB9 Pending Action

Sen. Michael Russillo of Omaha Tuesday secured legislative approval to hold LB9 on general file pending action on other interest rate legislation.

LB9 proposes a vote of the people on a constitutional amendment which would allow the Legislature to enact special interest rate laws and set maximum rates of interest.

"It's necessity will be more evident after other action," Russillo said.

Meanwhile, Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff failed on a 9-29 vote to gain legislative endorsement of a motion to permit unlimited debate on interest legislation.

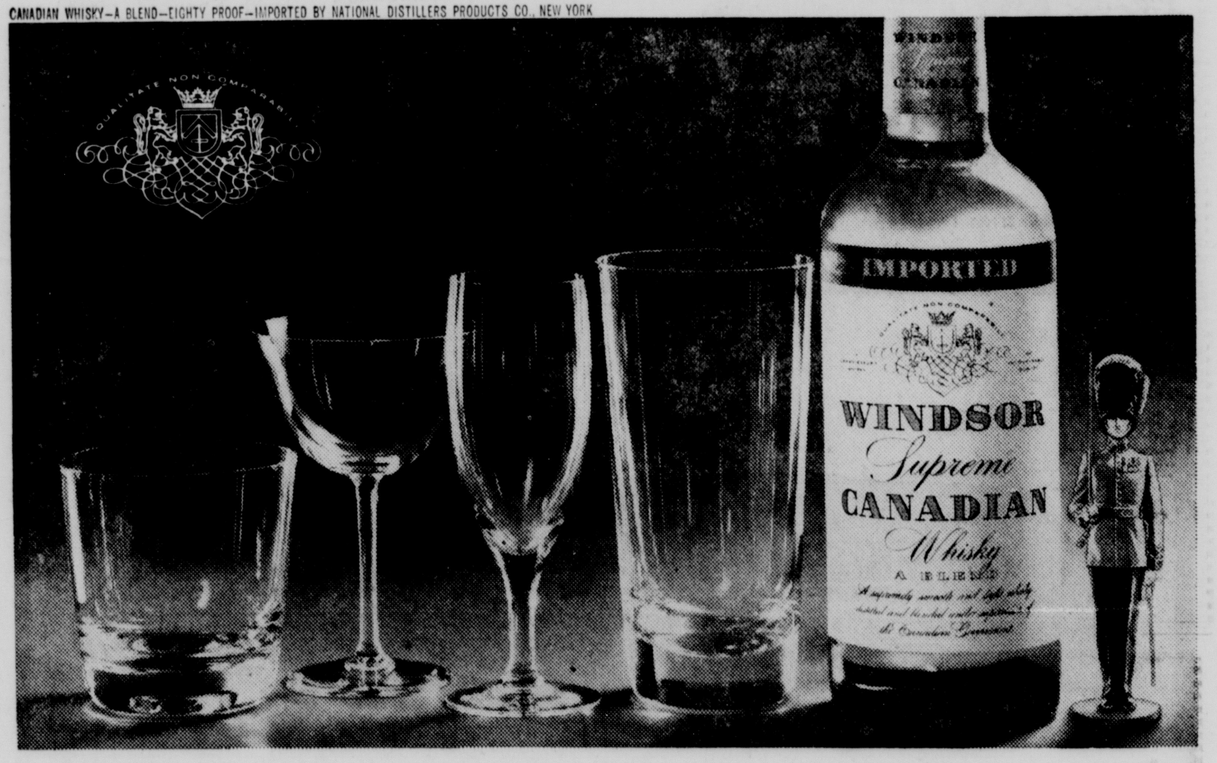

Senators are now allowed 10 minutes, but may request additional time.

Senate Votes To Cut Foreign Aid Further

Washington (UPI) — The Senate voted by a narrow 42-40 margin Tuesday to make the Democratic leadership's compromise cut in the foreign aid bill even bigger.

The Senate version of the bill, at the outset Tuesday, would have authorized $4.2 billion for another year of military, economic and technical assistance abroad. This is $300 million less than President Kennedy asked, but $700 million more than the House voted.

Only Tuesday morning, Senate Democratic leaders assured the President that their compromise bill, with a built-in slash to a $3,817,000,000 total, would pass, although it might take some time.

But late Tuesday, they saw the Senate approve an amendment by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., that would cut that amount by another $25 million. The leadership compromise is still to be voted on.

Defeat After Victory

This narrow defeat followed an equally narrow victory in beating down a similar amendment by Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., to increase the compromise cut by $75 million.

The vote defeating the Ellender amendment was 43 to 40.

In each amendment, the bill's provision for development loans would have been slashed from the $975 million recommended in the compromise bill.

While Ellender's defeated proposal would have meant a simple $75 million cut, Morse's successful amendment carried with a $25 million cut elimination of any authorization for development loans for the subsequent two years.

Tuesday's voting cut broadly across party and ideological lines, indicating widespread Senate dissatisfaction with all or part of the much-criticized aid program.

$3,792,000,000 Proposal

The action left the proposed over-all aid authorization at $3,792,000,000. The House already has approved a $3.5 billion aid bill.

After a Democratic leadership meeting at the White House Tuesday morning, Sen. J. William Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he was "fairly confident" that a $385 million bipartisan cut would hold up.

He said, however, that "the outlook is very dim" for early action. "Prospects are not very promising," he said. "It looks like it may take a very long time to arrive at a conclusion."

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt has said that continuing debate ofer the aid measure would prevent the Senate from acting on a civil rights bill this year, as well as the administration tax cut bill.

Fulbright said the cut agreed upon by leaders of both parties was a "good compromise" and "has pretty solid backing of the more moderate and responsible members of the Senate."

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, after meeting with the President, also predicted a "long siege" before final action on a "decent" aid bill.

The Difference

Lawyer Spoke Of Death Premonition

Minneapolis (AP)—While buying large amounts of insurance for the wife who was later murdered, St. Paul attorney T. Eugene Thompson told of having premonitions of her death, an insurance agent said Tuesday.

The youthful, crew-cut Thompson appeared to be weeping quietly, head bowed, as the agent, James R. Treanor testified at Thompson's first degree murder trial.

Thompson is charged with arranging the brutal beating-knifing slaying of his attractive wife in their fashionable St. Paul home last March 6. The state contends Thompson was motivated jointly by an affair with another woman and by the $1,055,000 insurance he had taken out on Mrs. Thompson's life the year before she was killed.

$450,000

Treanor told of writing insurance totaling $450,000 on Mrs. Thompson. Under examination by Prosecutor William Randall, Treanor added that he had tried to talk Thompson into concentrating more on straight life insurance rather than the accident and term policies, with double indemnity, which Thompson wanted.

Thompson became upset at these objections, Treanor said, and implied he could get the insurance elsewhere.

Cross-examined by defense counsel Hyam Segell, Treanor painted a picture of Thompson as something of an insurance fanatic.

'Everything'

The agent said Thompson had "everything he could write in very substantial limits," including a very high liability protection of $100,000 on his home. Thompson also carried unusually high auto liability insurance.

On cross-examination Treanor also read from a letter he had written to his home office explaining the heavy amounts of insurance Thompson had taken out on his wife.

The agent said the insurance was a "hedge" by Thompson against the possibility his wife would die before him and that the fortune of Mrs. Thompson's well-to-do parents would go to the children.

Got Along

Under further questioning by Segell, Treanor said the Thompsons "were compatible, happy and got along well."

Randall has told the six-man, six-woman jury he intends to prove that while Thompson was buying heavy amounts of insurance on his wife's life, he was carrying on an affair with a mother of three, and had an intermediary hire a man to kill Mrs. Thompson.

On direct examination, the insurance agent said he told Thompson that one $200,000 policy taken out with another firm was "not worth the powder to blow it up" because Thompson had not disclosed in the application that he had other insurance policies on his wife.

Treanor said the application was later amended.

Besides

Besides the death premonition about his wife, Treanor said, Thompson had told him of two others—one concerning the automobile crash death of a sister and the death in World War II of a brother. Both premonitions, Treanor quoted Thompson as saying, were true.

Trying to soothe Thompson's forebodings about his own wife's death, said Treanor, the insurance agent bet Thompson "the biggest malted milk in town that nothing would happen.

Thompson paid off the jocular bet Feb. 12, 1963, said Treanor. This was less than a month before Mrs. Thompson was murdered.

MINERS' CHANCES DECLINE

Peine, Germany (UPI) — Fears for the safety of 11 miners trapped for 12 days 187 feet down in the flooded Mathilde iron mine increased Tuesday when the men reported more rock falls in the tiny space in which they are entombed.

Mine General Manager Rudolf Stein said he feared their chances now were no better than 50-50. But Klaus Grossman, a senior drilling engineer, insisted their chances of rescue still were 99.9%.

Stein said the trapped men reported on the telephone lowered through a narrow two-inch supply shaft they were pelted occasionally by falling rock which buckled the steel rigging they built as a protective cage.

The cage was repaired with more steel pipe lowered to the men.

Stein expressed grave doubt it could hold off the rock shower expected when the drill bit reaches the alcove.

He said several of the men in the alcove formed by a cave-in off a worked-out mine tunnel have been injured by rocks. One man suffered a minor rib injury and another a bruised hand.

Grossman, a senior drilling engineer on loan from the West German branch of an American drilling team, admitted the rescue operation was extremely dangerous but he remained confident.

"Of course this is a dangerous operation," he said. "But we are here to save those men and we are 99.9% certain we will."

He said the cruicial factor is aiming of the drill with such precision that it will graze the edge of the alcove and not break through the roof.

Lawyer Spoke Of Death Premonition

Minneapolis (AP)—While buying large amounts of insurance for the wife who was later murdered, St. Paul attorney T. Eugene Thompson told of having premonitions of her death, an insurance agent said Tuesday.

The youthful, crew-cut Thompson appeared to be weeping quietly, head bowed, as the agent, James R. Treanor testified at Thompson's first degree murder trial.

Thompson is charged with arranging the brutal beating-knifing slaying of his attractive wife in their fashionable St. Paul home last March 6. The state contends Thompson was motivated jointly by an affair with another woman and by the $1,055,000 insurance he had taken out on Mrs. Thompson's life the year before she was killed.

$450,000

Treanor told of writing insurance totaling $450,000 on Mrs. Thompson. Under examination by Prosecutor William Randall, Treanor added that he had tried to talk Thompson into concentrating more on straight life insurance rather than the accident and term policies, with double indemnity, which Thompson wanted.

Thompson became upset at these objections, Treanor said, and implied he could get the insurance elsewhere.

Cross-examined by defense counsel Hyam Segell, Treanor painted a picture of Thompson as something of an insurance fanatic.

New Towers Will Give Lift To Tree-Trimming Program

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Lincoln's tree-trimming program will be speeded up by the two hydraulic-lift aerial towers being purchased, City Forester Don Guinan said Tuesday.

The new equipment is to be delivered by Feb. 1, but a demonstrator model is being loaned to the Park Department for use beginning about mid-December.

Guinan said an aerial tower with a two-man crew can equal or exceed tree-trimming done by a regular five-man crew using ropes and ladders.

"Aerial towers are the fastest and safest way to trim trees," he said. "The two aerial towers plus the three regular crews will double the output. We should be able to trim the city's street trees on a six-year cycle rather than the ten-year cycle begun in 1955."

Reach Extended

Guinan said the hydraulic boom raises to a height of 48 feet, but trimming equipment extends the reach to a 60-foot height.

The equipment will be operated by two men in the aerial tower's "bucket." One will operate the lift and aid the second crewman doing the trimming.

Mayor Dean Petersen authorized the purchase of the two towers for $22,223.30 from the Badger Body and Equipment Co.

Rejected

The $21,896 bid of the Omaha Body and Equipment Co. was rejected as failing to meet specifications and having a later delivery date. The equipment purchase was authorized in the 1963-64 budget by the City Council.

Guinan said two tree-trimming crews have been at work for a month and a third crew will begin in the next few days after completing "brushing work" along Antelope Creek near the Children's Zoo.

One crew is working on Havelock's main street now and will cover an area from Burlington to Colfax, 56th to 70th.

The second crew is covering an area from South to Randolph, 48th to 40th.

The third crew will begin on Memorial Drive and then cover the areas from Calvert south to the city limits, 14th west to the city limits and from Calvert to South, 14th to 8th.

Backlog Cut

Guinan said another crew is working full-time on tree removal and has cut the backlog to about 40 trees.

The forester said the city loses about 400 street trees per year from diseases or natural causes.

Guinan said ten trees have been removed thus far with Dutch elm disease. They were locaated in all areas of the city, he said.

He said the disease-carrying beetle has been dormant since Sept. 1 and will remain so until about May 2.

Meanwhile, the department is getting "tooled up" for a city-wide spraying program to begin about March 1, having recently purchased five rotomist sprayers.

Guinan estimated the spraying program for control of the beetle carrying the Dutch elm disease will cost under $23,000 in labor and chemicals.

Year-Round

Guinan said the two aerial towers plus one regular tree-trimming crew will operate year-round in addition to the three crews operating eight months.

The council authorized a $70,000 tree-trimming program this year, an increase from the previous annual programs of $45,000.

Additionally, the council authorized the spraying program for control of the beetle carrying the Dutch elm disease after the disease was first detected in Lincoln this year.

State Retirement Board Appointees Confirmed

The Legislature Tuesday confirmed Gov. Frank Morrison's appointment of four persons to the newly created State Employes Retirement Board.

The appointees, and confirmation votes, include Lowell Fisk of Lincoln, 29-2; Merle Humphries of Lincoln, 29-2; Jack M. Cleavenger of Lincoln, 29-2, and Dean Irish of Albion, 30-2.

SAC General Stresses Role Of Citizens

"Your freedom depends on you," a Strategic Air Command general told persons attending a joint luncheon Tuesday sponsored by the Rotary Club and the military affairs committee of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce.

Gen. William E. Ubank Jr., deputy commander of the Second Air Force at Barksdale Air Force Base, La., emphasized that deterring communism is a job for all citizens, for the professional military man is responsible to the orders of the citizens.

He issued a plea for recognition of the serviceman of 1963.

"Veterans' Day, Nov. 1, is not a reminder of just veterans of the past, but those of today and the part we all play in the struggle against communism," he said.

Sick Honored For Business, Civic Projects

T. A. (Ted) Sick, board chairman of Security Mutual Life Insurance Co., was honored Tuesday for his contribution to the insurance industry and civic projects.

T. A. Sick

More than 100 insurance and business executives were present at the honor luncheon with E. J. Faulkner, president of Woodmen Accident and Life Insurance Co., presiding.

A leather-bound book of letters of appreciation was presented to Sick.

Sick, who began his association with Security Mutual in 1917, served as president from 1943 to 1963, when he became chairman of the board.

He is presently board chairman of the Life Insurance Association of America and was the 1952-53 president.

His civic services included chairman of the board of the University of Nebraska Foundation, trustee of the Cooper Foundation, former president of the Lincoln Community Chest, past president of the Junior and Senior Chambers of Commerce, and member of the city's power and water advisory boards.

Luncheon guests included trade association executives.

Burglar's Haul More Than $350 From Home Here

Someone broke into the home of Harold Fentiman, 1901 So. 59th, late Monday night, stealing more than $350 in jewelry, clothing and cash, police reported.

Police said the intruder broke a pane of glass in a door of the house, then reached through and unlocked the door.

Also taken were two six-packs of beer, some meat and some cheese.

CHARLES CITY VOTERS TAKE BACON HOME

Charles City, Iowa (AP) — Charles City voters brought home the bacon Tuesday when they cast ballots in increasing numbers at a no-contest election of city officials.

In response to an appeal for a greater turnout, 1,918 voters appeared at the polls and received "I voted" lapel flags issued by the local Kiwanis Club.

Of these 1,543 presented their tags at a Charles City supermarket, each good for a half-pound package of bacon.

In the last city election only 633 of the 5,620 registered electors voted. In this year's election the seven candidates for mayor and councilmen were unopposed.

Too Much Sand

London (AP) They've struck oil off Britain's south coast near Weymouth but the British Petroleum Co. said it was so locked in sand as to be commercially useless.

Nurses Ruled Eligible Under Teacher Plan

School nurses are eligible for benefits under Nebraska's Reserve Teacher program, the attorney general ruled Tuesday in an opinion requested by Sen. Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln.

Sen. Orme said it had been brought to her attention that school nurses applying for reserve benefits were being rejected by the State Department of Education.

With the ruling that any certified person who has been employed as a full-time school nurse in the public schools of Nebraska, and who meets other qualifications of the act, may be appointed as a reserve teacher, Sen. Orme said she is asking that the nurses' applications be processed for eligibility.

State Education Commissioner Dr. Floyd A. Miller said the department was "very satisfied to have had this ruling come about."

Assistant Commissioner of Education Dr. Leroy Ortgiesen said the department has received formal applications from four nurses.

He said he did not expect the total number of nurses would be large since only Lincoln and Omaha employ full-time school nurses.

Lincolnite Named State Winner Of FAA Safety Prize

Washington (AP) — Erwin A Schwarzkopf, Lincoln Aviation Institute, is the Nebraska winner of the Federal Aviation Agency mechanic safety award, the agency announced Tuesday.

Later this month the FAA will name regional winners and national winners will be picked in December.

New Towers Will Give Lift To Tree-Trimming Program

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Lincoln's tree-trimming program will be speeded up by the two hydraulic-lift aerial towers being purchased, City Forester Don Guinan said Tuesday.

The new equipment is to be delivered by Feb. 1, but a demonstrator model is being loaned to the Park Department for use beginning about mid-December.

Guinan said an aerial tower with a two-man crew can equal or exceed tree-trimming done by a regular five-man crew using ropes and ladders.

"Aerial towers are the fastest and safest way to trim trees," he said. "The two aerial towers plus the three regular crews will double the output. We should be able to trim the city's street trees on a six-year cycle rather than the ten-year cycle begun in 1955."

Reach Extended

Guinan said the hydraulic boom raises to a height of 48 feet, but trimming equipment extends the reach to a 60-foot height.

The equipment will be operated by two men in the aerial tower's "bucket." One will operate the lift and aid the second crewman doing the trimming.

Mayor Dean Petersen authorized the purchase of the two towers for $22,223.30 from the Badger Body and Equipment Co.

Rejected

The $21,896 bid of the Omaha Body and Equipment Co. was rejected as failing to meet specifications and having a later delivery date. The equipment purchase was authorized in the 1963-64 budget by the City Council.

Guinan said two tree-trimming crews have been at work for a month and a third crew will begin in the next few days after completing "brushing work" along Antelope Creek near the Children's Zoo.

One crew is working on Havelock's main street now and will cover an area from Burlington to Colfax, 56th to 70th.

The second crew is covering an area from South to Randolph, 48th to 40th.

The third crew will begin on Memorial Drive and then cover the areas from Calvert south to the city limits, 14th west to the city limits and from Calvert to South, 14th to 8th.

Backlog Cut

Guinan said another crew is working full-time on tree removal and has cut the backlog to about 40 trees.

The forester said the city loses about 400 street trees per year from diseases or natural causes.

Guinan said ten trees have been removed thus far with Dutch elm disease. They were located in all areas of the city, he said.

He said the disease-carrying beetle has been dormant since Sept. 1 and will remain so until about May 2.

Meanwhile, the department is getting "tooled up" for a city-wide spraying program to begin about March 1, having recently purchased five rotomist sprayers.

Guinan estimated the spraying program for control of the beetle carrying the Dutch elm disease will cost under $23,000 in labor and chemicals.

Year-Round

Guinan said the two aerial towers plus one regular tree-trimming crew will operate year-round in addition to the three crews operating eight months.

The council authorized a $70,000 tree-trimming program this year, an increase from the previous annual programs of $45,000.

Additionally, the council authorized the spraying program for control of the beetle carrying the Dutch elm disease after the disease was first detected in Lincoln this year.

State Retirement Board Appointees Confirmed

The Legislature Tuesday confirmed Gov. Frank Morrison's appointment of four persons to the newly created State Employes Retirement Board.

The appointees, and confirmation votes, include Lowell Fisk of Lincoln, 29-2; Merle Humphries of Lincoln, 29-2; Jack M. Cleavenger of Lincoln, 29-2, and Dean Irish of Albion, 30-2.

SAC General Stresses Role Of Citizens

"Your freedom depends on you," a Strategic Air Command general told persons attending a joint luncheon Tuesday sponsored by the Rotary Club and the military affairs committee of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce.

Gen. William E. Ubank Jr., deputy commander of the Second Air Force at Barksdale Air Force Base, La., emphasized that deterring communism is a job for all citizens, for the professional military man is responsible to the orders of the citizens.

He issued a plea for recognition of the serviceman of 1963.

"Veterans' Day, Nov. 1, is not a reminder of just veterans of the past, but those of today and the part we all play in the struggle against communism," he said.

Sick Honored For Business, Civic Projects

T. A. (Ted) Sick, board chairman of Security Mutual Life Insurance Co., was honored Tuesday for his contribution to the insurance industry and civic projects.

T. A. Sick

More than 100 insurance and business executives were present at the honor luncheon with E. J. Faulkner, president of Woodmen Accident and Life Insurance Co., presiding.

A leather-bound book of letters of appreciation was presented to Sick.

Sick, who began his association with Security Mutual in 1917, served as president from 1943 to 1963, when he became chairman of the board.

He is presently board chairman of the Life Insurance Association of America and was the 1952-53 president.

His civic services included chairman of the board of the University of Nebraska Foundation, trustee of the Cooper Foundation, former president of the Lincoln Community Chest, past president of the Junior and Senior Chambers of Commerce, and member of the city's power and water advisory boards.

Luncheon guests included trade association executives.

Burglar's Haul More Than $350 From Home Here

Someone broke into the home of Harold Fentiman, 1901 So. 59th, late Monday night, stealing more than $350 in jewelry, clothing and cash, police reported.

Police said the intruder broke a pane of glass in a door of the house, then reached through and unlocked the door.

Also taken were two six-packs of beer, some meat and some cheese.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Prosperous Bachelor Doctor Inquires About Investments

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

The year's climb in stock price averages to new peaks adds to the normal risk of beginning to build an investment portfolio. However, each person must play according to the rules which prevail at the time he enters the ball game.

Rukeyser

A letter of inquiry from a single man, a physician with the Public Health Service in New Mexico, highlights the point. He has $31,000 in ordinary life, $1,000 in a savings deposit, and states that he can spare $300 monthly for investment. He asks: "What kind of investment program would you recommend; more insurance, mutual funds, blue chip stocks?"

The ability of the letter writer to invest funds regularly each month is helpful because it will give him the benefit of "dollar averaging," which over an extended period of time should give him a satisfactory cost basis. The important principle in "dollar averaging" is initially to select meritorious securities with strong survival prospects. Since the inquirer is unsophisticated in investment affairs, he should give himself the benefit of professional investment management and supervision. This can be accomplished through buying closed end or open end investment company shares (mutual funds, including "no load" funds) or by getting common trust funds from a dynamic bank or trust company. Since the reader is unmarried and is presumably without dependents, he has no immediate need for more life insurance. His existing life insurance, with its loan and cash surrender values, provides a liquid reserve for personal emergencies.

Q.—A professional man in San Diego, with a wife and four small children, carrying $91,000 in life insurance, plus disability and major medical, and with more than $21,000 equity in real estate, has a half interest in a professional partnership. Apart from his insurance, he has no liquid savings and until recently inheriting 1,000 shares of U.S. Steel he owned no securities. He writes: "I realize this lack of available cash is hazardous, but all available cash in the past has been funneled into bu

Marshall Recalls Freeman's $1 Bushel Wheat Forecast

Washington (AP)—Charles Marshall, president of the Nebraska Farm Bureau, said Tuesday anyone who believes wheat will drop to $1 a bushel might make money selling wheat futures now.

Marshall made his comments in a brief talk at a Nebraska congressional delegation breakfast.

He said Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman told farmers last spring that if they rejected the administration's wheat program in a referendum wheat prices would drop to $1 a bushel. The farmers turned down the program in the May referendum.

Marshall said that the market price now for wheat futures for next September is $1.78 a bushel. Ayone who believes that Freeman was right about dollar wheat can make some money now by selling futures, Marshall said.

He also told the dozen or so persons attending the breakfast that the Nebraska Farm Bureau is opposed to any program involving compensatory payments to farmers.

Rep. Ralph F. Beermann, R-Neb., presided at this last breakfast meeting of the delegation this year.

Peru Students Given Teaching Assignments

Peru (UPI) — Forty-nine seniors at Peru State College will begin student teaching assignments next Monday as a part of their professional semester.

Norfolk Youth Is Slightly Improved

Omaha (AP) — Charles Bonsack, 12, Norfolk youth wounded Oct. 24 in a gun mishap, was reported slightly improved Tuesday.

His mother, Mrs. Richard Bonsack, said her son "is believed to be off the critical list" in an Omaha hospital.

Charles was wounded in the head by a .22-caliber rifle bullet as he and a friend shot at targets near Norfolk.

Motor Homicide Charges Facing Mrs. Jackson, 37

Omaha (AP) — A charge of motor vehicle homicide has been filed against Mrs. Sally Jackson, 37, of Minneapolis.

She was charged in the death Oct. 27 of 18-year-old Thomas Eros of Omaha.

Police said Mrs. Jackson was the driver of a car which crossed a road divider on 24th Street at "A" Street and collided with a car driven by Eros.

Boycott Widens

Oslo (AP) — Two state-owned Norwegian firms have decided to boycott South African products in protest against the country's race policy.

Weizmann Projects

Jerusalem, Israeli Sector (AP) —The Weizmann Institute for Science—named for Israel's first president—will carry out $3.5 million worth of projects during the 1963-64 academic year. U.S. and West German agencies are putting up most of the money.

Marshall Recalls Freeman's $1 Bushel Wheat Forecast

Washington (AP)—Charles Marshall, president of the Nebraska Farm Bureau, said Tuesday anyone who believes wheat will drop to $1 a bushel might make money selling wheat futures now.

Marshall made his comments in a brief talk at a Nebraska congressional delegation breakfast.

He said Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman told farmers last spring that if they rejected the administration's wheat program in a referendum wheat prices would drop to $1 a bushel. The farmers turned down the program in the May referendum.

Marshall said that the market price now for wheat futures for next September is $1.78 a bushel. Ayone who believes that Freeman was right about dollar wheat can make some money now by selling futures, Marshall said.

He also told the dozen or so persons attending the breakfast that the Nebraska Farm Bureau is opposed to any program involving compensatory payments to farmers.

Rep. Ralph F. Beermann, R-Neb., presided at this last breakfast meeting of the delegation this year.

Peru Students Given Teaching Assignments

Peru (UPI) — Forty-nine seniors at Peru State College will begin student teaching assignments next Monday as a part of their professional semester.

Norfolk Youth Is Slightly Improved

Omaha (AP) — Charles Bonsack, 12, Norfolk youth wounded Oct. 24 in a gun mishap, was reported slightly improved Tuesday.

His mother, Mrs. Richard Bonsack, said her son "is believed to be off the critical list" in an Omaha hospital.

Charles was wounded in the head by a .22-caliber rifle bullet as he and a friend shot at targets near Norfolk.

Motor Homicide Charges Facing Mrs. Jackson, 37

Omaha (AP) — A charge of motor vehicle homicide has been filed against Mrs. Sally Jackson, 37, of Minneapolis.

She was charged in the death Oct. 27 of 18-year-old Thomas Eros of Omaha.

Police said Mrs. Jackson was the driver of a car which crossed a road divider on 24th Street at "A" Street and collided with a car driven by Eros.

Boycott Widens

Oslo (AP) — Two state-owned Norwegian firms have decided to boycott South African products in protest against the country's race policy.

Weizmann Projects

Jerusalem, Israeli Sector (AP) —The Weizmann Institute for Science—named for Israel's first president—will carry out $3.5 million worth of projects during the 1963-64 academic year. U.S. and West German agencies are putting up most of the money.

Nebraska Is Still State With Most Education Districts

For a fleeting hour or so Tuesday, Nebraska thought it had lost to South Dakota the dubious title as the state with the most school districts.

However, South Dakota Education Department officials assured the Cornhusker State it still is tops nationally.

The Nebraska hope came when Hubert Wolfe, head of school district reorganization for the State Education Department, told the State Board of Education Nebraska now has 2,919 school districts and that this total will drop to 2,879 on June 1, 1964.

He said South Dakota had 2,964 school districts last year, but acknowledged he did not know how much progress South Dakota had made since that time.

James Schooler, an official of the South Dakota department of Education in charge of school reorganization, said latest estimates place South Dakota's number of districts at 2,826, a strong second but well behind Nebraska.

Schooler said more than 100 South Dakota school districts have been reorganized since the 1961-62 school year.

Wolfe said 40 school districts in Nebraska will be dissolved between Jan. 1 and June 1.

He attributed this progress to a change of attitude among local citizens.

"They've found they can justify a program of consolidation by giving their children a better education, while at the same time providing an adequate taxable base for the increased facilities," Wolfe said.

Wolfe added he feels the Legislature has expressed a desire to have local communities undertake responsibility for consolidation projects and that this feeling has been reflected on the local level.

Citizens are no longer looking to county reorganization committees to initiate consolidation programs, he said.

School districts in Nebraska may redistrict either through a majority of residents involved voting for the measure in a special election or by 55% of the residents of the districts involved submitting a consolidation petition.

"The trend now is towards citizen's committees working for consolidation," Wolfe asserted.

The primary reasons for merger of school districts, he added, are to acquire better teachers, better facilities and a more equitable tax base.

The board unanimously approved a motion directing Education Commissioner Dr. Floyd Miller to writ ea letter to the Executive Committee of the Legislative Council assuring that group of the Education Department's full cooperation in implementing a recodification of Nebraska school laws.

The 1963 Legislature last summer allocated $5,000 for an interim study on recodification of school laws.

The board suspended for one calendar year the teaching certification of Guido Santero, who failed to show up for his contracted teaching assignment at Randolph, Neb., this fall.

Santero also failed to show up for a scheduled appearance on the matter before the board Tuesday.

Chief To Visit Crippled Children

Nebraska's internationally celebrated Indian, Chief Spotted Back, will display his charm for the crippled children at the State Orthopedic Hospital here Thursday.

The 72-year-old Indian, also known as Walter Hamilton of the Omaha Tribe, from Macy, Neb., will wear his ornate buckskins and headdress that belonged to his grandfather and brought expressions of glee to the faces of children in London, Paris and Berlin.

Spotted Back will visit the Orthopedic Hospital at 2 p.m.

Weather permitting, he will then strut down the streets of Lincoln to see if he can attract as much attention in his home state as he did overseas.

In September, Spotted Back toured Europe as one of 30 members of the "Sell Nebraska" group which was headed by Mrs. Frank Morrison, wife of the governor.

Spotted Back's Lincoln appearance is being sponsored by the Nebraska Association of Insurance Agents.

23.3% Nebraskans Reside On Farms

Washington (AP) — An Agriculture Department study shows that there are now only nine states in which more than 20% of the population lives on farms.

North Dakota has the highest ratio of farm population, 32.8 per cent.

Other states with more than 20% of their population living on farms are Nebraska 23.3%, South Dakota 31.9, Mississippi 31.2, Iowa 25.5, Arkansas 23.2, Idaho 22.2, North Carolina 20.9 and Kentucky 20.3.
